Notes:

1. In 2012, the Group consolidated the financial statements of Shandong Coal Trading Centre Co., Ltd. (“Shandong Coal Trading Centre”); Since 2011, the Group has consolidated the financial statements of Yancoal International; Since 2009, the Group has consolidated the financial statements of Hua Ju Energy, Yancoal Resources and Ordos Neng Hua.
2. This annual report does not contain a separate analysis of companies such as Shandong Yanmei Shipping Co., Ltd. (“Yanmei Shipping”), Shandong Coal Trading Centre etc., whose operating results and assets did not have any material impact on the Group.

In 2012, with the sluggish performance of the global economy and the slowing down of China's economic growth rate, demand and supply of coal experienced a reverse change resulting in a sharp decline of the price of coal. All of these factors brought pressure to the operations of the Group. In response to such complicated and severe economic situations and drastic market changes, the Group reacted proactively to maintain a steady development through dynamically adjusting operating strategies, strengthening operation management and control and strictly controlling the increase in costs and expenditure.

During the reporting period, we recorded raw coal production of 67.81 million tonnes, representing an increase of 21.8% over the previous year; salable coal production of 61.94 million tonnes, representing an increase of 21.7% over the previous year, and coal sales volume of 94.15 million tonnes, representing an increase of 46.5% over the previous year. Methanol production amounted to 0.57 million tonnes, representing an increase of 7.5% over the previous year; methanol sales volume amounted to 0.57 million tonnes, representing an increase of 8.5% over the previous year. Our sales revenue amounted to RMB58.1462 billion, representing an increase of 23.5% over the previous year; our net income attributable to the shareholders of the Company amounted to RMB6.219 billion, representing a decrease of 30.3% over the previous year.

The Company optimized production structure and strove to realize its production potentials to achieve rapid growth in coal production. Coal mines in Shandong province overcame unfavorable factors such as the difficulties arising from relocation of villages located above coal fields, challenges in maintaining continuous production and tough on-site conditions. Such coal mines produced 36.99 million tonnes of raw coal and successfully stabilized our production and operation efficiency. Coal mines located outside of Shandong province produced 8.22 million tonnes of raw coal through the method of “determined production volume based on anticipated sales”. Through integration of production capacities, overseas coal mines realized raw coal production of 22.6 million tonnes. Coal production attributable to mines located outside of Shandong province and overseas coal mines accounted for 45.45% of the total production of the Company, which greatly contributed to the rapid growth of the Company’s production volume and signifies the successful formation of the Company’s cross-regional (operations in Shandong province, out-of-province operations and overseas operations) operational structure.

The Company’s active response to the market changes and flexible implementation of the strategy of increasing profit by marketing led to a sales growth in spite of the adverse situation. Adopting the strategies of “maintaining sales in low season, increasing profitability in high season” and “surrendering part of profits but not the market, adjusting price but not sales”, the Company closely followed the market trend and adjusted its product structure and sales price with flexibility, through which we managed to raise price at the first signs of market growth and delay price reductions during market downturns, ensuring the maximization of the economic efficiency of the Company. The Company, as the holding company, established Shandong Coal Trading Center Co., Ltd. and Shangdong Yanmei Rizhao Port Coal Storage and Blending Co., Ltd., through which it structured a new platform for coal trading, storage and blending for the Company.

The Company strengthened control over operation and fortified costs and funding management to continuously improve its operational capabilities. The Company insisted in utilizing effective measures to tap and develop potentials, reduce costs and enhance profitability when confronting crisis. By optimizing investment and costs structures, the Company strictly controlled its budget, unit consumption and expenses and effectively controled the rise in costs and expenses. Also, we strengthened the budget management and strictly controlled the process of fund raising, planning and use of proceeds to achieve higher efficiency in fund usage. Through replacing short-term debts with long-term debts and replacing high interest rate loans with low interest rate loans, the Company further optimized its debt structure and lowered the ratio of interest bearing loans and financing cost. The Company maintained a reasonable and controllable debt level.

The Company strengthened capital operation and strategic resources development in order to improve the Company’s sustainable development. Yancoal Australia and Gloucester Coal Ltd. completed merger and listing and became the largest independent listed coal company in Australia. The Group has become the first Chinese coal company listed in four stock markets. Besides, by acquiring the entire assets of Beisu coal mine and Yangcun coal mine, coal reserve and production capacity of the Company have been further enhanced. The preliminary preparation work for the commencement of construction of Zhuan Longwan coal mine field, Shilawusu coal mine field and Ying Panhao coal mine field in Ordos, Inner Mongolia have accelerated and the 0.6 million-tonne-capacity methanol project in Ordos has transited into the equipment installation stage. Preliminary exploration of potash resouces in Canada revealed that such area contains plentiful high-grade potash resources, showing that the area has promising development prospects. The Company issued USD1 billion and RMB5 billion corporate bonds at low costs, which provided funds for domestic and overseas operations and development of the Company.

The Company actively performed its corporate social responsibility and created a harmonious and stable environment for the Company's development. We enhanced safety management and maintained a production of million tonnes of raw coal with zero fatality rate for six consecutive years, outperforming domestic players while living up to international standards. We are concerned about the environment and have made great efforts in the development of low-carbon economy to reinforce energy saving and environmental protection. In addition, investments in research and development have increased to continuously improve our technological innovation capabilities. We care for our employees and safeguard their legitimate rights and interests. We endeavor to contribute to the society by enhancing the rapid regional economic development, upholding the harmonious and stable development of society and supporting the all-rounded development of our staff.

The Board proposed to declare a cash dividend payable in accordance with the Company's persistent dividend policy at an aggregate sum of RMB1.7706 billion (tax inclusive), being RMB0.36 per share (tax inclusive) for the year of 2012.

In 2013, in view of a weak global economic recovery and a more complicated domestic economy, it is expected that the supply-demand relationship of coal in both domestic and foreign markets will generally remain loose and coal price will fluctuate within a small range. The Chinese government reinforces macro-economic control measures, actively stimulates domestic demand, strengthens strategic adjustment in economic structure and steadily promotes urbanization. Impacts on the coal-related industry of such measures and activities will be seen gradually. The increasing centralization of the coal industry and the marketization of coal price are conducive to regulating market activities, which will promote sustainable and healthy development in the industry.

The operation targets for the year 2013 determined by the Board are as follows: an aggregate coal sales target of 89.85 million tonnes, which comprises the Company's sales target of 34.8 million tonnes, Shanxi Neng Hua's sales target of 1.2 million tonnes, Heze Neng Hua's sales target of 2.6 million tonnes, Ordos Neng Hua's sales target of 6 million tonnes, Yancoal Australia's sales target of 14.96 million tonnes and Yancoal International's sales target of 5.29 million tonnes. The traded external coal is targeted as 25 million tonnes. The methanol sales target is 550,000 tonnes.

To accomplish the above operation targets, the Group will focus on the followings in 2013:

The Company will optimize its overall development plan to transform and upgrade its development model. In accordance with the changing situation and the national industrial policy, the Company will carry out adaptive adjustments to the Company's development model and development target. We will also organize and optimize the dynamics between utilization of the Company's potentials and external expansion, operation and capital management, emphasizing on the unification of speed, quality and profitability, through which the Company will gradually transform from an expanding business model to a quality focused business model. The Group will endeavor to turn Yanzhou Coal into a multinational corporation at the end of the "Twelfth Five-Year Plan", with more than RMB100 billion worth of assets, more than 100 million tonnes of coal production and more than RMB100 billion of operation revenue.

We will strengthen and promote management innovation to unleash potentials and increase profitability. Abiding by the concept of “creating value by management”, we will continue to enhance our management standard to achieve high quality and highly efficient development. The Company will strengthen its financial management. Through establishing an integrated financial management system for domestic and overseas group members to achieve centralized fund management and fund raising, the Company will mitigate management cost and lower financial cost to prevent financial risks. Besides, the Company will strengthen budget management and largely reduce nonproductive and low-profitability inputs. The Company will thoroughly implement the strategy of unlocking potentials, improving profitability, lowering cost and enhancing efficiency to realize effective cost control. In 2013, the Company will strive to maintain the cost of sales per tonne at the same level as 2012. The Company will improve its fund raising and protection ability by setting up an early warning system to ensure capital supply chain safety. The Company will also optimize the management model of cash pool to achieve real-time consolidation of development funds and optimize fund allocation.

The Company will implement certain measures of “reserving, increasing and reducing inventory” to improve the Company’s development quality. The Company will also optimize resource allocation to realize the strategy of “reserving inventory to unlock profitability, increasing inventory to improve profitability and reducing inventory to mitigate loss”. Besides, the Company will optimize its coal production to stabilize the production, unlock the potential and improve the quality and efficiency of coal production for coal mines within Shandong province; boost sales to drive production to achieve growth in volume and profitability for coal mines outside Shandong province; and maximize efficient production capacity and moderately reduce low efficiency production capacity for overseas coal mines. In addition, the Group will strengthen project management and moderately mitigate capital expenditure. Based on the principle of “appropriate development, proper target and cost control, suitable development speed and befitting advancement”, the Company will focus on projects with attractive economic prospects and quick investment return and control the investment in projects that are unlikely to record short-term profit, so as to translate our advantage in resources to better scale and efficiency. The Company will accelerate the disposal of assets with low profitability or which are unprofitable and allocate its advantageous resources to the development of advantageous industries and products.

The Company will optimize its marketing system to improve the profitability of products. By establishing an international marketing system, the Company will achieve product complementation and prioritize the domestic and overseas high-end markets. The Company will also establish strategic alliance with international first-class corporations to improve the control over marketing and global resource allocation. The Company will make use of its advantage in multi coal types to improve variety optimization. We will continue to boost the sales of clean coal and lump coal with high-added value for coal mines in Shandong province; fine-tune the sales of different kinds of coal for coal mines outside Shandong province; and optimize the sales ratio of different kinds of coal for overseas coal mines. Making use of the advantage in domestic marketing, the Company will further reinforce its existing market and introduce the products of Yancoal Australia to the domestic market.

The Company will enhance control over overseas assets management to achieve synergy for company development. We will optimize the corporate governance structure for our overseas corporation and perfect the internal control system and operation management system to maintain and add value to our overseas assets. We will accelerate the optimization and integration of staff, assets and operation efficiency of Yancoal Australia to achieve synergy. In addition, the Company will enhance financial control to reduce controllable costs. We will promote LEAN management measures based on the experience gained in the model coal mines to reduce costs and increase profitability. The Company will formulate the termination and closure proposal of coal mines with low profitability to reduce cost and improve profitability and efficiency. We will adequately prepare for the production expansion of Moolarben coal mine and development of "South East Open Cut" project of the Ashton coal mine to improve the potentials in sustainable development. The Company endeavors to seek low cost fund raising channels to effectively lower high debt risks. We will carefully study the trend of international foreign exchange market and utilize various financial instruments such as hedging and foreign exchange futures to mitigate foreign exchange risks. Besides, the Company will prudently study possible ways to reduce equity interests in Yancoal Australia and the disposal of CVR.

The Company will strengthen the operational risk control and improve its operation standard. We will enhance safe production management and strengthen the implementation of safety system and infrastructure construction to safeguard the Company's development. The Company will optimize its corporate governance system and operational mechanism to avoid operational risks relating to the Company's listing status. By continuously optimizing internal control business procedures and systems, we will perfect the risk management system of domestic and overseas subsidiaries. The Company will strengthen the prevention of operational and development risks and focus on the control and avoidance of strategic, investment, market, financial and legal risks.

Facing an evermore complicated and grim economic environment, the Group will enhance management in all aspects and overcome challenges with strengthened measures in order to realize stable development despite the difficult situation and to create outstanding return for Shareholders.

The Salable coal production of the Group was 61.94 million tonnes in 2012, representing an increase of 11.03 million tonnes, or 21.7%, as compared with that of 2011. 2) Coal Prices and Marketing

In 2012, the sluggish global economy has led to the weak demand for coal in both the domestic and the overseas markets and the average coal price of the Group decreased as compared with that of last year.

The Group sold a total of 94.15 million tonnes of coal in 2012, representing an increase of 29.9 million tonnes or 46.5% as compared with that of 2011, of which 1.15 million tonnes were sold internally, 93 million tonnes were sold externally. III. MAJOR RISKS FACED BY THE GROUP, IMPACT AND MEASURES

1. Risks arising from product price volatility

Affected by factors such as the slowdown of global economy growth, the centralized releases of new capacity of coal, the slowdown of downstream demand growth, the product price of the Group is subject to relatively high risks of downside fluctuation. Due to the product price fluctuation, in 2012, the average sales price of coal of the Group decreased by RMB108.41 per tonne compared with that of last year, which directly and sharply decreased the sales income of the Group. Facing the complicated and volatile market trend, the Group has achieved better results and grasped opportunities under adverse situation by focusing on “two sides”: the market and work site; paying equal attention to expanding sales volume and improving efficiency; strengthening market research and judgments; and adjusting and responding in a flexible manner. The Company has also focused the following work: firstly, the Company placed profitability on top priority in terms of product types and structure; secondly, the Company paid more attention to chasing favorable opportunities and creating values regarding price adjustment; thirdly, the Company made greater efforts to achieving strategic synergy in market expansion; lastly, the Company attached greater importance to promoting production by sales volume in marketing organization. Responding to the market in a scientific way, the Group’s capabilities in terms of market research and judgments, market competition and optimization and adjustment have been significantly enhanced, and further more, the decrease of sales price of the Group in 2012 was lower than the average decrease of sales price in the market, all of which ensured the smooth business development of the Group and the increase of sales volume in the adverse condition and “nil debt” from the market customers. In 2013, the Group will continue to take effective measures to manage and control risks arising from product price volatility.

