Chart: Structure of the Risk Management

Market Risk

Market risks represent potential losses due to movement in market prices of financial positions held. Financial positions held are derived from the proprietary investment, market-making business and other investment activities. Movements in the financial positions held primarily originated from instructions given by customers or the relevant strategies of proprietary investment.

Market risks primarily include equity price risk, interest rate risk, commodity price risk and foreign exchange rate risk. Equity price risk arises from fluctuation in the price and volatility of equities such as stocks, equity portfolio and stock index futures. Interest rate risk primarily arises from movements in the yield curve of fixed income investment, fluctuation in interest rates and credit spreads. Commodity price risk arises from adverse price movements of various commodities. Exchange rate risk represents exposures arising from changes in non-local currency rates.

The Company has established a top-down risk prevention measure, which is formed by the Risk Management Committee of the Board, Risk Management Committee of the Company and all business departments/business lines and internal control departments. Through allocating the overall risk of the Company to different business departments/business lines, and monitoring by the internal control departments, and by timely assessment and reporting of significant risk matters, the overall market risk of the Company is controlled within an acceptable level.

The Company assesses, monitors and manages its overall market risks through the Risk Management Department, which is independent from the business departments/business lines, and its assessments and testings are reported to the respective business departments/business lines, the Operation Management and the Risk Management Committee of the Company. In implementing market risk management, the front-office business departments/business lines, with direct responsibility for risk management and as the frontline risk management team, dynamically manage the market risks arising from its securities holdings, and actively take measures to reduce or hedge against such risks when the exposures are high. The relevant monitoring personnel from the Risk Management Department will continuously cooperate and communicate directly with the respective business departments/business lines with regard to information on risk exposures, and discuss the status of risk portfolios and the losses in extreme situations.

The Risk Management Department estimates possible losses arising from market risks through series of measurements, including possible losses under normal volatility and extreme market conditions. Under normal volatilities, the Risk Management Department measures the possible losses of the Company in the short term via VaR and sensitivity analysis. In extreme situations, the department measures the possible losses of the Company via stress test. The risk report sets out the market risk portfolios and its changes in each of the business departments/business lines. The report will be delivered on a daily, weekly, monthly or quarterly basis to the responsible officers of the business departments/business lines and the Operation Management of the Company.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

VaR represents the potential losses of investment portfolios held due to movements in market prices over a specified time period and at a given level of confidence. The Company adopts VaR as a major indicator of its market risk measurement. The calculation is based on a holding period of one trading day and a confidence level of 95%. VaR detects exposures such as interest rate risk, equity price risk and exchange rate risk, and measures the movement of market risks such as those arising from changes in interest rate curves, prices of securities and exchange rates. The Risk Management Department constantly inspects the accuracy of VaR through backtesting and improves its calculation in line with the expansion of the Company. The Company also evaluates the possible losses in its proprietary positions arising from extreme situations through stress tests. The Risk Management Department has established a series of macro and market scenarios to calculate the possible losses in the Company's all proprietary positions upon occurrence of a single or multiple scenarios. These scenarios include the occurrence of major setbacks in macro-economic conditions, significant and adverse changes in major markets and extraordinary risk events. Stress test constitutes an integral part of the market risk management. Through stress tests, the Company could focus on the possible losses to the Company, analyse its risk return and compare its risk resistant capacities, and evaluate whether the overall market risk portfolio of the Company is within its expected limits.

The Company sets risk limits for its respective business departments/business lines to control fluctuations in profit or loss and market risk exposures. The risk limits are monitored by the Risk Management Department on a daily basis. When risk level is approaching or exceeds the threshold values, the Risk Management Department will issue warning alert to the relevant management officers, discuss with the respective business management officers, and in accordance with the opinion reached through discussions, the business departments/business lines will reduce the risk exposures to the risk limits, or may apply for a temporary or permanent upgrade in the risk limits, subject to approval by the relevant committees.

The Company continues to modify the risk limits system, and is building up a more comprehensive system with different levels of risk limit indicators based on the existing indicators for the Company, its respective business departments/business lines and investment accounts, with a view to formulating substantive rules or guidelines to standardize the management model of the limit system.

