

PROSPECTS

Whilst the Group remains cautious in the prevailing business environment, it is well equipped to cope with the challenges that lie ahead. The Group continues to develop new innovative products and its own "Oregon Scientific" brand and distribution network. Furthermore, it will continue to explore new opportunities in new markets, targeting to achieve growth for all of its product divisions. Barring unforeseen circumstances, the Directors expect the Company's results for the second half of this financial year to continue to be profitable.