2. Risks arising from safety production

Coal mining, coal chemical and power generation are the three main business sectors of the Group. As all of them are of high hazardous nature and of complex uncertainties in production. The Group faces the high risk of production safety. The Group has always put safety production the first priority in responding to crisis. The work on safety management and control was carried out smoothly by enhancing comprehensive risks prevention and control. The comprehensive safety management was pushed forward in a systematic and smooth way by deepening risk appraisal and management of safety production, enhancing technical management, making trouble shooting on areas with significant potential safety risks, continuously strengthening basic management at the basic level to constantly improve the standardization of safety quality, increasing input to safety technology to continuously improve the technical support capability in coal mines, launching inspection of safety production of coal mines in a pragmatic way to prevent various accidents at the very beginning without delay. Benefitting from effective management and control, the Group realized safety production of million tones of raw coal production with zero fatality rate. As at 31 December 2012, the Group recorded safety production for 2337 consecutive days. The Group has always placed safety production on top priority and will constantly do a good job in safety production.

3. Risks arising from exchange rate fluctuation

Exchange fluctuation risks that the Group faces are mainly about fluctuation of RMB exchange rate, the fluctuation of US dollar and Australian dollar exchange rates, as well as the increasingly fluctuation of international exchange rates. With the continuous expansion of business operations in the overseas market, the Group has expanded its business operation from the PRC to Australia and Canada. Currently, the Group's customers cover Asia, Europe and the Americas and overseas coal sales are denominated in US dollar and Australian dollar. Thus the impacts and risks concerning exchange gains and losses are increasing. The Group strengthened scientific and effective monitoring; built the early warning mechanism for exchange rate fluctuation risk; made scientific research and judgments on the trend of international exchange rate and utilized financial instruments such as hedging, to fix and stabilize the long-term exchange rate; and actively carried out "overseas payment" business to effectively escape such risk. On the one hand, the exchange gains and losses can be effectively controlled by increase of RMB cross-border settlements, and on the other hand, the capital can be flexibly used to effectively avoid the risks of exchange rate fluctuation. In 2013, the Group will continuously study the trend of international foreign exchange market and comprehensively utilize various financial instruments to effectively control and mitigate the foreign exchange risks.

4. Risks arising from efficiency and effectiveness of management and control

With business expansion across domestic and overseas markets as well as industry sectors, the assets scale and volume of production of the subsidiaries of the Company are constantly increasing. It has become increasingly challenging for the Group to make operating decisions, manage its operations and control risks. The efficiency and effectiveness of management and control will directly affect our business operation quality and impact the Group's business performance. The Group has always attached great importance to risks arising from efficiency and effectiveness of management and control. In the principle of complying with laws and regulations, executing appropriate management and control, clear delineation of powers and responsibilities, standardization as well as flexible and efficient operation, the Group will improve its overall management and control ability to meet the requirements of the internationalized operation and innovate a management and control model. The Group is speeding up effort to establish a scientific and efficient management system that is in line with the actual situation and resources distribution capabilities of the Group as well as the requirements of internationalized development.

5. Risks arising from debt financing

The active expansion increased the debt of the Group. The large amount of bond issuing in recent years has led to changes in solvency indicators. In 2012, the debt-to-assets ratio was significantly increased as compared with that of last year. The Group's ability of debt repayment was slightly decreased. The state government is continuously implementing the prudent monetary policy. As a result, it becomes harder in financing with increased financing cost, which will make it more difficult in financing arrangement of the Group and increase the risks in debt financing. In order to effectively prevent risks arising from debt financing, the Group has established scientific and efficient fund raising assessment system and sound debt risk precaution mechanism. On the one hand, scientific assessment was made to projects under construction in making appropriate funding plans according to our financial capabilities. On the other hand, early warnings were made to prevent potential debt risks. The Group also gave full play to current fund raising instruments in fund raising, used favorable conditions, such as sound credit standings of the Group, to make the most out of current fund raising instruments in fund raising and expanded the fund raising channels. Due to the sound operation capability and credit standing, the Group became the first coal company that was rated as investment grade by the world's three largest rating agencies in 2012. Responding to risks arising from debt financing, the Group will formulate a more suitable risk avoidance plan in the light of actual conditions of the Group, reducing capital occupancy and financing cost based on reasonable fund raising structure to diversify risks and ensure the capital requirement of strategic development of the Company.

The accounting policies adopted for the current year are the same as those adopted for the Group’s financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2011.

The adoption of the new IFRSs had no material impact on the results or financial position of the Group for the current or prior accounting year. Accordingly, no prior period adjustment has been required.

The Group has not early applied the following new and revised standards, amendments or interpretations that have been issued but are not yet effective.

3. ADOPTION OF NEW AND REVISED INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL REPORTING STANDARDS (continued)

- ¹ Effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2013.
- ² Effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2015.
- ³ Effective for annual periods beginning on or after July 1, 2012.
- ⁴ Effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2014.

- IFRS 9 Financial instruments

Under IFRS 9, all recognized financial assets that are within the scope of IAS 39 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement are subsequently measured at either amortised cost or fair value. Specifically, debt investments that are held within a business model whose objective is to collect the contractual cash flows, and that have contractual cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal outstanding are generally measured at amortised cost at the end of subsequent accounting periods. All other debt investments and equity investments are measured at their fair values at the end of subsequent accounting periods.

In relation to financial liabilities, the significant change relates to financial liabilities that are designated as at fair value through profit or loss. Specifically, under IFRS 9, for financial liabilities that are designated as at fair value through profit or loss, the amount of change in the fair value of the financial liability that is attributable to changes in the credit risk of that liability is presented in other comprehensive income, unless the presentation of the effects of changes in the liability's credit risk in other comprehensive income would create or enlarge an accounting mismatch in profit or loss. Changes in fair value attributable to a financial liability's credit risk are not subsequently reclassified to profit or loss. Previously, under IAS 39, the entire amount of the change in the fair value of the financial liability designated as at fair value through profit or loss was presented in profit or loss.

- IFRS 10 Consolidated Financial Statements

IFRS 10 replaces the consolidation guidance in IAS 27 Consolidated and Separate Financial Statements and SIC-12 Consolidation-Special Purpose Entities by introducing a single consolidation model for all entities based on control, irrespective of the nature of the investee (i.e., whether an entity is controlled through voting rights of investors or through other contractual arrangements as is common in special purpose entities). Under IFRS 10, control is based on whether an investor has 1) power over the investee; 2) exposure, or rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee; and 3) the ability to use its power over the investee to affect the amount of the returns.

- IFRS 11 Joint Arrangements

IFRS 11 introduces new accounting requirements for joint arrangements, replacing IAS 31 Interests in Joint Ventures. The option to apply the proportional consolidation method when accounting for jointly controlled entities is removed. Additionally, IFRS 11 eliminates jointly controlled assets to now only differentiate between joint operations and joint ventures. A joint operation is a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control have rights to the assets and obligations for the liabilities. A joint venture is a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control have rights to the net assets.

3. ADOPTION OF NEW AND REVISED INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL REPORTING STANDARDS (continued)

- IFRS 12 Disclosures of Involvement with Other Entities

IFRS 12 requires enhanced disclosures about both consolidated entities and unconsolidated entities in which an entity has involvement. The objective of IFRS 12 is to require information so that financial statement users may evaluate the basis of control, any restrictions on consolidated assets and liabilities, risk exposures arising from involvements with unconsolidated structured entities and non-controlling interest holders' involvement in the activities of consolidated entities.

- IFRS 13 Fair Value Measurement

IFRS 13 applies when another IFRS requires or permits fair value measurements or disclosures about fair value measurements (and measurements, such as fair value less costs to sell, based on fair value or disclosures about those measurements), except for certain exemptions. IFRS 13 requires the disclosures of fair values through a 'fair value hierarchy'. The hierarchy categorizes the inputs used in valuation techniques into three levels. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to (unadjusted) quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs. If the inputs used to measure fair value are categorized into different levels of the fair value hierarchy, the fair value measurement is categorized in its entirety in the level of the lowest level input that is significant to the entire measurement.

- IAS 1 (Amendments) Presentation of Items of Other Comprehensive Income

IAS 1 (Amendments) retain the option to present profit or loss and other comprehensive income in either a single statement or in two separate but consecutive statements. However, IAS 1 (Amendments) require additional disclosures to be made in the other comprehensive income section such that items of other comprehensive income are grouped into two categories: (a) items that will not be reclassified subsequently to profit or loss; and (b) items that may be reclassified subsequently to profit or loss when specific conditions are met. Income tax on items of other comprehensive income is required to be allocated on the same basis. IAS 1 (Amendments) are effective for annual periods beginning on or after July 1, 2012. The presentation of items of other comprehensive income will be modified accordingly when the amendments are applied in the future accounting periods.

3. ADOPTION OF NEW AND REVISED INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL REPORTING STANDARDS (continued)

- IFRIC 20 Stripping Costs in the Production Phase of a Surface Mine

IFRIC 20 Stripping Costs in the Production Phase of a Surface Mine applies to waste removal costs that are incurred in surface mining activity during the production phase of the mine (“production stripping costs”). Under the Interpretation, the costs from this waste removal activity (“stripping”) which provide improved access to ore are recognized as a non-current asset (“stripping activity asset”) when certain criteria are met, whereas the costs of stripping activities where the benefit is realised in the form of inventory produced are accounted for in accordance with IAS 2 Inventories. The stripping activity asset is accounted for as an addition to, or as an enhancement of, an existing asset and classified as tangible or intangible according to the nature of the existing asset of which it forms part. When the costs of the stripping activity asset and the inventory produced are not separately identifiable, production stripping costs are allocated between the inventory produced and the stripping activity asset by using an allocation basis that is based on a relevant production measure. IFRIC 20 is effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2013. Under the existing policy, the Company separately present the stripping costs on the balance sheet. Upon the subsequent adoption of the Interpretation, the presentation on the balance sheet will be amended accordingly.

The directors considered that except for the abovementioned standards or interpretations, the application of other standards or interpretations will have no material impact to the Group’s financial statements.

4. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis except for certain financial instruments, which are stated at fair value. The accounting policies are set out below.

Basis of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements incorporate the financial statements of the Company and all entities controlled by the Company (including special purpose entities). Control is achieved where the Company has the power to govern the financial and operating policies of an entity so as to obtain benefits from its activities.

Income and expenses of subsidiaries acquired or disposed of during the year are included in the consolidated income statement from the effective date of acquisition or up to the effective date of disposal, as appropriate. Total comprehensive income of subsidiaries is attributed to the owners of the Company and to the non-controlling interests even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance.

Where necessary, adjustments are made to the financial statements of subsidiaries to bring their accounting policies into line with those used by other members of the Group.

All intra-group transactions, balances, income and expenses are eliminated on consolidation.

Changes in the Group's ownership interests in subsidiaries that do not result in the Group losing control over the subsidiaries are accounted for as equity transactions. The carrying amounts of the Group's interests and the non-controlling interests are adjusted to reflect the changes in relative interests in the subsidiaries. Any difference between the amount by which the non-controlling interests are adjusted and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is recognized directly in equity and attributed to owners of the Company.

Business combination

Acquisitions of businesses are accounted for using the acquisition method. The consideration transferred in a business combination is measured at fair value, which is calculated as the sum of the acquisition-date fair values of assets transferred by the Group, liabilities incurred by the Group to former owners of the acquiree and the equity interests issued by the Group in exchange for control of the acquiree. Acquisition-related costs are recognized in profit or loss as incurred.

Identifiable assets acquired and liabilities and contingent liabilities assumed in a business combination are measured initially at their fair values at the acquisition date. Subsequent adjustments to the consideration are recognized against the cost of acquisition within the measurement period which does not exceed one year from the acquisition date. Subsequent accounting for changes in fair values of the contingent consideration that do not qualify as measurement period adjustments is included in the income statement or within equity for contingent consideration classified as an asset/liability and equity respectively.

Goodwill is measured as the excess of the sum of the consideration transferred, the amount of any non-controlling interests in the acquiree, and the fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree (if any) over the net of the acquisition-date amounts of the identifiable assets acquired and the liabilities assumed. If, after assessment, the Group's interest in the fair value of the acquiree's identifiable net assets exceeds the sum of the consideration transferred, the amount of any non-controlling interests in the acquiree and the fair value of the acquirer's previously held interest in the acquiree (if any), the excess is recognized immediately in profit or loss as a bargain purchase gain.

Non-controlling interests that are present ownership interests and entitle their holders to a proportionate share of the entity's net assets in the event of liquidation may be initially measured either at fair value or at the non-controlling interests' proportionate share of the recognized amounts of the acquiree's identifiable net assets. The choice of measurement basis is made on a transaction-by-transaction basis. The Group applies the non-controlling interests' proportionate share of the recognized amounts of the acquiree's identifiable net assets to account for all its acquisitions.

Interests in associates

An associate is an entity over which the Group has significant influence and that is neither a subsidiary nor an interest in a joint venture. Significant influence is the power to participate in the financial and operating policy decisions of the investee but is not control or joint control over those policies.

The results and assets and liabilities of associates are incorporated in these consolidated financial statements using the equity method. Under the equity method, investments in associates are carried in the consolidated balance sheet at cost and adjusted for post-acquisition changes in the Group's share of net assets of the associates, less any identified impairment loss. When the Group's share of losses of an associate equals or exceeds its interest in that associate (which includes any long-term interests that, in substance, form part of the Group's net investment in the associate), the Group discontinues recognizing its share of further losses. Additional share of losses is provided for and a liability is recognized only to the extent that the Group has incurred legal or constructive obligations or made payments on behalf of that associate. If the associate subsequently reports profits, the Group resumes recognizing its share of those profits only after its share of the profits exceeds the accumulated share of losses that has previously not been recognized.