In respect of foreign assets, in order to ensure the availability of funds required for foreign business expansion, the Company implemented a centralised management of its exchange rate risk. The Company keeps track of the risk by closely monitoring the value of the assets in the account on a daily basis. It monitors the exchange rate risk from different angles, such as assets limit, VaR, sensibility analysis and stress test, and manages exchange rate risk exposure through methods such as adjusting foreign currency position, using forward exchange contract/option hedging and currency swap contracts.

For details of the market risk of the Group, please refer to Note 45 to the Financial Statements of this interim report.

Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk in respect of loss arising from inability of a borrower, counterparty or issuer of financial positions held to meet their obligations or whose credit qualifications deteriorate.

The credit risk of the Group mostly arises from four aspects: firstly, brokerage business in respect of securities dealing and futures trading on behalf of clients, if the Group does not require the clients to pay sufficient margin deposits in advance according to the laws, the Group may have to undertake the settlement responsibility on behalf of clients if the clients do not have sufficient funds to pay for the transaction, or face financing gaps due to other factors on the settlement date, and accordingly resulting in losses; secondly, credit risk arising from the securities financing businesses including margin financing and securities lending, stock repo, stock-pledged repo, which refers to the Group's exposure to losses caused by clients' failure to perform the contracts; thirdly, default risk from credit product investment, which refers to the risk of the Group's asset losses and change in yield by reason of default or refusal to pay principal and interest on due dates by the financing parties or the issuers of the credit products invested by the Group; and fourthly, counterparty default risk in OTC derivative transactions such as interest rate swap, equity swap, OTC options and forwards, i.e. the risk of counterparties failing to perform their payment obligations in accordance with contracts upon maturity.

The Company assesses the credit ratings of counterparties or issuers through its internal credit rating systems, measures its credit risk by means of stress test and sensitivity analysis, and manage such credit risk based on these results from the credit approval system. Meanwhile, the Company uses its information management systems to monitor its credit risk on a real time basis, keep track of the credit risk of its business products and transaction counterparties, provide analysis and pre-warning reports, and adjust its credit limits in a timely manner.

Securities brokerage business transactions in Mainland China are all required to be settled in full by security deposit, as a result of which the settlement risk associated with brokerage business has been largely controlled.

Credit risk arising from the securities financing business primarily includes clients' provision of false information, failure to make full repayment on time, contractual breach of portfolio limits and compositions, violation of regulatory requirements, and provision of collateral encumbered with legal disputes. Credit risk arising from this type of businesses is mainly managed through client education, credit reference checks, credit approval, daily mark to market, risk reminders to clients, forced liquidation of clients' positions, judicial recourse and other means.

In respect of investment in credit products by private equity investment, the Company has established the entrance levels and investment limits for such products and will manage the credit risk through risk assessment, risk reminders and judicial recourse. In respect of public offering investments, the Company has developed a counterparty credit approval policy by restricting investment based on credit ratings.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The counterparties in OTC derivative transactions are mainly financial institutions and other professional institutions and the main risks are their failure to make payments on time, their failure to cover the security deposits in a timely manner when the losses are made on investments and discrepancy between amounts calculated by the parties. The Company sets certain proportions for the security deposits of counterparties and restrictions on the transaction size, controls the credit risk exposure of counterparties through daily mark to market, margin calls and forced liquidation of clients' positions, and carries out recourse through judicial procedures upon the forced liquidation of clients' positions and the occurrence of losses.

Due to the lack of comparability between credit rating results of bonds granted by domestic credit rating agencies and by foreign credit rating agencies, the credit risk exposure is stated separately as follows:

On the one hand, it measures the solvency of the Company via indicators such as liquidity coverage ratio, and on the other hand, it assesses the intra-day settlement risk of the Company through indicators such as intra-day fund multiples. The Risk Management Department releases a liquidity risk report on a daily basis, and monitors and reports the status of payment risks and settlement risks pursuant to such report. The Company also sets threshold values for relevant indicators, and once exceeded, the Risk Management Department will warn the relevant responsible officers of the Operation Management of the Company and relevant departments of such risks through independent pathways, and appropriate actions will be taken by the relevant departments to adjust the liquidity risks exposed to a level within the permitted ranges.

