

Air China Limited is the national flag carrier and a leading provider of air passenger, air cargo and airline related services in China.

Air China Limited is primarily based in Beijing, China, one of the most important hubs for air transportation in China. Taking advantage of its balanced network of extensive and complementary domestic and international routes serving 72 domestic and 36 international destinations, Air China Limited aims to become the best partner of all air passengers in providing safe, convenient, comfortable and customised services.

Air China Limited has set its mission statement as: to be the favored airline for mainstream passengers; to be the most valuable and profitable airline in China and to be an airline with international competitiveness.