Any excess of the cost of acquisition over the Group's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities of the associate recognized at the date of acquisition is recognized as goodwill. The goodwill is included within the carrying amount of the investment and is assessed for impairment as part of the investment. Any excess of the Group's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities over the cost of acquisition, after reassessment, is recognized immediately in profit or loss.

The requirements of IAS 39 are applied to determine whether it is necessary to recognize any impairment loss with respect to the Group's investment in associates. When necessary, the entire carrying amount of the investment (including goodwill) is tested for impairment in accordance with IAS 36 Impairment of Assets as a single asset by comparing its recoverable amount (higher of value in use and fair value less costs to sell) with its carrying amount. Any impairment loss recognized forms part of the carrying amount of the investment and the reversal of that impairment loss is recognized in accordance with IAS 36 to the extent that the recoverable amount of the investment subsequently increases.

Where a group entity transacts with an associate of the Group, profits and losses are eliminated to the extent of the Group's interest in the relevant associate.

Interests in joint ventures

A joint venture is a contractual arrangement whereby the Group and other parties undertake an economic activity that is subject to joint control (i.e. when the strategic financial and operating policy decisions relating to the activities of the joint venture require the unanimous consent of the parties sharing control).

When a group entity undertakes its activities under joint venture arrangements directly, the Group's share of jointly controlled assets and any liabilities incurred jointly with other venturers are recognized in the financial statements of the relevant entity and classified according to their nature. Liabilities and expenses incurred directly in respect of interests in jointly controlled assets are accounted for on an accrual basis. Income from the sale or use of the Group's share of the output of jointly controlled assets, and its share of joint venture expenses, are recognized when it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transactions will flow to/from the Group and their amount can be measured reliably.

Joint venture arrangements that involve the establishment of a separate entity in which each venturer has an interest are referred to as jointly controlled entities. The Group reports its interests in jointly controlled entities using the equity method of accounting and the details of equity method of accounting have been set out in the accounting policy for interests in associates. When a group entity transacts with a jointly controlled entity of the Group, unrealized profits and losses are eliminated to the extent of the Group's interest in the joint venture.

The Group's share using proportionate consolidation of the assets, liabilities, revenue and expenses of other joint ventures (no separate entity has been established) are included in the appropriate items of the financial statements.

Revenue recognition

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable and represents amounts receivable for goods sold and services provided in the normal course of business, net of discounts and sales related taxes. Provided it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Group and the revenue and costs, if applicable, can be measured reliably, revenue is recognized in profit or loss as follows:

Sales of goods (including coal and methanol) are recognized upon transfer of the significant risks and rewards of ownership to the customer. This is usually taken as the time when the goods are delivered and the customer has accepted the goods.

Service income such as coal railway transportation and electricity and heat supply is recognized when services are provided.

Interest income from a financial asset is accrued on a time basis, by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable, which is the rate that exactly discounts the estimated future cash receipts through the expected life of the financial assets to that asset's net carrying amount.

Dividend income from investments is recognized when the shareholders' rights to receive payments have been established.

Intangible assets (other than goodwill)

Intangible assets acquired separately

Intangible assets acquired separately are carried at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses. Amortization is recognized over their estimated useful lives. The estimated useful life and amortization method are reviewed at the end of each annual reporting period, with the effect of any changes in estimate being accounted for on a prospective basis.

Internally-generated intangible assets – research and development expenditure

Expenditure on research activities is recognized as an expense in the period in which it is incurred.

An internally-generated intangible asset arising from development expenditure is recognized only if it is anticipated that the development costs incurred on a clearly-defined project will be recovered through future commercial activity. The resultant asset is amortized on a straight line basis over its useful life. Expenditure incurred on projects to develop new products is capitalized only when the Group can demonstrate the technical feasibility of completing the intangible asset so that it will be available for use or sale, its intention to complete and its ability to use or sell the asset, how the asset will generate future economic benefits, the availability of resources to complete the project and the ability to measure reliably the expenditure during the development.

Intangible assets acquired in a business combination

Intangible assets acquired in a business combination and recognized separately from goodwill are initially recognized at their fair value at the acquisition date (which is regarded as their cost).

Subsequent to initial recognition, intangible assets acquired in a business combination are reported at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses, on the same basis as intangible assets that are acquired separately.

(i) Mining reserves

Mining reserves represent the portion of total proven and probable reserves in the mine of a mining right. Coal reserves are amortized over the life of the mine on a unit of production basis of the estimated total proven and probable reserves or the Australia Joint Ore Reserves Committee (“JORC”) reserves for the Group’s subsidiaries in Australia. Changes in the annual amortization rate resulting from changes in the remaining reserves are applied on a prospective basis from the commencement of the next financial year.

(ii) Mining resources

Mining resources represent the fair value of economically recoverable reserves (excluding the portion of total proven and probable reserves of a mining right i.e. does not include the above mining reserves) of a mining right (Details are set out in the accounting policy of exploration and evaluation expenditure). When production commences, the mining resources for the relevant areas of interest are amortized over the life of the area according to the rate of depletion of the economically recoverable reserves.

(iii) Rail access rights

Rail access rights are amortized on a straight line basis or on a unit of production basis under agreement over the life of the mine.

Exploration and evaluation expenditure

Exploration and evaluation expenditure incurred is accumulated in respect of each separately identifiable area of interest which is at individual mine level. These costs are only carried forward where the right of tenure for the area of interest is current and to the extent that they are expected to be recouped through successful development and commercial exploitation, or alternatively, sale of the area, or where activities in the area have not yet reached a stage which permits reasonable assessment of the existence of economically recoverable reserves and active and significant operations in, or in relation to, the area of interest are continuing.

The carrying amount of exploration and evaluation assets is assessed for impairment when facts or circumstances suggest the carrying amount of the assets may exceed their recoverable amount.

A regular review is undertaken of each area of interest to determine the appropriateness of continuing to carry forward costs in relation to that area of interest. Accumulated costs in relation to an abandoned area are written-off in full in the period in which the decision to abandon the area is made.

When production commences, the accumulated costs for the relevant area of interest are amortized over the life of the area according to the rate of depletion of the economically recoverable reserves.

Capitalized exploration and evaluation expenditure considered to be tangible is recorded as a component of property, plant and equipment. Otherwise, it is recorded as an intangible asset.

Exploration and evaluation expenditure acquired in a business combination are recognized at their fair value at the acquisition date (the fair value of potential economically recoverable reserves at the acquisition date which is shown as “Mining resources”)

Prepaid lease payments

Prepaid lease payments represent land use rights under operating lease arrangement and are stated at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses.

Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment, other than construction in progress and freehold land, are stated at cost less subsequent accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses.

Depreciation is charged so as to write off the cost of items of property, plant and equipment, other than construction in progress and freehold land, over their estimated useful lives and after taking into account their estimated residual value, using the straight line method or unit of production method.

Construction in progress represents property, plant and equipment under construction for production or for its own use purposes. Construction in progress is carried at cost less any impairment loss. Construction in progress is classified to the appropriate category of property, plant and equipment when completed and ready for intended use. Depreciation commences when the assets are ready for their intended use.

Any gain or loss arising on the disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognized in the consolidated income statement.

Impairment other than goodwill

At each balance sheet date, the Group reviews the carrying amounts of its tangible assets and intangible assets with finite useful life to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset (determined at the higher of its fair value less costs to sell and its value in use) is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss (if any). Intangible assets with an indefinite useful life will be tested for impairment annually.

In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset.

If the recoverable amount of an asset (or cash-generating unit) is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset (cash-generating unit) is reduced to its recoverable amount. Impairment loss is recognized as an expense immediately.

Where an impairment loss subsequently reverses, the carrying amount of the asset (cash-generating unit) is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but such that the increased carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset (cash-generating unit) in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognized as an income immediately.

Goodwill

Goodwill arising on acquisitions prior to January 1, 2005 (transition to new IFRS)

Goodwill arising on an acquisition of net assets and operations of another entity for which the agreement date is before January 1, 2005 represents the excess of the cost of acquisition over the Group's interest in the fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities of the relevant acquiree at the date of acquisition.

The Group has discontinued amortization from January 1, 2005 onwards, and such goodwill is tested for impairment annually, and whenever there is an indication that the cash-generating unit to which the goodwill relates may be impaired (see the accounting policy below).

Goodwill arising on acquisitions on or after January 1, 2005

Goodwill arising on an acquisition of a business for which the agreement date is on or after January 1, 2005 represents the excess of the cost of acquisition over the Group's interest in the fair value of the identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities of the relevant business at the date of acquisition. Such goodwill is carried at cost less any accumulated impairment losses.

Goodwill is presented separately in the consolidated balance sheet.

For the purposes of impairment testing, goodwill is allocated to each of the Group's cash-generating units expected to benefit from the synergies of the acquisition. Cash-generating units to which goodwill has been allocated are tested for impairment annually, or more frequently when there is an indication that the unit may be impaired. If the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit is less than the carrying amount of the unit, the impairment loss is allocated to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to the unit first and then to the other assets of the unit pro-rata on the basis of the carrying amount of each asset in the unit. Any impairment is recognized immediately in the consolidated income statement and is not subsequently reversed.

On disposal of the relevant cash-generating unit, the attributable amount of goodwill is included in the determination of the gain or loss on disposal.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash at bank and in hand, demand deposits with banks and other financial institution and short term highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. For the preparation of consolidated cash flow statement, cash and cash equivalents include bank overdrafts which are repayable on demand and form an integral part of the Group's cash management.

Inventories

Inventories of coal and methanol are stated at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost, which comprises direct materials and, where applicable, direct labour and overheads that have been incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition, is calculated using the weighted average method. Net realizable value represents the estimated selling price less all further costs to completion and costs to be incurred in selling, marketing and distribution.

Inventories of auxiliary materials, spare parts and small tools expected to be used in production are stated at weighted average cost less allowance, if necessary, for obsolescence.

Overburden in advance

Overburden in advance comprises the accumulation of expenses incurred to enable access to the coal seams, and includes direct removal costs, machinery and plant running costs. The deferred costs are then charged to the consolidated income statement in subsequent periods on the basis of run-of-mine ("ROM") coal tonnes mined. This is calculated by multiplying the ROM coal tonnes mined during the period by the weighted average cost to remove a bank cubic metre ("BCM") of waste by the stripping ratio (ratio of waste removed in BCMs to ROM coal tonnes mined). The stripping ratio of the Company's Australian subsidiaries is based on the JORC reserves of each coal mine.

Taxation

Income tax expense represents the sum of the tax currently payable and deferred tax.

The tax currently payable is based on taxable profit for the year. Taxable profit differs from profit as reported in the consolidated income statement because it excludes items of income or expense that are taxable or deductible in other years and it further excludes items that are never taxable or deductible. The Group's liability for current tax is calculated using tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date.

Deferred tax is recognized on differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the consolidated financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit, and are accounted for using the balance sheet liability method. Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognized for all taxable temporary differences, and deferred tax assets are recognized to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which deductible temporary differences can be utilized. Such assets and liabilities are not recognized if the temporary difference arises from goodwill or from the initial recognition (other than in a business combination) of other assets and liabilities in a transaction that affects neither the taxable profit nor the accounting profit.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences arising on investments in subsidiaries, interest in associates and joint ventures, except where the Group is able to control the reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each balance sheet date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax is calculated at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period when the liability is settled or the asset realised. Deferred tax is charged or credited in the consolidated income statement, except when it relates to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case the deferred tax is also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when they relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority and the Group intends to settle its current tax assets and liabilities on a net basis.

The Company's wholly-owned Australian subsidiaries have formed an income tax consolidated group under the tax consolidation regime. Each entity in the tax consolidated group recognizes its own deferred tax assets and liabilities, except where the deferred tax assets relate to unused tax losses and credits, in which case the Australian subsidiaries recognizes the assets. Australian subsidiaries have entered into a tax sharing agreement whereby each company of Australian subsidiaries contributes to the income tax payable in proportion to their contribution to the profit before tax of the tax consolidated group. The tax consolidated group has also entered into a tax funding agreement whereby each entity in Australian subsidiaries group can recognize their balance of the current tax assets and liabilities through inter-entity accounts.

Land subsidence, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental costs

One consequence of coal mining is land subsidence caused by the resettlement of the land above the underground mining sites. Depending on the circumstances, the Group may relocate inhabitants from the land above the underground mining sites prior to mining those sites or the Group may compensate the inhabitants for losses or damages from land subsidence after the underground sites have been mined. The Group may also be required to make payments for restoration, rehabilitation or environmental protection of the land after the underground sites have been mined.

An estimate of such costs is recognized in the period in which the obligation is identified and is charged as an expense in proportion to the coal extracted. At each balance sheet date, the Group adjusts the estimated costs in accordance with the actual land subsidence status. The provision is also adjusted for changes in estimates. Those adjustments are accounted for as a change in the corresponding capitalised cost, except where a reduction in the provision is greater than the undepreciated capitalised cost of any related assets, in which case the capitalised cost is reduced to nil and remaining adjustment is recognized in the income statement. Changes to the capitalised cost result in an adjustment to future depreciation and financial charges.

Leasing

Leases are classified as finance leases whenever the terms of the lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

Where the Group acquires the use of assets under finance leases, the amounts representing the fair value of the leased asset, or, if lower, the present values of the minimum lease payments of such assets are included in property, plant and equipment and the corresponding liabilities, net of finance charges, are recorded as an obligation under finance leases.

