* For identification purposes only

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE GROWTH ENTERPRISE MARKET (“GEM”) OF THE STOCK EXCHANGE OF HONG KONG LIMITED (THE “STOCK EXCHANGE”)

GEM has been positioned as a market designed to accommodate companies to which a higher investment risk may be attached other than companies listed on the Exchange. Prospective investors should be aware of the potential risks of investing in such companies and should make the decision to invest only after due and careful consideration. The greater risk profile and other characteristics of GEM mean that it is a market more suited to professional and other sophisticated investors.

Given the emerging nature of companies listed on GEM, there is a risk that securities traded on GEM may be more susceptible to high market volatility than securities traded on the Main Board and no assurance is given that there will be a liquid market in the securities traded on GEM.

Hong Kong Exchanges and Clearing Limited and The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited take no responsibility for the contents of this report, make no representation as to its accuracy or completeness and expressly disclaim any liability whatsoever for any loss however arising from or in reliance upon the whole or any part of the contents of this report.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Overall Business of the Group for the First Half Year

As the structural reform of the financial market in China continues, the Group achieved its targets in the second quarter of 2016 with the outstanding performance of our three key products, including the “Bank-Business Express” (integrated payment products), capital and risk control products, and banking outsourcing service products (merchant), as well as the “Bank-Hospital Express” and “Bank-School Express”.

Due to the government’s heightened anti-corruption efforts, particularly the increasingly stringent risk controls among banks, the four leading joint-equity banks significantly cut their investment in related business operations during the year. However, with its timely strategic adjustments to the output ratios and long-term development of the three key products, the Group’s businesses and long-term development remained resilient to the market condition.

Supported by the favourable population base, integrated payment products have become channel-based products (mass products) that offer immense potential. In this environment, the Group remains focused on market expansion despite lower profits. Driven by the structural reform and sustained correction of the financial market, the Group continued to expand the offline markets, and to join hands with various banks to initiate projects targeting merchants and cardholders. Formerly independent businesses were gradually consolidated under a consistent development strategy, while banking outsourcing service products (merchant) and payment products were combined to form a business portfolio for future development. In addition, the implementation of the bankruptcy law further strengthened the Bank of the People’s supervision over the sector’s risk control products, strengthening the capital and risk control requirements of banks. Expecting the supervision to be reinforced and improved in the coming years, the Group constructed a flexible business portfolio by increasing the market share of and investment in its capital and risk control products.

OUTLOOK

The banking outsourcing service products, business platform evolved from traditional operations and “Bank-School Express” remain our main sources of big data. With the help of these products, the Group will consolidate the big data and the online and offline businesses to form a unique Offline to Online (O2O) model. We also plan to extend the collaborative model with various banks to other commercial banks. Meanwhile, the business portfolio will be better aligned to the overall development of the financial environment.

The Group will continue to implement stringent cost control, and strengthen the risk control over the overall operations and individual businesses in order to achieve a virtuous circle of identifying new revenue streams and lowering the costs.
