
GLOSSARY OF TECHNICAL TERMS

This glossary of technical terms contains explanations of certain terms used in this prospectus as they relate to our Company and as they are used in this prospectus in connection with our business or us. These terms and their given meanings may not correspond to standard industry definitions.

“ATM”	acronym for automated teller machine
“CAD”	acronym for computer aided design
“CAE”	acronym for computer aided engineering
“CAGR”	compound annual growth rate
“CAM”	acronym for computer aided manufacturing
“CNC”	acronym for computer numerical control, a technology in machining featured with built-in computer aided design/computer aided manufacturing software program for precision manufacturing process
“EMS”	acronym for electronics manufacturing service
“ERP”	acronym for enterprise resource planning, which is an industry term for the broad set of activities supported by multi-module application software that helps a manufacturer or other business operator to manage the important parts of its business, including product planning, parts purchasing, maintaining inventories, interacting with suppliers, providing customer service, and tracking orders. ERP can also include application modules for the finance and human resources aspects of a business
“FMEA”	acronym for failure mode and effects analysis
“ISO9001”	ISO9001 certification is an internationally recognised standard for quality business management. As a family member of the ISO 9000, it sets out requirements for ongoing improvement of product quality and services and design

GLOSSARY OF TECHNICAL TERMS

“ISO9002”	ISO9002 certification is an internationally recognised standard for quality assurance model. As a family member of the ISO 9000, it sets out the quality system requirements for production, installation and servicing
“ISO14001”	ISO 14001 – Environmental Management Standard is the internationally recognised standard for the environmental management of businesses. It aims at recognising the desirable behavior of businesses concerning the environment. It prescribes controls for an encompassing range of corporate activities which include the use of natural resources, handling and treatment of waste and energy consumption.
“ISO/IEC 27001”	ISO/IEC 27001 – Information Security Management Standard (ISMS) is a specification for the management of Information Security. It is applicable to all sectors of industry and commerce and not confined to information held on computers. It addresses the security of information in whatever form it is held
“ISO/TS 16949”	ISO/TS 16949 certification is an international quality management standard for automobile supply chains published by the International Automotive Task Force. It defines the quality system requirements for the design/development, production, installation, and servicing of automotive-related products
“OHSAS 18001”	OHSAS 18001 – Occupational Health and Safety Assessment Series is the internationally recognised specification for Occupational Health and Safety Management Systems. It specifies requirements for an occupational health and safety management system to enable an organisation to develop and implement a policy and objectives which take into account legal requirements and information about occupational risks and to improve their occupational safety and health performance
“ppm”	acronym for parts per million, which is used to measure quality performance in terms of non-conforming or defective parts in a million
“RoHS”	acronym for restriction of hazardous substances