Each lease payment is allocated between liability and finance charges so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. The finance lease liabilities are included in current and non-current borrowings. The finance charges are expensed in the income statement over the lease periods so as to produce a constant periodic rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability for each period. The assets accounted for as finance leases are depreciated over the shorter of their estimated useful lives or the lease periods.

Operating lease payments are recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Contingent rentals arising under operating leases are recognized as an expense in the period in which they are incurred.

Provisions and contingent liabilities

Provisions are recognized when the Group has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation can be made. Where the time value of money is material, provisions are stated at the present value of the expenditure expected to settle the obligation.

All provisions are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimate.

Where it is not probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required, or the amount cannot be estimated reliably, the obligation is disclosed as a contingent liability, unless the probability of outflow of economic benefits is remote. Possible obligations, whose existence will only be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more future uncertain events not wholly within the control of the Group are also disclosed as contingent liabilities unless the probability of outflow of economic benefits is remote.

Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of qualifying assets, which are assets that necessarily take a substantial period of time to get ready for their intended use or sale, are capitalized as part of the cost of those assets. Investment income earned on the temporary investment of specific borrowings pending their expenditure on qualifying assets is deducted from the borrowing costs eligible for capitalization. Capitalization of borrowing costs is suspended or ceases when substantially all the activities necessary to prepare the qualifying asset for its intended use or sale are interrupted or complete.

All other borrowings costs are recognized as expenses in the period in which they are incurred.

Foreign currencies

In preparing the financial statements of each individual group entity, transactions in currencies other than the functional currency of that entity (foreign currencies) are recorded in the respective functional currency (i.e., the currency of the primary environment in which the entity operates) at the rates of exchanges prevailing on the dates of the transactions. At each balance sheet date, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing on the balance sheet date. Non-monetary items carried at fair value that are denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the rates prevailing on the date when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are not retranslated.

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items, and on the translation of monetary items, are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

For the purposes of presenting the consolidated financial statements, the assets and liabilities of the Group's foreign operations are translated into the presentation currency of the Company (i.e. Renminbi) at the rate of exchange prevailing at the balance sheet date, and their income and expenses are translated at the average exchange rates for the year, unless exchange rates fluctuate significantly during the period, in which case, the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of transactions are used. Exchange differences arising, if any, are recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity (attributed to non-controlling interests as appropriate). Such exchange differences are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which the foreign operation is disposed of.

Government grants

Government grants are recognized as income over the periods necessary to match them with the related costs. If the grants do not relate to any specific expenditure incurred by the Group, they are reported separately as other income. If the grants subsidize an expense incurred by the Group, they are deducted in reporting the related expense. Grants relating to depreciable assets are presented as a deduction from the cost of the relevant asset.

Annual leave, sick leave and long service leave

Benefits accruing to employees in respect of wages and salaries, annual leave and sick leave are included in trade and other payables. Related on-costs are also included in trade and other payables as other creditors. Long service leave is provided for when it is probable that settlement will be required and it is capable of being measured reliably.

Employee benefits expected to be settled within 12 months are measured using the remuneration rate expected to apply at the time of settlement. Provisions made in respect of employee benefits which are not expected to be settled within 12 months are measured as the present value of the estimated future cash outflows to be made by the Group in respect of services provided by employees up to the balance sheet date.

Retirement benefit costs

Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit plans are charged as expenses when the employees render the services entitling them to the contributions.

Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when the Group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognized immediately in profit or loss.

Financial assets

The Group's financial assets are classified into loans and receivables, financial assets at fair value through profit or loss and available-for-sale financial assets. All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognized and derecognized on a trade date basis. Regular way purchases or sales are purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame established by regulation or convention in the marketplace. The accounting policies adopted in respect of financial assets are set out below.

Loans and receivables

Loans and receivables are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. Loans and receivables (including bank balances and cash, term deposits, restricted cash, bills and accounts receivable, other current assets and long-term receivables) are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, less any identified impairment loss.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss included financial assets held for trading and financial assets designated as fair value through profit or loss upon initial recognition. Financial assets are classified as held for trading if it is acquired principally for the purpose of selling or repurchasing it in the near term or on initial recognition it is part of a portfolio of identified financial instruments that are managed together and for which there is evidence of a recent actual pattern of short-term profit-taking.

Royalty receivable is remeasured based on sales volume, price changes, foreign currency exchange rates and expected future cash flows at each balance sheet date. The gain or loss arising from the change in fair value of royalty receivable is recognized in profit or loss. Royalty receivable is reduced by cash receipts and decreases with time. Since the contract is long term, the unwinding discount (to reflect time value of money) is recognized in interest income.

Available-for-sale financial assets

Available-for-sale financial assets are non-derivatives that are either designated or not classified as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, loans and receivables or held-to-maturity investments.

At each balance sheet date subsequent to initial recognition, available-for-sale financial assets are measured at fair value. Changes in fair value are recognized initially in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity, until the financial asset is disposed of or is determined to be impaired, at which time, the cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in equity is removed from equity and recognized in profit or loss (see accounting policy on impairment loss on financial assets below).

Available-for-sale equity investments that do not have a quoted market price in an active market and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured are measured at cost less any identified impairment losses at each balance sheet date subsequent to initial recognition (see accounting policy on impairment loss on financial assets below).

Impairment of financial assets

Financial assets are assessed for indicators of impairment at each balance sheet date. Financial assets are impaired where there is objective evidence that, as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the financial asset, the estimated future cash flows of the financial assets have been impacted.

For an available-for sale equity investment, a significant or prolonged decline in the fair value of that investment below its cost is considered to be objective evidence of impairment.

For all other financial assets, objective evidence of impairment could include:

- significant financial difficulty of the issuer or counterparty; or
- default or delinquency in interest or principal payments; or
- it becoming probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or financial re-organization.

For certain categories of financial asset, such as trade and bills receivables, assets that are assessed not to be impaired individually are subsequently assessed for impairment on a collective basis. Objective evidence of impairment for a portfolio of receivables could include the Group's past experience of collecting payments and changes in national or local economic conditions that correlate with default on receivables.

For financial assets carried at amortized cost, an impairment loss is recognized in profit or loss when there is objective evidence that the asset is impaired, and is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the original effective interest rate.

For available-for-sale equity investments carried at cost, the amount of the impairment loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the current market rate of return for a similar financial asset. Such impairment loss will not be reversed in subsequent periods.

The carrying amount of the financial asset is reduced by the impairment loss directly for all financial assets with the exception of trade and bills receivables and other receivables, where the carrying amounts are reduced through the use of an allowance account. Changes in the carrying amount of the allowance account are recognized in profit or loss. When a trade and bills receivables and other receivables are considered uncollectible, it is written off against the allowance account. Subsequent recoveries of amounts previously written off are credited to profit or loss.

For financial assets measured at amortized cost, if, in a subsequent period, the amount of impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment losses was recognized, the previously recognized impairment loss is reversed through profit or loss to the extent that the carrying amount of the asset at the date the impairment is reversed does not exceed what the amortized cost would have been had the impairment not been recognized.

Impairment losses on available-for-sale equity investments will not be reversed in profit or loss in subsequent periods. Any increase in fair value subsequent to impairment loss is recognized initially in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity.

Financial liabilities and equity

Financial liabilities and equity instruments issued by the Group are classified according to the substance of the contractual arrangements entered into and the definitions of a financial liability and an equity instrument.

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of the Group after deducting all of its liabilities.

Financial liabilities

The Group's financial liabilities including bills and accounts payables, other payables, amounts due to Parent Company and its subsidiary companies, finance lease liabilities, guaranteed notes and bank and other borrowings are subsequently measured at amortized cost, using the effective interest method and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss.

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include financial liabilities held for trading and financial liabilities designated at initial recognition as at fair value through profit or loss. Financial liabilities are classified as held for trading if they are acquired for the purpose of selling in the near term.

Equity instruments

Equity instruments issued by the Company are recorded at the proceeds received, net of direct issue costs.

Derecognition

Financial assets are derecognized when the rights to receive cash flows from the assets expire or, the financial assets are transferred and the Group has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial assets. On derecognition of a financial asset, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable and the cumulative gain or loss that had been recognized directly in equity is recognized in profit or loss.

Financial liabilities are derecognized when the obligation specified in the relevant contract is discharged, cancelled or expired. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid and payable is recognized in profit or loss.

Accounting for derivative financial instruments and hedging activities

Derivatives are initially recognized at fair value at the date a derivative contract is entered into and are subsequently re-measured at their fair value. The method of recognizing the resulting gain or loss depends on whether the derivative is designated as a hedging instrument, and if so, the nature of the item being hedged. The Group designates certain derivatives as either: (i) hedges of the fair value of recognized assets or liabilities (fair value hedge); and (ii) hedges of highly probable forecast transactions (cash flow hedge).

The Group documents at the inception of the transaction the relationship between hedging instruments and hedged items, as well as its risk management objectives and strategy for undertaking various hedging transactions. The Group also documents its assessment, both at the inception of the hedge and on an ongoing basis, of whether the derivatives that are used in hedging transactions are highly effective in offsetting changes in fair values or cash flows of the hedged items.

The fair values of various derivative instruments used for hedging purposes are disclosed in note 38. The full fair value of a hedging derivative is classified as a non-current asset or liability when the remaining maturity of the hedged item is more than 12 months and as a current asset or liability when the remaining maturity of the hedged item is less than 12 months.

(i) Cash flow hedge

The effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges are recognized initially in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity. The gain or loss relating to the ineffective portion is recognized immediately in the profit and loss. Amounts accumulated in equity are recognized in the profit and loss as the underlying hedged items are recognized.

Amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity are reclassified to profit or loss in the periods when the hedged item is recognized in profit or loss.

When a hedging instrument expires or is sold, or when a hedge no longer meets the criteria for hedge accounting, any cumulative gain or loss existing in equity at that time remains in equity and is recognized when the forecast transaction is ultimately recognized in the profit and loss. When a forecast transaction is no longer expected to occur, the cumulative gain or loss that was reported in equity is immediately transferred to the profit and loss.

(ii) Derivatives that do not qualify for hedge accounting and those not designated as hedging instruments

Changes in the fair value of any derivative instruments that do not qualify for hedge accounting and those not designated as hedges are recognized immediately in the profit and loss.

Related Parties

(a) A person, or a close member of that person's family, is related to the group if that person:

- (1) has control or joint control over the group;
- (2) has significant influence over the group; or
- (3) is a member of the key management personnel of the group or the group's parent.

Close members of the family of a person are those family members who may be expected to influence, or be influenced by, that person in their dealings with the entity.

(b) An entity is related to the group if any of the following conditions applies:

- (1) The entity and the group are members of the same group (which means that each parent, subsidiary and fellow subsidiary is related to the others);
- (3) One entity is an associate or joint venture of the other entity (or an associate or joint venture of a member of a group of which the other entity is a member);
- (3) Both entities are joint ventures of the same third party;
- (4) One entity is a joint venture of a third entity and the other entity is an associate of the third entity;
- (5) The entity is a post-employment benefit plan for the benefit of employees of either the group or an entity related to the group;
- (6) The entity is controlled or jointly controlled by a person identified in (a); or
- (7) A person identified in (a)(1) has significant influence over the entity or is a member of the key management personnel of the entity (or of a parent of the entity).

5. ACCOUNTING JUDGEMENTS AND KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

In the application of the Group's accounting policies, which are described in note 4, management is required to make judgements, estimates and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered to be relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period, or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

Depreciation of property, plant and equipment

The cost of mining structures is depreciated using the unit of production method based on the estimated production volume for which the structure was designed. The management exercises their judgment in estimating the useful lives of the depreciable assets and the production volume of the mine. The estimated coal production volumes are updated at regular intervals and have taken into account recent production and technical information about each mine. These changes are considered a change in estimate for accounting purposes and are reflected on a prospective basis in related depreciation rates. Estimates of the production volume are inherently imprecise and represent only approximate amounts because of the subjective judgements involved in developing such information.

Amortization of assets

Mining reserves, mining resources and rail access rights are amortized on a straight line basis or unit of production basis over the shorter of their useful lives and the contractual period. The expensing of overburden removal costs is based on saleable coal production over estimated economically recoverable reserves. The useful lives are estimated on the basis of the total proven and probable reserves of the mine. Proven and probable mining reserve estimates are updated at regular intervals and have taken into account recent production and technical information about each mine.

Provision for land subsidence, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental costs

The provision is reviewed regularly to verify that it properly reflects the remaining obligation arising from the current and past mining activities. Provision for land subsidence, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental costs are determined by the management based on their best estimates of the current and future costs, latest government policies and past experiences.

Impairment of goodwill

Determining whether goodwill is impaired requires an estimation of the value in use of the cash-generating units to which goodwill has been allocated. The value in use calculation requires the Group to estimate the future cash flows expected to arise from the cash-generating unit and a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value. As at December 31, 2012, the carrying amount of goodwill is RMB2,573,811,000 (2011: RMB1,866,037,000). During the year ended December 31, 2012, impairment loss on goodwill of RMB17,625,000 (2011: nil; 2010: nil) was recognised by the Group and details are set out in note 27.

Cash flow projections during the budget period for each of the above units are based on the budgeted revenue and expected gross margins during the budget period and the raw materials price inflation during the budget period. Expected cash inflows/outflows have been determined based on past performance and management's expectations for the market development.