SIGNIFICANT EVENTS

Material Litigation and Arbitration

During the reporting period, material litigation cases of the Company and its subsidiaries are as follows:

Case of default dispute between the Company and Zhifu Leather about private bonds

In February 2013, the Company subscribed for 2012 SME private bonds of Suqian Zhifu Leather Industry Co., Ltd. (referred to as the “12 Zhifu Bonds”) with a subscription amount of RMB44 million. The 12 Zhifu Bonds were secured by the unconditional and irrevocable guarantees provided by Sino-capital Guaranty Trust Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as “Sino-capital”) and Mr. Zhou Likang, the de facto controller of Suqian Zhifu Leather Industry Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as “Zhifu Leather”).

Since Zhifu Leather failed to pay the principal and interest of the bonds to the Company in accordance with the agreement, to safeguard the legitimate interests of the Company, the Company initiated an arbitration at China International Economic and Trade Arbitration Commission on 29 April 2015 to request Zhifu Leather to settle the principal and unpaid interest of the bonds totalling RMB46.09 million as well as the interest subsequently incurred, the damages in relation to the default and the expenses incurred for realizing the claim. China International Economic and Trade Arbitration Commission accepted the case on 22 May 2015 and 28 August 2015 has been scheduled for trial.

Since Sino-capital and Zhou Likang, as the guarantors, failed to fulfill their obligations under the agreement, to safeguard the legitimate interests of the Company, the Company filed a lawsuit on 3 August 2015 to the Third Intermediate People’s Court of Beijing, requesting Sino-capital and Zhou Likang to perform their joint and several guarantee obligations to settle the principal and unpaid interest of the bonds totalling RMB46.09 million as well as the interest subsequently incurred, the damages in relation to the default and the expenses for realizing the claim. The Third Intermediate People’s Court of Beijing has accepted the case on the same day.

Case of default dispute by a TAM plan managed by the Company against Meng Kai

In 2013 and 2014, the Company, as the manager of a TAM plan and in accordance with the instruction of the principal of the TAM plan, signed relevant agreements (including the subsequent relevant supplemental agreements) such as the agreement on the stock pledged repo transaction business of CITIC Securities Company Limited with Meng Kai, the then chairman of Cloud Live Technology Group Co., Ltd. (stock name referred to as “Cloud Live”, stock code: “002306”, previously known as “Beijing Xianggeqing Group Co., Ltd.”), pursuant to which, Meng Kai raised funds of RMB479.60 million from the TAM plan established by the Company with the 181.56 million shares held by him in Cloud Live.

Since Meng Kai did not make the repurchase in accordance with the agreements and in accordance with the instruction of the principal of the TAM plan, the Company applied in May 2015 to the People's Court of the Futian District of Shenzhen (hereinafter referred to as "Futian Court") to claim for realisation of the security interest created by the pledge of the 181.56 million shares held by Meng Kai in Cloud Live (with its name changed into "ST Cloud Live"). On 19 May 2015, Futian Court made a civil ruling that all 181.56 million shares held by Meng Kai in *ST Cloud Live be judicially frozen according to law. Such judicial freeze ranks behind the judicial freeze ordered by the First Intermediate People's Court of Beijing on the aforesaid shares as a result of the "ST Xiang Bonds" case. On 18 June 2015, Futian Court commenced the trial of the case and made a civil ruling on 25 June 2015 to allow the auction of or sale of the 181.56 million shares in *ST Cloud Live registered in the name of Meng Kai. The Company was given priority for the payment of the principal sum of RMB479.60 million, the interest amounting to RMB3,252,082.19 (being the interest temporarily accrued up to 22 April 2015; the subsequently accrued interest is to be calculated in accordance with the agreements up to the actual date of performance), late payment fee and notarization fee.

