MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Overview of Aeronautical Business

In the first half year of 2014, under the impact of slow growth of international and domestic economy, turbulent political scene in some international regions, decrease in the demand of southeast Asia routes as a result of the missing MH370 flight and other factors, the overall growth of the air traffic volumes of Beijing Capital Airport slowed down.

In respect of domestic routes, the weak performance of domestic economy in the first half year and the large base of domestic air traffic volumes gave rise to a slight increase in the aircraft movements of relevant flights and passenger throughput; in respect of international routes, compared with the weak growth in the same period of the previous year, the growth in the aircraft movements of relevant flights and passenger throughput recovered due to the gradual increase in the travel demand of international passengers in the first half of 2014.

In the first half year of 2014, the cumulative aircraft movements at the Beijing Capital Airport reached 283,966 sorties, representing an increase of 2.6% as compared with the same period of the previous year. The cumulative passenger throughput reached 41,578,291 person-times, representing an increase of 1.9% as compared with the same period of the previous year. In the first half year of 2014, revenues from passenger charges were RMB820,090,000, representing an increase of 3.9% as compared with the same period of the previous year and outpacing the growth rate of passenger throughput, which was mainly due to the continued impact of the uniform charging policy for domestic and international routes as executed from 1 April 2013.