Estimated impairment of property, plant and equipment

When there is an impairment indicator, the Group takes into consideration the estimation of future cash flows. The amount of the impairment loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows. Where the actual future cash flows are less than expected, a material impairment loss may arise. In estimating the future cash flows, the management have taken into account the recent production and technical advancement. As prices and cost levels change from year to year, the estimate of the future cash flow also changes. Notwithstanding the management has used all the available information to make their impairment assessment, inherent uncertainty exists on conditions of the mine and of the environment and actual written off may be higher than the amount estimated. As at December 31, 2012, the carrying amounts of property, plant and equipment is approximately RMB39,503,103,000 (2011: RMB31,273,824,000). During the year ended December 31, 2012, no property, plant and equipment was written off as expenses (2011: nil; 2010: RMB1,491,000). In addition, during the year ended December 31, 2012, impairment loss on property, plant and equipment of RMB226,925,000 (2011: RMB281,994,000; 2010: RMB97,559,000) was recognized by the Group and details of this impairment are set out in note 25.

In the process of applying the Group's accounting policies, management has made the following accounting judgements:

Acquisitions

During the year, the Group acquired several subsidiaries and businesses as set out in notes 45 and 46. The Group determined whether the acquisitions are to be accounted for as acquisition of businesses or as acquisition of assets by reference to a number of factors including (i) whether the acquiree has relevant input, process or output; (ii) whether the acquiree has planned principal activities or is pursuing a plan to produce output and will be able to obtain access to customers.

In addition, the management also made judgement to determine if the Group has taken control over the subsidiaries or assets acquired as from time to time, the registration of transfer of certain operating licences may not be changed immediately upon the payment of consideration.

For management purposes, the Group is currently organized into three operating divisions-coal mining, coal railway transportation and methanol, electricity and heat supply. These divisions are the basis on which the Group reports its segment information.

Principal activities are as follows:

Mining	– Underground and open-cut mining, preparation and sales of coal and potash mineral exploration
Coal railway transportation	– Provision of railway transportation services
Methanol, electricity and heat supply	– Production and sales of methanol and electricity and related heat supply services

According to the relevant provisions of the MRRT tax laws, subsidiaries in Australia are required to determine the starting base allowance on the balance sheet. Book value or market value approach can be selected in calculating the starting base and subsequently amortize within the prescribed useful life.

Rail access rights are amortized on a straight line basis or unit of production basis over the life of the mine.

The potash mineral exploration permit is reclassified to mineral resources according to its progress of exploration. Technology has not yet reached the stage of commercial application and therefore is not amortized.

Water licenses are amortized over the life of mine. The mining activities of the relevant locations have not yet been started and the connections to water sources have not been completed. Therefore, no amortization was provided.

Other intangible assets mainly represent computer software which is amortized on a straight line basis of 2.5 to 5 years over the useful life.

The recoverable amounts of goodwill from each of the above cash generating units have been determined on the basis of value in use calculations. The recoverable amounts are based on certain similar key assumptions on discount rates, growth rates and expected changes in selling prices, foreign currency exchange rates, mining reserves and mining resources and direct cost. All value in use calculations use cash flow projections based on financial budgets approved by management covering a 5-year period, with an assumption of discount rate of 8-11% (2011: 8-10%).

The cash flows beyond the 5-year period are extrapolated for 5 years using a zero percent growth rate. Cash flow projections during the budget period for each of the above units are based on the budgeted revenue and expected gross margins during the budget period and the same raw materials price inflation during the budget period. Expected cash inflows/outflows, which include budgeted sales, gross margin and raw material price inflation, have been determined based on past performance and management's expectations for the market development. Management believes that any reasonably possible change in any of these assumptions would not cause the carrying amount of each of the above units to exceed the recoverable amount of each of the above units. During the year ended 31 December 2012, the Group's management determines that the recoverable cash flows of certain cash-generating unit is less than its commercial value, the Group recognised impairment loss on goodwill of RMB17,625,000 (2011: nil) in respect of goodwill arising from the acquisition of Premier Coal and Wesfarmers Char. No indication for impairment on other goodwill.

During the year ended December 31, 2012, the Group's subsidiaries in Australia entered into forward foreign exchange contracts to sell or purchase specified amounts of foreign currencies in the future at stipulated exchange rates. The objective of entering into the forward foreign exchange contracts is to reduce the foreign exchange rate related volatility of revenue stream and capital expenditure and thereby assist in risk management for the Group. The outstanding sell United States dollars contracts are hedging highly probable forecasted sales of coal. Cash flows and any impact to profit or loss arising from all the foreign exchange contracts are expected to occur within one year from the balance sheet date.

As at December 31, 2012, the outstanding notional amount to sell United States dollars (sell United States dollars and buy Australian dollars) was approximately RMB5,390 million (2011: RMB3,279 million) and RMB746 million (2011: RMB1,553 million), all maturing within one year (2011: one year) with forward rates ranging from 0.9755 to 1.0013 (2011: ranging from 0.9182 to 1.0642 respectively) and floor price and ceiling price of 0.934 and 1.055 (2011: 0.9230 and 1.080).

As at December 31, 2012, the outstanding notional amount was approximately RMB6,285 million (USD1,000 million) (2011: RMB9,451 million (USD1,500 million)), contract period of four years (2011: four years) at a hedge period of 3 (2011: 3) months with fixed rate of approximately 2.75%, 2.42% and 2.41% (2011: approximately 2.75%, 2.42% and 2.41% respectively) and floating rate as LIBOR +0.75% (2011: LIBOR +0.75%). The non-current portion of the derivatives is not material and is included in current portion. Cash flows and any impact to profit or loss arising from the above use of floating-to-fixed interest rate swap contracts are expected to occur within each hedge period of 3 months over the contract period.

For the year ended December 31, 2012, the ineffective hedging portion of the changes in fair values of the forward foreign exchange contracts of approximately RMB20.4 million (2011: RMB1.9 million) was recognized as selling, general and administrative expenses in the consolidated income statement. The fair values of the interest rate swap contracts are estimated based on the discounted cash flows between the contract floating rate and the contract fixed rate.

The capital structure of the Group consists of debt, which includes the borrowings disclosed in note 37 and equity attributable to equity holders of the Company, comprising issued share capital, reserves and retained earnings, and amounted to RMB86,822,738,000 (2011: RMB77,092,310,000) as at December 31, 2012.

The directors of the Company review the capital structure regularly. As part of this review, the directors of the Company assess the annual budget prepared by the accounting and treasury department and consider and evaluate the cost of capital and the risks associated with each class of capital. The Group will balance its capital structure through the payment of dividends, issue of new shares and new debts or the repayment of existing debts.

44b. Financial risk management objectives and policies

The Group's major financial instruments include available-for-sale equity instruments, bills and accounts receivable, royalty receivable, other current assets such as other receivables, bank balances and cash, term deposits, restricted cash, long term receivables, derivative financial instruments, bills and accounts payable, other payables, bank and other borrowings, amount due to Parent Company and its subsidiary companies, contingent value rights shares liabilities, finance lease liabilities and guaranteed notes. Details of these financial instruments are disclosed in respective notes. The risks associated with these financial instruments and the policies on how to mitigate these risks are set out below. The management manages and monitors these exposures to ensure appropriate measures are implemented on a timely and effective manner. There has been no significant change to the Group's exposure to market risk or the manner in which it manages and measures the risk.

Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in financial loss to the Group.

At December 31, 2012 and 2011, the Group's maximum exposure to credit risk which will cause a financial loss to the Group arising from the failure to perform their obligations in relation to each class of recognized financial assets is the carrying amount of those assets as stated in the consolidated balance sheet.

In order to minimise the credit risk, the management of the Group has delegated a team responsible for determination of credit limits, credit approvals and other monitoring procedures to ensure that follow-up action is taken to recover overdue debts. In addition, the Group reviews the recoverable amount of each individual trade debt at each balance sheet date to ensure that adequate impairment losses are made for irrecoverable amounts. In this regard, the directors of the Company consider that the Group's credit risk is significantly reduced.

The Group maintains its cash and cash equivalents with reputable banks and Yankuang Group Finance Group Company Limited (see note 29). Therefore, the directors consider that the credit risk for such is minimal.

The Group generally grants the customers with long-relationship credit terms not exceeding 180 days, depending on the situations of the individual customers. For small to medium sized new customers, the Group generally requires them to pay for the products before delivery.

Most of the Group's domestic sales are sales to electric power plants, metallurgical companies, construction material producers and railway companies. The Group generally has established long-term and stable relationships with these companies. The Group also sells its coal to provincial and city fuel trading companies.

As the Group's PRC operation does not currently have direct export rights, all of its export sales must be made through National Coal Corporation, Shanxi Coal Corporation or Minmetals Trading. The qualities, prices and final customer destinations of the Group's export sales are determined by the Group, National Coal Corporation, Shanxi Coal Corporation or Minmetals Trading.

For the years ended December 31, 2012, 2011 and 2010, net sales to the Group's five largest customers accounted for approximately 19.4%, 19.4% and, 24.7% respectively, of the Group's total revenue. Net sales to the Group's largest customer accounted for 6.3%, 8.5%, and 13.0% of the Group's net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2012, 2011 and 2010 respectively. The Group's largest customer was Huadian Power International Corporation Limited ("Huadian") for the years ended December 31, 2012, 2011 and 2010.

Details of the accounts receivable from the five customers with the largest receivable balances at December 31, 2012 and 2011 are as follows:

	Percentage of accounts receivable At December 31,
	2012	2011
Five largest receivable balances	28.86%	60.47%

The management considers the strong financial background and good creditability of these customers, and there is no significant uncovered credit risk.

(i) Currency risk

The Group's sales are denominated mainly in the functional currency of the relevant group entity making the sale, whilst costs are mainly denominated in the group entity's functional currency. Accordingly, there is no significant exposure to foreign currency risk.

The carrying amounts of the Group's foreign currency denominated monetary assets and monetary liabilities in currencies other than the functional currencies of the relevant group entities at the balance sheet date are as follows:

Sensitivity analysis

The Group is mainly exposed to the fluctuation against the currency of United States Dollar and Hong Kong Dollar.

The following table details the Group's sensitivity to a 5% increase and decrease in RMB against relevant foreign currencies. 5% represents management's assessment of reasonably possible changes in foreign exchange rates over the period until the next annual balance sheet date. The sensitivity analysis includes only outstanding foreign currency denominated monetary items and adjusts their translation at the year end for a 5% change in foreign currency rates and also assumes all other risk variables remained constant. The sensitivity analysis includes loans to foreign operations within the Group where the denomination of the loan is in a currency other than the functional currency of the lender or the borrower.

Notes:

- (i) This is mainly attributable to the exposure of the Group's outstanding bank deposit and loans denominated in USD and HKD.
- (ii) This is mainly attributable to the exposure of the Group's outstanding foreign currency bank borrowings and derivative financial instruments denominated in a currency other than the functional currency of the borrower.

In management's opinion, the sensitivity analysis is unrepresentative of the inherent foreign exchange risk as the year end exposure does not reflect the exposure during the year.

(ii) Interest rate risk

The Group is exposed to cash flow interest rate risk in relation to variable-rate bank balances, term deposits, restricted cash (note 17) and variable rate borrowings (note 37).

The interest rate hedging policy of the Group is disclosed in note 38.

The Group's exposures to interest rate risk on financial assets and financial liabilities are detailed in the liquidity risk section of this note. The Group's cash flow interest rate risk is mainly concentrated on the fluctuation of the PBOC arising from the Group's RMB borrowings and the LIBOR arising from the Group's foreign currencies borrowings.

Sensitivity Analysis

The following table details the Group's sensitivity to a change of 100 basis points in the interest rate, assuming the financial instruments outstanding at the end of the reporting period were outstanding for the whole year and all the variables were held constant. It includes the interest rate fluctuation of the abovementioned PBOC rate and LIBOR.

– If increases by 100 basis points	(153,106)	(78,815)
– If decreases by 100 basis points	153,106	78,815

(iii) Other price risk

In addition to the above risks relating to financial instruments, the Group is exposed to equity price risk through investment in listed equity securities and also to price risk in non financial instruments such as steel and metals (the Group's major raw materials). The Group currently does not have any arrangement to hedge the price risk exposure of its investment in equity securities and its purchase of raw materials. The Group's exposure to equity price risk through investment in listed equity securities and also the result of the sensitivity analysis is not significant.

Liquidity risk

In the management of the liquidity risk, the Group monitors and maintains a level of cash and cash equivalents deemed adequate by the management to finance the Group's operations and mitigate the effects of fluctuations in cash flows. The management monitors the utilization of bank borrowings and ensures compliance with loan covenants.

The following table details the Group's remaining contractual maturity for its financial liabilities. For non-derivative financial liabilities, the table has been drawn up based on the undiscounted cash flows of financial liabilities based on the earliest date on which the Group can be required to pay. The table includes both interest and principal cash flows.

44c. Fair values

the fair value of available-for-sales investment is determined with reference to quoted market price. The fair values of the forward foreign exchange contracts are estimated based on the discounted cash flows between the contract forward rate and spot forward rate. The fair values of interest rate swap contracts are estimated based on the discounted cash flows between the contract floating rate and contract fixed rate. The fair value of other financial assets and financial liabilities are determined in accordance with generally accepted pricing models based on discounted cash flow analysis.

The directors consider that the carrying amounts of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded at amortized cost in the consolidated financial statements approximate their fair values.

44c. Fair values (continued)

Fair values of financial assets and financial liabilities are determined as follows:

The following table presents the carrying value of financial instruments measured at fair value across the three levels of the fair value hierarchy defined in IFRS 7 (Amendment). The levels of fair value are defined as follows:

- Level 1: fair value measurements are those derived from quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets and liabilities;
- Level 2: fair value measurements are those derived from inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability either directly (i.e. as prices) or indirectly (i.e. derived from prices); and
- Level 3: fair value measurements are those derived from valuation techniques that include inputs for the assets or liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs).