In the course of carrying out the above business, the Company made investment and handled disputes fully in accordance with the relevant regulatory requirements, the terms of the agreements and the instructions of the principal. The risks are borne by the principal. It is anticipated that there will be no negative impact on the status of the Company's own assets.

Case of default dispute by China AMC against Stdawee and Anhui NBO

On 7 June 2013, the SME private debt/asset management plan managed by China AMC, a subsidiary controlled by the Company, subscribed for the private bonds (referred to as "13 Stda 01") issued by Xiamen Stdawee Fashion Co., Ltd. ("Stdawee") amounting to RMB25 million. Stdawee did not make the interest payment for "13 Stda 01" bonds on schedule. To safeguard the legitimate interests of the asset management plan and the principals, China AMC filed a lawsuit on 30 June 2014 against Sino-capital, the guarantor of the "13 Stda 01" private bonds, requesting Sino-capital to perform its joint and several guarantee obligations to settle the claim for damages of approximately RMB30.40 million (including the principal of the bonds and interest payments for two instalments). The People's Court of Chaoyang District, Beijing, issued to China AMC a filing acceptance notice on 1 July 2014, and trial of the case commenced on 11 March 2015. Currently, the judgment is yet to be delivered.

In June 2013, the SME private debt/asset management plan managed by China AMC subscribed for the first tranche (referred to as "12 NBO 01") and the second tranche (referred to as "12 NBO 02") of private bonds issued by three enterprises under Anhui NBO Machinery Group with a subscription amount of RMB6 million and RMB45 million, respectively. The issuers of the private bonds did not fulfil the obligation to repay the principal or pay the interest on schedule. To safeguard the legitimate interests of the asset management plan and the principals, China AMC initiated an arbitration at South China International Economic and Trade Arbitration Commission on 28 April 2015 against the issuers of 12 NBO 01 and 12 NBO 02, the guarantors (Sino-capital; Lv Qingtang, the de facto controller of Anhui NBO Machinery Group; Anhui NBO Machinery Group Engineering Vehicle Co., Ltd.) and the underwriter (Capital Securities Co., Ltd.), requesting all responsible parties to fulfil the payment and compensation obligations to pay damages of approximately RMB58.0481 million. South China International Economic and Trade Arbitration Commission accepted the case on 28 April 2015 and 21 August 2015 has been scheduled for trial. No award has been rendered yet.

Introduction

We have reviewed the interim financial information set out on pages 74 to 138, which comprises the condensed consolidated interim statement of financial position of CITIC Securities Company Limited (the “Company”) and its subsidiaries (together, the “Group”) as at 30 June 2015 and the related condensed consolidated interim statements of income, comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the six months period then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory notes (the “Interim Financial Information”). The Rules Governing the Listing of Securities on The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited require the preparation of a report on interim financial information to be in compliance with the relevant provisions thereof and International Accounting Standard 34 “Interim Financial Reporting”. The directors of the Company are responsible for the preparation and presentation of this Interim Financial Information in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34 “Interim Financial Reporting”. Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on this Interim Financial Information based on our review and to report our conclusion solely to you, as a body, in accordance with our agreed terms of engagement and for no other purpose. We do not assume responsibility towards or accept liability to any other person for the contents of this report.

Scope of review

We conducted our review in accordance with International Standard on Review Engagements 2410, Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity. A review of interim financial information consists of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing and, consequently, does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Conclusion

Based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the Interim Financial Information is not prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34 “Interim Financial Reporting”.

2 BASIS OF PREPARATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

2.1 BASIS OF PREPARATION

The condensed consolidated interim financial information for the six months ended 30 June 2015 has been prepared in accordance with International Accounting Standard (“IAS”) 34 Interim Financial Reporting.

The condensed consolidated interim financial information does not include all the information and disclosures required in the annual financial statements, and should be read in conjunction with the Group’s annual financial statements as at and for the year ended 31 December 2014.

2.2 SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The unaudited condensed consolidated interim financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis, except for certain financial instruments which are measured at fair value. Except as described below, the principal accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the unaudited condensed consolidated interim financial information are consistent with those used in the Group’s annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2014.

