Staff Training

Our Directors believe that our employees are among the most valuable assets of our Group and have contributed to the success of our Group. It is our policy to encourage the development and training of our employees according to their own job descriptions and needs. We not only provide pre-job training to our employees to equip them with the knowledge necessary for their respective job functions, for example, our corporate culture and introduction to our products and manufacturing logistics, but also provide in-house on-the-job training specific to each of their designations to enhance their technical skills. Moreover, we work to improve the social and environmental conditions of our work sites. We implemented the Electronic Industry Code of Conduct (EICC) Manual for all of our employees on 20 February 2009.

Staff Benefits

We make contributions to all mandatory funds applicable to us under the relevant PRC laws and regulations, including pension funds, unemployment insurance funds and work-related injury funds for our employees. We also voluntarily make contributions to childbearing insurance funds for our female employees. These contributions, which are funded from our internal financial resources, are in compliance with the requirements of the PRC laws and regulations.

World Fair Heshan, as a PRC entity, is obliged by law to make contributions to the medical insurance funds and housing provident funds for its employees. However, we have only commenced making contributions to the medical insurance funds and housing provident funds for the employees of our operating subsidiary, World Fair Heshan, from September 2009. World Fair Heshan had not received any orders or directives from the relevant PRC authorities to make the contributions and there had been a general reluctance of our employees to make the employees housing provident fund contributions which, if made, would have the effect of reducing their net income. We are advised by our PRC legal advisers that the statutory penalty for failing to make contributions in respect of medical insurance, in addition to payment of all unpaid medical insurance contributions, is a daily fine calculated at 0.2% of any unpaid contributions and the statutory maximum amount for failing to make contributions to the housing provident funds is RMB50,000. We have obtained a written confirmation from the Social Security Bureau of Heshan City (鶴山市社會保險基金管理局), which has jurisdiction over the Group in respect of social security and hence authority to issue such written confirmation, confirming that it will not mandatorily require wholly-foreign owned enterprises in Heshan City to make contributions to medical insurance funds. We have not made any provision for the unpaid contributions to medical insurance funds as we have been advised by our PRC legal advisers that based on the said confirmation, the risk of our Group being penalised is relatively low. We have registered the accounts with the relevant authorities for making contributions to the medical insurance funds and have made full requisite contributions commencing in September 2009 for all eligible employees. Our Group has made a provision of HK$1,732,000 for the unpaid contributions for our existing employees in respect of housing provident funds.

Our Controlling Shareholders have agreed to fully indemnify us and hold us harmless for all potential losses, penalties, fines, damages and liabilities arising from such historical non-compliances.

In addition, we have contributed to a mandatory fund scheme for our employees in Hong Kong in accordance with the applicable Hong Kong laws and regulations.