45. ACQUISITION OF BEISU AND YANGCUN

On April 23, 2012, the Company entered into the assets transfer agreement with the Parent Company and its subsidiary to purchase the target assets from the Parent Company and its subsidiary at a consideration of RMB824,142,000 to acquire all the assets and liabilities of Beisu and Yangcun and their equity investments in Beisheng Industry and Trade, Shengyang Wood and Jiemei Wall Materials. Beisu and Yangcun mainly engaged in the production and exploration of PCI coal and thermal coal. The transaction was completed on May 31, 2012. The net assets acquired were included in the mining segment.

This acquisition has been accounted for using the purchase method.

The net assets of Beisu and Yangcun acquired, and the goodwill arising, are as follows:

During the period from the acquisition date to December 31, 2012, Beisu and Yangcun did not contribute any significant revenue or profit to the Group. Goodwill arose because the Group can increase its production capacity in coal and the coverage of exploration from this acquisition.

46. ACQUISITION OF GLOUCESTER

During the year, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company, Yancoal Australia, merged with Gloucester. The merger was completed on June 27, 2012. Yancoal Australia acquired Gloucester at a consideration of a combination of 218,727,665 ordinary shares of Yancoal Australia and 87,645,184 CVR shares. Gloucester is a company listed on the ASX. Following the completion of the merger, Yancoal Australia is separately listed on the ASX, replacing the listing position of Gloucester. The ordinary shares and CVR shares of Yancoal Australia were listed on the ASX on June 28, 2012. Gloucester mainly engaged in production of coking coal and thermal coal. The net assets acquired were included in the mining segment.

The acquisition has been accounted for using the acquisition method.

The net assets acquired on the acquisition date are as follows:

46. ACQUISITION OF GLOUCESTER (continued)

Bargain purchase arises because the consideration (number of shares to be issued) was fixed when the merger proposal was announced. Upon the date of completion, the market capitalization and the market price of shares dropped and hence the total consideration paid were less than the fair value of net identifiable assets acquired because there is no mechanism to adjust the number of shares to be issued.

During the period from the acquisition date to December 31, 2012, Gloucester have contributed a total revenue of RMB1,658 million and an operating loss of RMB387 million.

If the subsidiary subsequently reports profits, all profits are attributable to shareholders' equity of the parent company before compensating the losses to the minority shareholders which were borne by the shareholders' equity of the parent company.

If any conflicts between the accounting policies or the accounting period introduced in the subsidiaries and those of the Company, the necessary adjustment shall be made to the financial statements of the subsidiaries according to the accounting policies or the accounting period in the Company during the preparation of the consolidated financial statements.

10. Financial assets and financial liabilities

(1) Financial assets

1) Financial assets categories

Upon initial recognition, financial assets are classified into the following categories: financial assets at 'fair value through profit or loss' (FVTPL), 'held-to-maturity' investments, 'available-for-sale' (AFS) financial assets and 'loans and receivables'.

A. Financial assets at FVTPL:

A financial asset is held for trading if it has been acquired principally for the purpose of selling in the short term and presented as the tradable financial assets in the balance sheet. Except for the purpose of hedging, derivative financial instruments are classified into financial assets or liabilities at FVTPL.

B. Held-to-maturity investment

Held-to-maturity investments are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturity date that the enterprise has the clear intention and ability to hold to maturity.

C. Receivables:

Non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments are not quoted in an active market.

II. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND PREPARATION METHODS FOR CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (continued)

10. Financial assets and financial liabilities (continued)

(1) Financial assets (continued)

1) Financial assets categories (continued)

D. AFS financial assets

AFS financial assets are those non-derivative financial assets that are designated as available for sale or are not classified as financial assets at FVTPL, loans and receivables, or held-to-maturity investments.

2) Financial assets recognition and calculation

Financial assets are recognized in fair value in the balance sheet when the Group becomes a part of the contractual provisions of the instrument. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are recognized directly in profit or loss. Financial assets are no longer recognised when the rights to receive cash flows from the assets expire or, the financial assets are transferred and the Group has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial assets.

Financial assets and AFS financial assets at FVTPL are subsequently measured at fair value. The receivables and held-to-maturity investments are carried at the amortized cost using the effective interest rate method.

Changes in fair value of financial assets at FVTPL are included in profit or loss for the period at fair value. The received interest during the period holding assets shall be recognized as investment income. On disposing of it, the difference between fair value and initial accounting value shall be recognized as in profit or loss statements on investment, and the profit or loss at the fair value is also adjusted accordingly.

Other than impairment loss and exchange gains and losses arising from foreign currency monetary financial assets, the changes in fair value of AFS financial assets are recorded in the shareholder's equity. When the financial assets are derecognized, the calculated amount of changes in fair value of AFS financial assets should be recorded into current profits or losses. The interest of AFS liability instruments calculated by actual interest rate during the holding period and the cash dividends declared and issued by the investee on available-for-sale equity instruments should be included in current profit or loss as investment income.

(1) Financial assets (continued)

3) Financial assets impairment

The Company estimates the carrying amount of a financial asset at the balance sheet date (other than those at FVTPL). If there is objective evidence that the financial asset is impaired, the Company shall determine to accrue the amount of any impairment loss.

When the financial assets carried at amortized cost impaired, they should be accrued impairment provisions at the amount of the difference that the estimated future cash flow (exclusive not yet occurred credit loss) lower than the present value. If the amount of impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognized, the previously recognized impairment loss should be reversed through current profit and loss. If the fair value of an AFS financial asset declines substantially or non-temporarily, the accumulated loss arising from this decline that had been recognized directly in shareholders' equity shall be recognized in the profit or loss statement.

For the AFS liability instrument investment which has been recognized impairment loss, if the fair value increases in the subsequent period and the increase can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognized, the previously recognized impairment loss should be reversed through current profit and loss. For the AFS equity instrument investment which has been recognized impairment loss, the fair value increase in the subsequent period should be directly included in shareholders' equity.

4) Financial assets derecognition

Financial assets should be derecognized when: (1) the rights to receive cash flows from the assets expired; or (2) the financial assets have been transferred and the Group has substantially transferred all the risks and rewards of ownership of the assets; (3) the financial assets have been transferred, the Group has neither transferred nor keep almost all the risks and rewards of ownership of the assets but gave up the control of the financial assets.

If the enterprise neither transferred all the risks and rewards of ownership of the assets nor reserved the control of the financial assets, the related financial assets should be recognized based on the degree of involvement into the transferred financial assets by the enterprise, the related liabilities should be recognized as well. The degree of involvement into the transferred financial assets means the risk level faced by the enterprise, which was caused by the value change of such financial assets.

II. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND PREPARATION METHODS FOR CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (continued)

4) Financial assets derecognition (continued)

If the holistic transfer of financial assets meets the conditions of derecognition, the difference between the carrying value of transferred financial assets and the sum of consideration from the transfer and the accumulated amount of fair value change originally included in other comprehensive income should be included into the current loss and profit.

If the partial transfer of financial assets meets the conditions of derecognition, the entire carrying value of transferred financial assets should be apportioned between the portion whose recognition has been stopped and the portion whose recognition has not been stopped according to the respective fair value. The difference between the sum of consideration from the transfer and the accumulated amount of fair value change of the derecognized portion which has been originally included in other comprehensive income and the carrying value of the derecognized portion before apportionment should be included into the current loss and profit.

(2) Financial liabilities

Upon initial recognition, financial liabilities are classified as either financial liabilities 'at fair value through profit or loss' (FVTPL) or 'other financial liabilities'.

Financial liabilities are classified as at FVTPL where the financial liability is either held for trading or it is designated as at FVTPL. Financial liabilities at FVTPL are subsequently measured at fair value, with gains or losses arising from changes in fair value as well as dividends and interest income related to such financial liabilities recognized in profit or loss for the period.

Other financial liabilities are subsequently measured at unamortized cost using the effective interest method.

When the present obligation of financial liability entirely or partly discharged, the whole financial liability or the part of the financial liability of which present obligation has been partly discharged should be derecognized. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid shall be included in current profit and loss.

(3) Method of fair values recognition of financial assets and financial liabilities

If there is an active market for financial instrument, the quoted market price in an active market is used to determine the fair value of the financial instrument. In the active market, financial assets held or financial liabilities intending to bear by the Group take the current quoted price as the fair value of the relevant assets and liabilities. Financial assets intending to buy or financial liabilities borne by the Group take the current offer price as the fair value of the relevant assets and liabilities. If there are no quoted price and offer price for financial assets and liabilities, and the economic conditions do not change significantly after the latest transaction, the latest quotation is used to determine the fair value of such financial assets or liabilities. If the economic conditions changed significantly after the latest transaction, the fair value of such financial assets or financial liabilities should be determined by adjusting the quoted price of the latest transaction through preferring to the current price or interest of the similar financial assets or financial liabilities. If the Group has sufficient evidence to prove that the quoted price of the latest transaction did not based on fair value, the fair value of such financial assets or financial liabilities should be determined through appropriate adjustment on the quoted price of the latest transaction.

If there no active market for financial instrument, the fair values are determined by evaluation method, including to consult the latest prices in the marketing transaction by the parties who are familiar with the market and make the transaction Voluntarily, the current fair values of the other identified financial assets, discounted method of cash flow and options pricing modes.

The fair values of forward foreign exchange contracts of the Company and its overseas subsidiary Yanzhou Coal Mining Company Limited Australia and the belonging subsidiaries (the “Australian subsidiaries”) are subject to the discounted cash flow between the contracted exchange rate and present value of forward exchange rate. Fair values of interest swap contracts are subject to the discounted cash flow between the floating interest rate and the fixed interest rate.

- (3) The end-of-period inventories are measured at the lower of cost and net realizable value. If the inventories are damaged, become partially or completely obsolete or sold at price lower than cost, unrecoverable cost shall be estimated and recognized as a provision for decline in value. The excess of cost over the net realizable value is generally recognized as provision for decline in value of inventories on a separate inventory item.
- (4) Net realisable value of inventories directly for sale, such as commodity stocks and materials for sale, is the estimated selling price less the estimated costs necessary to make the sale and other related taxes; Net realisable value of material stocks for product is the estimated selling price less the estimated costs, the estimated marketing cost and other related taxes of the finished production occurred

13. Long-term equity investments

Long-term equity investments mainly includes equity investments held by the Group which exercise control, joint control or significant influence on the investee, which has no control, joint control or significant influence on the investee, and which has no offer in active market and whose fair values cannot be reliable measured.

Joint control means mutual control over certain economic activities under contract. The main basis to define joint control is that any party of the joint venture cannot control the production and business operations of the venture individually, and the decisions involving the basic production and business operations need the unanimous consent from all parties.

Significant influence means that the investor has the right to participate decision-making for the finance and operating policies of investee and has no control or joint control with other parties on policies-making. The main basis to define significant influence is that the Group holds directly or indirectly through subsidiaries above 20% (included) but less than 50% voting shares of investee. Significant influence cannot be recognized if there is solid evidence indicating that the investor cannot participate in the decision-making of investee.

For a business combination involving enterprise under common control, the initial investment cost of the long-term equity investment is the carrying amount of the owner's equity of the party being absorbed at the combination date. For a business combination not involving enterprises under common control, the initial investment cost of the long-term equity investment acquired is the aggregate of the fair value, at the acquisition date, of the acquiree's identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities acquired.

If the Company does not have control, joint control or significant influence over the investee and the fair value of the long-term equity investment can be reliably measured, the investment shall be calculated as an available-for-sale financial asset.

Under the cost method, long-term equity investments are measured at initial investment cost, and the investment cost shall be adjusted when the investments are added and recovered. Under the equity method, the current investment profit and loss are the net profits and losses created by the investee and shared by the Company. The share of net profits or losses from the investee should be confirmed, based on the fair values of identifiable assets on the acquisition date, according to the accounting policies and accounting period of the Group, offsetting inter-segment transactions profit and loss created by joint venture and associated enterprises which belong to the investor in terms of shares proportion, and after adjusting the net profit from investee. The Group shall, if there is debt balance relating to the long-term equity investment on the joint venture and associates hold before the executing date, deduct the debt balance which should amortize within remaining term, and recognize the investment profits and losses.

For the reason of decreasing investment, the Group no longer has any joint control or significant influence on the investee, and in active market the long-term equity investment, which has no offer and fair values and cannot be reliably measured, shall be measured by cost method. For the reason of increasing investment, the Group is able to exercise control over the investee, the measurement shall be changed into cost method. For the reason of increasing investment, the Group is able to exercise joint control or significant influence but unable to exercise control on the investee, or for the reason of disposal of investment, the Group is unable to exercise control but able to exercise joint control or significant influence over the investee, the measurement shall be changed into equity method.

14. Fixed assets (continued)

- (5) Depreciation approach of fixed assets: The depreciation is provided to all fixed assets except those that have already accrued depreciation and lands category. The mining structures are depreciated using the estimated production capacity method, and other fixed assets using the average service life method, calculating depreciation rate by month and record it into the current cost or expenses of relevant assets according to their various purposes. The Group's estimated residual value for fixed assets is 0-3%, the estimated residual rate; useful life and annual depreciation rate of each category of fixed assets using straight-line method are as follows:

The vessels of Shandong Yancoal Shipping Co., Ltd. are depreciated over 18 years. All the other transportation equipments are depreciated over 6 to 9 years.

Land category refers to that of overseas subsidiaries and no depreciation is provided for as the subsidiaries enjoy the permanent ownership.

Leased assets are depreciated during shorter of estimated useful life and lease period.

- (6) The Company shall review the useful life and estimated net residual value of a fixed asset and the depreciation method applied at least at each financial year-end. A change in the useful life or estimated net residual value of a fixed asset or depreciation method used shall be treated as a change in an accounting estimate.