Amendments effective in 2015 and adopted by the Group:

In the current interim period, the Group has applied the following amendments to the International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRSs”), issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (“IASB”) that are mandatorily effective for the current interim period. NOTES TO THE CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED INTERIM FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

For the six months ended 30 June 2015
(In RMB thousands, unless otherwise stated)

- (2) The amendments clarify the application of the consolidation exception for investment entities and their subsidiaries.

The amendments to IFRS 10 clarify that the exception from preparing consolidated financial statements is available to intermediate parent entities which are subsidiaries of investment entities. The exception is available when the investment entity parent measures its subsidiaries at fair value. The intermediate parent would also need to meet the other criteria for exception listed in IFRS 10. The amendments also clarify that an investment entity should consolidate a subsidiary which is not an investment entity and which provides services in support of the investment entity's investment activities, such that it acts as an extension of the investment entity.

The amendments to IAS 28 allow an entity which is not an investment entity, but has an interest in an associate or a joint venture which is an investment entity, a policy choice when applying the equity method of accounting. The entity may choose to retain the fair value measurement applied by the investment entity associate or joint venture, or to unwind the fair value measurement and instead perform a consolidation at the level of the investment entity associate or joint venture.

The Group anticipates that the adoption of the amendments will not have a significant impact on the Group's consolidated financial statements.

- (3) The amendments clarify guidance in IAS 1 on materiality and aggregation, the presentation of subtotals, the structure of financial statements and the disclosure of accounting policies. Although the amendments do not require specific changes, they clarify a number of presentation issues and highlight that preparers are permitted to tailor the format and presentation of the financial statements to their circumstances and the needs of users.

The Group anticipates that the adoption of the amendments will not have a significant impact on the Group's consolidated financial statements.

3 SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING JUDGEMENTS AND ESTIMATES

The preparation of condensed consolidated interim financial statements requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and income and expense. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

In preparing these condensed consolidated interim financial statements, the significant judgments made by management in applying the Group's accounting policies and the key sources of estimation uncertainty were the same as those that applied to the Group's annual consolidated financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2014.

(4) Urban maintenance and construction taxes, education surcharges and local education surcharges are levied at 7%, 3% and 2%, respectively, of the payable amount of turnover tax.

44 FAIR VALUE AND FAIR VALUE HIERARCHY

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

The fair values of refundable deposits, reverse repurchase agreements, cash held on behalf of customers, cash and bank balances, fee and commission receivables, margin accounts, due from banks, customer brokerage deposits, repurchase agreements, loans, due to banks and other financial institutions and short-term financing instruments payable approximate to their carrying amounts, largely due to the remaining maturities of these instruments generally being less than one year.

Fair value hierarchy

The Group uses the following hierarchy for determining and disclosing the fair values of financial instruments:

Level 1: Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets, in which the Group principally trades, for identical financial assets or financial liabilities at the measurement date.

Level 2: Valuation techniques using inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the financial asset or financial liability, either directly or indirectly.

Level 3: Valuation techniques using inputs for the financial asset or financial liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs).

The Group uses valuation techniques or counterparty quotations to determine fair value when it is unable to obtain market quotation in active markets.

NOTES TO THE CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED INTERIM FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

For the six months ended 30 June 2015
(In RMB thousands, unless otherwise stated)

The main parameters used in valuation techniques include underlying securities prices, interest rates, foreign exchange rates, volatilities, correlations and counterparty credit spreads and others, which are all observable and obtainable from an active market.

For certain unlisted or thinly traded equity securities, unlisted funds, and certain over-the-counter derivatives transactions, management obtains valuation quotations from counterparties or uses valuation techniques to determine fair value, including discounted cash flow analysis, net asset value and market comparison approach, etc. The fair value of these financial instruments may be based on unobservable inputs which may have significant impact on the valuation of these financial instruments, and therefore, these assets and liabilities have been classified by the Group as level 3. The unobservable inputs which may have impact on the valuation include weighted average cost of capital, liquidity discount, and price to book ratio. As at 30 June 2015, fair value changes resulting from changes in the unobservable inputs were not significant. The Group has implemented internal control procedures to control the Group's exposure to such financial instruments within specified limits.

The credit risk of the Group mostly arises from four aspects: firstly, brokerage business in respect of securities dealing and futures trading on behalf of clients, if the Group does not require the clients to pay sufficient margin deposits in advance according to the laws, the Group may have to undertake the settlement responsibility on behalf of clients if the clients do not have sufficient funds to pay for the transaction, or face financing gaps due to other factors on the settlement date, and accordingly resulting in losses; secondly, credit risk arising from the securities financing businesses including margin financing and securities lending, stock repo, stock-pledged repo, which refers to the Group's exposure to losses caused by clients' failure to perform the contracts; thirdly, default risk from credit product investment, which refers to the risk of the Group's asset losses and change in yield by reason of default or refusal to pay principal and interest on due dates by the financing parties or the issuers of the credit products invested by the Group; and fourthly, counterparty default risk in OTC derivative transactions such as interest rate swap, equity swap, OTC option and forwards, i.e. the risk of counterparties failing to perform their payment obligations in accordance with contracts upon maturity.

The Company assesses the credit ratings of counterparties or issuers through its internal credit rating systems, measures its credit risk by means of stress test and sensitivity analysis, and manages such credit risk based on these results from the credit approval system. Meanwhile, the Company uses its information management systems to monitor its credit risk on a real time basis, keep track of the credit risk of its business products and transaction counterparties, provide analysis and pre-warning reports, and adjust its credit limits in a timely manner.

Securities brokerage business transactions in Mainland China are all required to be settled in full by security deposit, as a result of which the settlement risk associated with brokerage business has been largely controlled.

Credit risk arising from the securities financing business primarily includes clients' provision of false information, failure to make full repayment on time, contractual breach of portfolio limits and compositions, violation of regulatory requirements, and provision of collateral encumbered with legal disputes. Credit risk arising from this type of businesses is mainly managed through client education, credit reference checks, credit approval, daily mark to market, risk reminders to clients, forced liquidation of clients' positions, judicial recourse and other means.

In respect of investment in credit products by private equity investment, the Company has established the entrance levels and investment limits for such products and will manage the credit risk through risk assessment, risk reminders and judicial recourse. In respect of public offering investments, the Company has developed a counterparty credit approval policy by restricting investment based on credit ratings.

The counterparties in OTC derivative transactions are mainly financial institutions and other professional institutions and the main risks are their failure to make payments on time, their failure to cover the security deposits in a timely manner when the losses are made on investments and discrepancy between amounts calculated by the parties. The Company sets certain proportions for the security deposits of counterparties and restrictions on the transaction size, controls the credit risk exposure of counterparties through daily mark to market, margin calls and forced liquidation of clients' positions, and carries out recourse through judicial procedures upon the forced liquidation of clients' positions and the occurrence of losses.

(b) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk arising from shortage of funds when fulfilling obligations relating to financial liabilities. The Company has consistently adhered to a unified fund management and operation policy and set up a liquidity risk management sub-working group responsible for continuously strengthening its fund management system. The responsibilities for centralized management of fund allocation lie within the Treasury Department. In respect of the domestic stock exchanges and interbank market, the Company has a relatively high credit rating, and has secured stable channels for short-term financing, such as borrowing and repurchases, which enable the Company to maintain its overall liquidity at a relatively secured level.

In addition, the Risk Management Department independently monitors and assesses the fund and debt positions of the Company over a future time span on a daily basis. On the one hand, it measures the solvency of the Company via indicators such as liquidity coverage ratio, and on the other hand, it assesses the intra-day settlement risk of the Company through indicators such as intra-day fund multiples. The Risk Management Department releases a liquidity risk report on a daily basis, and monitors and reports the status of payment risks and settlement risks pursuant to such report. The Company also sets threshold values for relevant indicators, and once exceeded, the Risk Management Department will warn the relevant responsible officers of the Operation Management of the Company and relevant departments of such risks through independent pathways, and appropriate actions will be taken by the relevant departments to adjust the liquidity risks exposed to a level within the permitted ranges.