15. Construction in progress

- (1) The pricing approach of construction in progress: To be measured at the actual costs incurred for the construction. The self-operated construction is recorded at all cost of direct materials, direct salary, and direct construction expenditures etc. And the contracting construction is recorded at the payable construction cost and so on. The equipment installation cost is measured at value of the installed equipment, installation cost, all expenses incurred for project test-run. The cost of construction in progress includes capitalized borrowing costs, gain and loss from currency exchange.
- (2) Standard and time of transfer from the construction in progress to the fixed assets: The construction in progress shall be transferred to the fixed assets from the date of starting its estimated usable condition based on their construction budget, construction pricing or project actual cost and so on, and its depreciation will begin from the next month. The difference of the fixed assets original values shall be adjusted upon the resolution procedures of the project completion.

16. Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs include loan interests, amortization of premiums or discounts, auxiliary expenses and exchange differences arising on foreign currency borrowing. When expenditures for the asset and borrowing costs are being incurred, activities relating to the acquisition, construction or production of the asset that are necessary to prepare the asset for its intended use or sale have commenced, borrowing costs, which are directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset, shall be capitalized. Capitalization of borrowing costs shall be discontinued when acquired and constructed production is available for use or sale. Other borrowing costs shall be recognized as costs for the current period.

The amount of interest of specific borrowings occurred for the period shall be capitalized after deducting bank interest earned from depositing the unused borrowings or any investment income on the temporary investment. The capitalized amount of general borrowings shall to be determined at the basis that the weighted average (of the excess amounts of cumulative assets expenditures above the specific borrowings) times capitalization rate (of used general borrowings). The capitalization rate shall be determined according to the weighted average interest rates of general borrowings.

Assets eligible for capitalization represent fixed assets, investment property, inventories, etc, which shall take a long time (generally above one year) for acquisition, construction or production to be ready for the specific use or sale.

17. Intangible assets

The pricing method of intangible assets: The intangible assets of the Group include mainly mining rights, unproved mining interests, the land use rights, patents and know-hows etc. For purchased intangible assets, actual paid cost and other relevant expenses are used as the actual cost. For intangible assets invested by investors, the actual cost is determined according to the values specified in the investment contract or agreement, while for the unfair agreed value in contract or agreement, the actual cost is determined at the fair value. Intangible assets acquired in a business combination and recognized separately from goodwill are initially recognized at their fair value at the acquisition date (which is regarded as their cost).

- (1) Mining rights. Coal reserves are amortized over the life of the mine on a unit of production basis of the estimated total proven and probable reserves or the Australia Joint Ore Reserves Committee (JORC) reserves for the Groups subsidiaries in Australia.
- (2) Unproved mining interests. Unproved mining interests represent the fair value of economically recoverable reserves (excluding the portion of total proven and probable reserves of coal mines of a mining right i.e. does not include the above coal reserves) of coal mines of a mining right (Details are set out in the accounting policy of exploration and evaluation expenditure).
- (3) Land use rights. The land use rights are evenly amortized over the transferred term since the rights are obtained.
- (4) Patented technologies, non-patented technologies and other intangible assets. The patented technologies, non-patented technologies and other intangible assets with limited life shall be amortized under composite life method. The patented technologies, non-patented technologies and other intangible assets with unsure life shall not be amortized. The amortized amounts shall be included in the cost of related assets or profit or loss for the period in which they are incurred based on the beneficiary objects.

For an intangible asset with a finite useful life, the Company shall review the useful life and the amortization method applied at each financial year-end. A change in the useful life or amortization method used shall be accounted for as a change in an accounting estimate. For an intangible asset with an indefinite useful life, the Company shall reassess the useful life of the asset in each accounting period. If there is evidence indicating that the useful life of that intangible asset is finite, the Company shall estimate the useful life of that asset and apply the accounting requirements of the Standard accordingly.

18. Exploration and evaluation expenditures

Exploration and evaluation expenditure incurred is accumulated in respect of each separately identifiable area of interest which is at individual mine level. These costs are only carried forward where the right of tenure for the area of interest is current and to the extent that they are expected to be recouped through successful development and commercial exploitation, or alternatively, sale of the area, or where activities in the area have not yet reached a stage which permits reasonable assessment of the existence of economically recoverable reserves and active and significant operations in, or in relation to, the area of interest are continuing.

A regular review is undertaken of each area of interest to determine the appropriateness of continuing to carry forward costs in relation to that area of interest. Accumulated costs in relation to an abandoned area are written-off in full in the period in which the decision to abandon the area is made. The carrying amount of exploration and evaluation assets is assessed for impairment when facts or circumstances suggest the carrying amount of the assets may exceed their recoverable amount.

When production commences, the accumulated costs for the relevant area of interest are amortized over the life of the area according to the rate of depletion of the economically recoverable reserves.

Exploration and evaluation expenditure acquired in a business combination are recognised at their fair value at the acquisition date (the fair value of potential economically recoverable reserves at the acquisition date which is shown as “unproved mineral interests”).

According to the assets character, capitalized exploration and evaluation expenditure considered to be fixed assets (Note II.14), construction in progress (Note II. 15) or intangible assets (Note II.17).

19. Impairment of non-financial assets

The Company assesses at each balance sheet date whether there is any indication that the long-term equity investments measured by equity method, investment property, fixed assets, and construction in progress and intangible assets with finite useful life may be impaired. If there is objective evidence that one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the asset and that event has an impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset which can be reliably estimated, a financial asset is impaired. Goodwill arising in a business combination and an intangible asset with an indefinite useful life shall be tested for impairment annually, irrespective of whether there is any indication that the asset may be impaired. For the purpose of impairment assessment, goodwill shall be considered together with the related asset groups or sets of asset group allocated with goodwill should be assessed for impairment at each financial year-end.

If the recoverable amount of the asset groups or set of asset groups is less than the book value, the difference will be recognized as impairment loss and once an impairment loss is recognized, it shall not be reversed in a subsequent period. The recoverable amount of an asset is the higher of its fair value cost of disposal and the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from the asset costs of disposal.

19. Impairment of non-financial assets (continued)

The signs of impairment are as follows:

- (2) The current or future significant changes in the economic, technical or legal environment of the enterprise and in the market of an asset shall have adverse impacts on the enterprise.
- (3) The improved market rate or other return on investment in the period shall have an effect on the discount rate used by enterprise to calculate estimated cash flow present value, leading to substantial decline in recoverable amount of assets.
- (4) There is evidence to demonstrate that the assets have already gone absolute or its entity has already been damaged.
- (5) The assets have already been or will be left unused, or will stop using, or are under the plan to be disposed in advance.

22. Employee benefits

In the accounting period in which an employee has rendered service to the company, the company shall recognize the employee benefits payable for that service as a liability, and recorded into related assets or current profit or loss in accordance with the objects that benefited from the service rendered by employees.  - 1) The obligation is a present obligation of the Company;
 - 2) It is probable that an outflow of economic benefits from the Company will be required to settle the obligation;
 - 3) The amount of the obligation can be measured reliably.
- (2) The measurement approaches of the estimated liability: the estimated liability is primarily measured according to the estimated optimal value paid to implement the relevant present obligations considering the factors such as the risks, uncertainties and currency time values related to the contingencies. If the currency time value has major effects, the estimated optimal value is determined after the discounting of the relevant future cash flow. If any change happens to the estimated optimal value during reviewing the carrying amount of the estimated liabilities on the balance sheet date, the adjustment will be made to the carrying amount to reflect the current estimated optimal value.

24. Overburden in advance

Overburden in advance comprises the accumulation of expenses incurred to enable access to the coal seams, and includes direct removal costs, machinery and plant running costs. The deferred costs are then charged to the consolidated income statement in subsequent periods on the basis of run-of-mine (ROM coal tonnes mined). This is calculated by multiplying the ROM coal tonnes mined during the period by the weighted average cost to remove a bank cubic metre (BCM) of waste by the stripping ratio (ratio of waste removed in BCMs to ROM coal tonnes mined). The stripping ratio of the Company's Australian subsidiaries is based on the JORC reserves of each mine.

25. Land subsidence, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental costs

The mining activities of the Group and the domestic subsidiaries may cause land subsidence of the underground mining sites. Usually, the Group may relocate inhabitants from the land above the underground mining sites prior to mining those sites and compensate the inhabitants for losses or damages from land subsidence. Depending on the experience, the management estimate and accrue an amount of payments for restoration, rehabilitation and environmental protection of the land, which may arise in the future after the underground sites have been mined.

In consideration of the time difference between the payments of the fees for relocation, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental protection of the land and the mining of underground mines, the Group charges the prepayment of such fees regarding to future mining as a current asset. Caused by the paid amount less than the accrued amount, the fees regarding to future payment for relocation, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental protection of the land are accounted for as a current liability.

27. The Principles of Revenue recognition (continued)

(2) Policies

- 1) The Company has transferred to the buyer the main risks and rewards of ownership of the coal, methanol, heat, auxiliary materials and other good sales revenue. The company neither retains continuing management usually associated with ownership, nor effectively controls over the goods sold.
- 2) Electricity sales revenue is recognized when transmitting power to power companies. The revenue is measured by the amount of power and the appropriate electricity price settled by related power companies.
- 3) Revenue of railway and air transportation and other services are recognized when the services are complete.
- 4) Interest revenue is measured by the period of cash borrowings and the actual interest rates.

28. Government grants

Government grants are recognized when there is reasonable assurance that the grants will be received and the Group is able to comply with the conditions attaching to them. Government grants in the form of monetary assets are recorded based on as the amount received, whereas quota subsidies are measured as the amount receivable. Government grants in the form of non-monetary assets are measured at fair value or nominal amount (RMB1) if the fair value cannot be reliably obtained.

Government grants received in relation to assets are recorded as deferred income, and recognised evenly in the income statement over the assets' useful lives. Government grants received in relation to revenue are recorded as deferred income, and recognised as income in future periods as compensation when the associated future expenses or losses arise; or directly recognised as income in the current period as compensation for past expenses or losses.

29. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities

The deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized based on the differences arising from the difference between the carrying amount of an asset or liability and its tax base (temporary differences). For any deductible loss or tax deduction that can be deducted the amount of the taxable income the next year according to the taxation regulations, the corresponding deferred income tax asset shall be determined considering the temporary difference. On the balance sheet date, the deferred income assets and deferred income tax liabilities shall be measured at the tax rate applicable to the period during which the assets are expected to be recovered or the liabilities are expected to be settled.

II. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND PREPARATION METHODS FOR CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (continued)

29. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities (continued)

An enterprise shall recognize the deferred income tax liability arising from a deductible temporary difference to the extent of the amount of the taxable income which it is most likely to obtain and which can be deducted from the deductible temporary difference. For the recognized deferred income tax asset, if it is unlikely to obtain sufficient taxable income to offset against the benefit of the deferred income tax asset, the carrying amount of the deferred income tax assets shall be written down. Any such write-down should be subsequently reversed where it becomes probable that sufficient taxable income will be available.

30. Leases

The Company classifies the leases into finance lease and operating lease on the lease beginning date.

Finance lease is a lease that substantially transfers all the risks and rewards incident to ownership of an assets. On the lease beginning date, as the leaseholder, the Company recognizes the lower of fair value of lease assets and the present value of minimum lease payment as financial leased fixed assets; recognizes the minimum lease payment as long-term payable, and recognizes the difference between the above two as unverified financing costs.

Operating lease is the other lease except finance lease. As the leaseholder, the Company records lease payments into the related assets cost or the profit or loss for the period on a straight-line basis over the lease term and; records lease income into revenue in the income statement on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

31. Accounting calculation of the income tax

The accounting calculation of the income tax adopts the balance sheet liabilities approach. The income taxes include the current and deferred income tax. The current income tax and deferred income tax expenses and earnings are recorded into the current profit and loss, except those related to the transactions and events are recorded directly into the shareholder's equity and the deferred income tax is adjusted into the carrying amount of goodwill arising from the business combination.

The current income tax expense is the income tax payable, that is, the amount of the current transactions and events calculated according to the taxation regulations paid to the taxation authorities by the enterprises. The deferred income tax is the difference between the due amounts of the deferred income tax assets and liabilities to be recognized according to the balance sheet liabilities approach in the period end and the amount recognized originally.

II. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND PREPARATION METHODS FOR CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (continued)

32. Mineral Resources Rent Tax

Mineral Resources Rent Tax (MRRT) is levied by Australian government for all Australian mineral enterprises on the base of net mining profit after deductible items, therefore the recognition, measurement and disclosure of relevant expenses, deferred assets and liabilities of MRRT are consistent with income tax, refer to Note II.29 and II.31 for details.

33. Segment reporting

Reportable segments are identified based on operating segments which are determined based on the structure of the Group's internal organization, management requirements and internal reporting system. An operating segment is a component of the Group that meets the following respective conditions:

- (1) Engage in business activities from which it may earn revenues and incur expenses;
- (2) Whose operating results are regularly reviewed by the Group's management to make decisions about resource to be allocated to the segment and assess its performance; and
- (3) For which financial information regarding financial position, results of operations and cash flows are available.

34. Operation Method of Hedges Business

The Group's overseas subsidiaries use derivative financial instruments such as forward foreign exchange contracts, coal swap contracts and interest rate swaps contracts to hedge cash flow for foreign exchange risks, fluctuations in coal prices and interest rate risk.

The relationship between hedging instrument and hedged item is recorded by the Group on hedging transaction date, including the target of risk management and various hedging transaction strategies. The Group will regularly assess whether the derivatives can continuously and effectively hedge cash flows of the hedged item during the period of hedging transactions. The Group uses the comparative method of the principle terms of the contract to do the expected evaluation on the effectiveness of hedging, and uses ratio analysis method to do the retrospective evaluation on the effectiveness of hedging at the end of the reporting period.