(c) Market risk

Market risks represent potential losses due to movement in market prices of financial positions held. Financial positions held are derived from the proprietary investment, market-making business and other investment activities. Movements in the financial positions held primarily originated from instructions given by customers or the relevant strategies of proprietary investment.

Market risks primarily include equity price risk, interest rate risk, commodity price risk and foreign exchange rate risk. Equity price risk arises from fluctuation in the price and volatility of equities such as stocks, equity portfolio and stock index futures. Interest rate risk primarily arises from movements in the yield curve of fixed income investment, fluctuation in interest rates and credit spreads. Commodity price risk arises from adverse price movements of various commodities. Exchange rate risk represents exposures arising from changes in non-local currency rates.

The Company has established a top-down risk prevention measure, which is formed by the Risk Management Committee of the Board, Risk Management Committee of the Company and all business departments/business lines and internal control departments. Through allocating the overall risk of the Company to different business departments/business lines, and monitoring by the internal control departments, and by timely assessment and reporting of significant risk matters, the overall market risk of the Company is controlled within an acceptable level.

The Company assesses, monitors and manages its overall market risks through the Risk Management Department, which is independent from the business departments/business lines, and its assessments and testings are reported to the respective business departments/business lines, the Operation Management and the Risk Management Committee of the Company. In implementing market risk management, the front-office business departments/business lines, with direct responsibility for risk management and as the frontline risk management team, dynamically manage the market risks arising from its securities holdings, and actively take measures to reduce or hedge against such risks when the exposures are high. The relevant monitoring personnel from the Risk Management Department will continuously cooperate and communicate directly with the respective business departments/business lines with regard to information on risk exposures, and discuss the status of risk portfolios and the losses in extreme situations.

The Risk Management Department estimates possible losses arising from market risks through series of measurements, including possible losses under normal volatility and extreme market conditions. Under normal volatilities, the Risk Management Department measures the possible losses of the Company in the short term via VaR and sensitivity analysis. In extreme situations, the department measures the possible losses of the Company via stress test. The risk report sets out the market risk portfolios and its changes in each of the business departments/business lines. The report will be delivered on a daily, weekly, monthly or quarterly basis to the responsible officers of the business departments/business lines and the Operation Management of the Company.

VaR represents the potential losses of investment portfolios held due to movements in market prices over a specified time period and at a given level of confidence. The Company adopts VaR as a major indicator of its market risk measurement. The calculation is based on a holding period of one trading day and a confidence level of 95%. VaR detects exposures such as interest rate risk, equity price risk and exchange rate risk, and measures the movement of market risks such as those arising from changes in interest rate curves, prices of securities and exchange rates. The Risk Management Department constantly inspects the accuracy of VaR through backtesting and improves its calculation in line with the expansion of the Company. The Company also evaluates the possible losses in its proprietary positions arising from extreme situations through stress tests. The Risk Management Department has established a series of macro and market scenarios to calculate the possible losses in the Company's all proprietary positions upon occurrence of a single or multiple scenarios. These scenarios include the occurrence of major setbacks in macro-economic conditions, significant and adverse changes in major markets and extraordinary risk events. Stress test constitutes an integral part of the market risk management. Through stress tests, the Company could focus on the possible losses to the Company, analyse its risk return and compare its risk resistant capacities, and evaluate whether the overall market risk portfolio of the Company is within its expected limits.

The Company sets risk limits for its respective business departments/business lines to control fluctuations in profit or loss and market risk exposures. The risk limits are monitored by the Risk Management Department on a daily basis. When risk level is approaching or exceeds the threshold values, the Risk Management Department will issue warning alert to the relevant management officers, discuss with the respective business management officers, and in accordance with the opinion reached through discussions, the business departments/business lines will reduce the risk exposures to the risk limits, or may apply for a temporary or permanent upgrade in the risk limits, subject to approval by the relevant committees.

The Company continues to modify the risk limits system, and is building up a more comprehensive system with different levels of risk limit indicators based on the existing indicators for the Company, its respective business departments/business lines and investment accounts, with a view to formulating substantive rules or guidelines to standardize the management model of the limit system.

In respect of foreign assets, in order to ensure the availability of funds required for foreign business expansion, the Company implemented a centralised management of its exchange rate risk. The Company keeps track of the risk by closely monitoring the value of the assets in the account on a daily basis. It monitors the exchange rate risk from different angles, such as assets limit, VaR, sensibility analysis and stress test, and manages exchange rate risk exposure through methods such as adjusting foreign currency position, using forward exchange contract/option hedging and currency swap contracts.

(i) VaR

The Group adopts VaR as the risk evaluation tool for measuring the market risk of the entire securities investment portfolio which comprises various financial instruments. VaR analysis is a statistical technique that estimates the potential maximum losses that could occur on risk positions due to movements in interest rates, stock prices or currency rates over a specified time period and at a given level of confidence.

The calculation is based on the historical data of the Group's VaR (confidence level of 95% and a holding period of one trading day).

The Group's VaR analysis by risk categories is summarised as follows:

	Six months ended 30 June
	2015 (Unaudited)	2014 (Unaudited)
Price-sensitive financial instruments	692,812	116,579
Interest rate-sensitive financial instruments	30,931	22,537
Currency rate-sensitive financial instruments	16,818	13,759
Total portfolio VaR	691,958	123,516

(ii) Interest rate risk

The Group's interest rate risk is the risk of fluctuation in the fair value of one or more financial instruments arising from adverse movements in interest rates. The Group's interest rate risk mainly sources from the volatility of fair value of financial instruments held by the Group which are sensitive to the interest rate risk, resulting from market interest rate's negative fluctuation.

The Group uses interest rate sensitivity analysis as the principal tool to monitor interest rate risk. The use of interest rate sensitivity analysis assumes all other variables remain constant, but changes in the fair value of financial instruments held at the end of the measurement period may impact the Group's total income and shareholders' equity when interest rates fluctuate reasonably and possibly.

Assuming a parallel shift in the market interest rates and without taking into consideration of the management's activities to reduce interest rate risk, the impact of such a shift on revenue and shareholders' equity based on an interest rate sensitivity analysis of the Group is as follows:

Sensitivity of revenue	Six months ended 30 June

(iii) Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk of fluctuation in the fair value of financial instruments or future cash flows arising from adverse movements in foreign exchange rates. The Group's currency risk primarily relates to the Group's operating activities, whose settlements and payments are denominated in foreign currencies different from the Group's functional currency, and its net investment in foreign subsidiaries.

The tables below indicate a sensitivity analysis of exchange rate changes of the currencies to which the Group had significant exposure. The analysis calculates the effect of a reasonably possible movement in the currency rates against RMB, with all other variables held constant, on revenue and equity. A negative amount in the table reflects a potential net reduction in revenue or equity, while a positive amount reflects a potential net increase.

While the table above indicates the effect on revenue and equity of 3% depreciation of USD and HKD, there will be an opposite effect with the same amount if the currencies appreciate by the same percentage.

The tables below summarise the Group's exposure to foreign currency exchange rate risk as at 30 June 2015 and 31 December 2014. The Group's exposure to RMB is provided in the tables below for comparison purposes. (iv) Price risk

Price risk is the risk that the fair value of equity securities decreases due to the variance between the stock index level and individual share values. If this occurs, market price fluctuations of financial instruments held for trading will impact the Group's profit; and market price fluctuations of financial instruments classified as available for sale will impact shareholders' equity for the Group.

As at 30 June 2015, the proportion of the Group's equity investment to total assets further decreased. The financial assets held for trading and financial assets designated as at fair value through profit or loss accounted for approximately 11.21% of the total assets as at 30 June 2015 with a decrease of 0.21 percentage points as compared to 31 December 2014, while the available-for-sale financial assets accounted for approximately 1.5% of the total assets with a decrease of 0.93 percentage points.