Net amounts receivable or payable of hedging transactions is recorded into the balance sheet as assets or liabilities from hedging transaction date. The unrealized gain or loss shall be recorded into hedging reserve under equity. The change of fair values of forward foreign currency contract, coal swap contract or interest swap contract shall be recognized through hedging reserve until the expected transactions occur. Accumulated balance in equity shall be included in the income statement or be recognized as part of the cost in relation of its assets.

34. Operation Method of Hedges Business (continued)

When a hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated or exercised, or the hedge no longer meets the criteria for hedge accounting, the hedge accounting shall not be applicable. Accumulated gain or loss of hedging instruments is recorded in the equity and recognized when transaction happens. Accumulated gain or loss, which is recorded in shareholder's equity, shall be transferred in the profit or loss for the period if transaction is not expected to make.

35. Common control operation

There is common control operation in the Company's subsidiaries in Australia. Common control operation means that a company uses its assets or other economic resources with other cooperative parties to jointly do coal exploration, development, operation, or other economic activities, and jointly control these economic activities in accordance with contracts or agreements.

The subsidiaries in Australia are entitled to the profits created by joint controlled assets as per the shares controlled by them, and they shall recognize revenue and costs in relation to common control operation in light of contracts or agreements.

36. Significant accounting policies and accounting estimates

When use the above mentioned accounting policies and accounting estimate, because of the uncertainty of operation, the Group needs to apply the judgments, estimates and assumptions to book value of inaccurate measured items, which was made on the basis of experiences of the management and consideration of other related factors. However, the actual conditions are possibly different from the estimates.

The Group makes regulatory check on above mentioned judgments, estimates and assumptions. The Company confirms the influences of the accounting modifications in the current and future of the modification time, dependently.

On balance sheet date, the key assumptions and the uncertainties leading to the possible major adjustments for the carrying amounts of the assets, liabilities in the future are as follows:

II. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND PREPARATION METHODS FOR CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (continued)

36. Significant accounting policies and accounting estimates (continued)

(1) Depreciation and amortization

Fixed assets and intangible assets are depreciated and amortized on the straight-line or production basis over their useful lives. The Group shall regularly review the useful lives and economically recoverable coal reserves to determine the total amount of depreciation and amortization which will be included in each period. Useful lives are calculated on the basis of the experience from similar assets and expected change of technology. Economically recoverable coal reserves are calculated by the economically recoverable coal resources based on actual measurement. If the past estimates change significantly, the depreciation and amortization shall be adjusted during future periods.

Estimates of coal reserves are involved in subjective judgment, because the estimating technology is inaccurate, so the coal reserves are only approximate value. The recent production and technology documents shall be considered for the estimates of economically recoverable coal reserves which will be updated regularly, the inherent inaccuracy of technical estimating exists.

(2) Land subsidence, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental obligations

The Company needs to relocate the villages on the surface due to the underground coal mining, and bear the cost of relocation of villages, ground crops (or attachments) compensation, land rehabilitation, restructuring and environmental management and other obligations. The performance of obligation is likely to lead to outflow of resources, when the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably, it is recognized as an environmental reclamation obligations. Depending on the relevance with the future production activities and the reliability of the estimated determination, the flow and non-flow reclamation provision should be recognized as the profit and loss for the period or credited to the relevant assets.

After taking into account existing laws and regulations and according to the past experience and the best estimate of future expenditures, management determines Land subsidence, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental obligations. If the time value of money is material, the expected future cash outflows will be discounted to its net present value. Following the current coal mining activities and under the condition that the future impact on land and the environment has become evident, Land subsidence, restoration, rehabilitation and environmental costs may be amended from time to time. Discount rate used by the Group may change due to assessment on the time value of money market and debt specific risks, when the estimate of the expected costs changed, it will be adjusted accordingly by the appropriate discount rate.

36. Significant accounting policies and accounting estimates (continued)

(3) Impairment of non-financial long-term assets

As described in note 2 (19), at the date of the balance sheet the Group assesses impairment of non-financial assets to determine whether the recoverable amount of assets fell less than its carrying value. If the carrying value of the asset exceeds its recoverable amount, the difference is recognized as impairment loss.

The recoverable amount is defined as the higher of fair value less costs to sell and estimated net present value of future cash flows of assets (or assets group). When estimating the present value of future cash flows, the company needs to make significant judgments on the future useful life, the production volume, selling price, related operating costs of the assets (or assets group) and the discount rate used for calculating the present value. When estimating the recoverable amount, the Group will use all possible available information that can be obtained, including forecast of the production volume, selling price and operating costs etc made based on reasonable and supportable assumptions.

(4) Impairment of goodwill

Determining whether goodwill is impaired requires an estimation of the value in use of the cash-generating units to which goodwill has been allocated. The value in use calculation requires the Group to estimate the future cash flows expected to arise from the cash-generating unit and a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value. Expectation has been determined based on past performance and management's expectations for the market development.

(5) Tax

The Company has obligations to pay a variety of taxes in a number of countries and regions. There are uncertainties for final tax treatments of many transactions and matters in normal operating activities. If there are differences between the ultimately ascertained results of these tax matters and the amounts that were initially recorded, then the differences will impact the tax balance in the period that the above ultimate assertion being made.

If the management expects probable future taxable profit, and it can be utilized as deductible temporary differences or tax losses, then deferred tax assets will be recognized based on these deductible temporary differences or tax losses. When the expected amount is different from the original estimate, such differences will impact the recognition of deferred tax assets in the period when change of estimates takes place. If the management expects to not be able to eliminate future taxable income, deferred tax assets are not recognized on temporary differences and tax losses.

As a result of the MRRT legislation that was enacted on 19 March 2012 and that was effective from 1 July 2012, additional deferred tax balances have been recognised. Judgement is required for the Group's Australian subsidiaries to assess whether deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities arising from MRRT are recognised on the balance sheet. Deferred tax assets are recognised only when it is considered probable that they will be recovered. Recoverability is dependent on the generation of sufficient future taxable profits. Assumptions about the generation of future taxable profits depend on management's estimates of future cash flows. These in turn depend on estimates of future sales volumes, operating costs, capital expenditure and government royalties payable.

Other non-current liabilities	1,460,580,249	6,868,994	21,163.38	12

Note 1: Cash at bank decreased because net cash flow generated from operating activities decreased compared to last year.

Note 2: The increase of long-term accounts receivables was mainly due to long-term loan provided by Gloucester, the newly acquired company, to Middlemount Joint Venture. See VI.9 note 1.

Note 3: Intangible assets increased in current reporting period, because mining rights increased by RMB5,341.19 million and RMB2,476.78 million from acquisition of Gloucester and purchase of mining permits for five mines owned by the Company in current year. See VI.14. note1.(2) for details.

Note 4: Both deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities increased in current reporting period, this was mainly because the recognition of MRRT deferred tax assets RMB9,187.16 million and MRRT deferred tax liabilities RMB7,183.69 million at the year end. The Australian government implemented Minerals Resource Rent Tax (MRRT) from July 1, 2012. See VI.49 for details.

Note 5: The increase of other non-current assets was mainly due to royalty receivables of Gloucester acquired in current reporting period. See VI.7 note 2.

Note 6: Short-term loan decreased because the Company repaid the loan and adjusted capital structure.

Note 7: Increase of note payable was mainly due to promissory notes of RMB586.19 million issued to designated trustee by Gloucester. See VI.20 note 1.

4. Significant fluctuation and related reasons for main items of financial statements (continued)

- Note 8: Tax payable reduced mainly due to reduction of total profit and income tax payable accrued but not yet paid in current reporting period.
- Note 9: Non-current liabilities within one year reduced, which was because that Yancoal Australia extended loan of RMB914.66 million that should have been repaid in current reporting period to 5 years, thus included in long-term loan. See VI.27.note6 for details. Apart from above reason, long-term loan increased also due to newly added loan of RMB2,393.89 million in current reporting period.
- Note 10: The increase of bond payable was mainly due to issuance of company securities in current year, amounted to USD1 billion and RMB5 billion. See VI.29 for details.
- Note 11: Long-term accounts payable increased mainly due to amount payable to Jining Municipal Land and Resources Bureau for purchase of mining permits of 5 mines in current year. See VI.27 (3) note4 for details.
- Note 12: The increase of other non-current liabilities was mainly due to the issuance of Contingent Value Rights (CVRs) to shareholders when Gloucester was acquired this year. See VI.32.(1) for details.

Items of consolidated income statement for this year that have significant changes compared to last year are shown below:

Items	2012	2011	Fluctuation(%)	Note
Operating revenue	59,673,546,400	49,799,144,172	20	1
Operating cost	45,298,387,476	29,818,737,413	52	1
Selling expenses	3,244,749,779	2,439,077,133	33	2
Finance costs	459,648,274	257,329,470	79	3
Impairment loss of assets	811,152,519	281,778,616	188	4
Gain or loss on fair value changes	-103,017,013	-	-	5
Non-operating revenue	1,414,668,226	91,616,010	1,444	6
Income tax expense	-23,115,875	3,456,907,725	-101	7
Other comprehensive income	348,333,670	-723,638,508	-148	8

- Note 1: Operating revenue increased mainly due to increase of coal sales in volume, and operating cost increased accordingly. But the extent of increase of operating revenue was less than the extent of increase of operating cost due to relatively greater drop of coal price and rise of unit cost in current period.
- Note 2: Selling expenses increased mainly due to increase of freight expenses, which was in turn because of increase of coal sales in volume in current reporting period. Besides, the acquisition of Gloucester in current year increased selling expenses as well.
- Note 3: The increase of finance cost was because of newly added loans and issuance of debentures in current reporting period.
- Note 4: The increase of impairment loss was mainly due to impairment loss accrued by Premier, the subsidiary of the Company, in current reporting period. See VI.11 note 2 for details.

4. Significant fluctuation and related reasons for main items of financial statements (continued)

- Note 5: Gain on fair value changes decreased in current reporting period, which was mainly due to the fluctuation of fair value of Contingent Value Rights (CVRs) that were issued to shareholders when acquired Gloucester this year. CVRs are traded in public market and measured at fair value.
- Note 6: Non-operating revenue increased mainly due to acquisition of Gloucester in current reporting period. See VI.47 for details of gain on acquisition.
- Note 7: The reduction of income tax expenses was mainly due to reduction of current income tax expense caused by operating profit decrease, and the introduction of legislation of Minerals Resource Rent Tax (MRRRT) in Australia in current reporting period. See VI.49 for details.
- Note 8: Other comprehensive income increased by 148%, which was mainly due to significant rises in fair value of cash flow hedging and exchange rate of Australian dollars in current reporting period.

Note: (1) The proven and probable reserves of the above coal mines are based on the report dated February 6, 1998 prepared by International Mining Consultants Limited, a UK-based company, in accordance with the standards in Industry Guide 7. Under Industry Guide 7, “proven reserves” are reserves for which (a) quantity is computed from dimensions revealed in outcrops, trenches, workings or drill holes, grade and/or quality are computed from the results of detailed sampling and (b) the sites for inspection, sampling and measurement are spaced very closely and the geologic features have been clearly identified enabling the accurate ascertainment as to the size, shape, depth and mineral deposits of the reserve. “probable reserves” are reserves that are computed from information similar to that used for proven reserves, but the sites for inspection, sampling, and measurement are further apart or are otherwise less adequately spaced. Although the degree of certainty of “probable reserves,” is lower than that for proven reserves, it is high enough to assume continuity between points of observation. The total proven and probable reserves as of the end of a year are derived by deducting the proven and probable reserves consumed in the coal production in the same year from the proven and probable reserves as of the end of the immediately preceding year.

(2) The mining recovery rate is the rate of the amount of coal recovered from a determined amount of proven and probable reserves, which is calculated by dividing the actual volume of coal recovered in a year by the volume of proven and probable reserves mined and consumed in the same year.

(2) The recoverable reserves of the above coal mines are based on the report prepared by Minarco AsiaPacific Pty Limited in May 2006 in accordance with the standards in the JORC Code as revised in 2004. “Recoverable reserves” generally refer to proved and probable reserves under the JORC Code as revised in 2004. “Proved reserves” are the economically mineable part of a measured coal resource and “probable reserves” are the economically mineable part of an indicated, and in some circumstances, measured coal resource. Both “proved reserves” and “probable reserves” incorporate mining dilution and allow for mining losses and are based on an appropriate level of mine planning, mine design and scheduling.

(3) The mining recovery rate is the rate of the amount of coal recovered from a determined amount of proven and probable reserves, which is calculated by dividing the actual volume of coal recovered in a year by the volume of proven and probable reserves mined and consumed in the same year.

The PRC Standards are different from the standards under the Industry Guide 7 or the JORC Code. Such estimates have not been reviewed by an independent competent person using the standards in the Industry Guide 7 or the JORC Code. Note: (1) The Austar Coal Mine was closed in 2003 as the result of an underground coal mine fire. The Company acquired Austar Coal Mine in 2004 and implemented a production expansion and technology upgrade in 2005. Austar Coal Mine resumed part of its operation in October 2006. Each of the Ashton Coal Mine and Moolarben Coal Mine has an open-pit coal mine and an underground coal mine. The “commencement of commercial production” indicates the time when the open-pit mines, the earlier of the two types of mines, commenced commercial production.

(2) The coalfield area refers to the area of current leased land for mining, excluding the area on which the Company own prospecting rights.

(3) The recoverable reserves of the above coal mines are based on the report prepared by the competent persons appointed by Yancoal Australia and such reserves refer to total proved and probable reserves that were prepared in accordance with the standards in the JORC Code.
