The reasons for the great increase of the newly signed contracts in respect of highways, urban rail transits and municipal engineering are as follows: (1) the investment increase on rail transit in China's first-tier cities; (2) the changes in the investment and financing mechanism of the infrastructure market, serving as important drivers for investments. The newly-signed contract amount of hydraulic and electrical engineering decreased sharply due to the relatively small scale, and such significant fluctuation was normal.

In 2016, the value of new contracts for non-construction operations of the Group amounted to RMB159.8552 billion, accounting for 13.11% of the total value of new contracts and representing an increase of 13.12% as compared to the corresponding period last year. ## Section V Discussion and Analysis on Business Operations (Report of Directors) (continued)

1. Economic situation and policy analysis on construction industry

From the domestic point of view, the economic development of China has entered into a new normal state, but the fundamentals of long-term positive economic development remain unchanged, that the basic characteristics of good economic resilience, sufficient potential and big maneuvering room remain unchanged, and that the forward trend of economic structuring optimization also remains unchanged. It is still promising for leading of East China, development of West China, revitalization of Northeast China and rise of Central China, and the “One Belt and One Road”, Beijing-Tianjin-Hebei synergetic development and Yangtze River Economic Zone development strategy will bring new development space. The strategy of deepened reform, the strategy of innovation-driven development and the supply-side structural reform will bring powerful impetus for the enterprise development. China’s economy will still keep the positive trend of seeking improvement in stability. In 2017 and the future period, the construction industry will still keep the powerful development momentum. In 2017, the country will continue to proceed the integrated construction of the traffic, logistics, industries and environment in Beijing-Tianjin-Hebei Region, the promotion of the comprehensive and solid transport corridors, new city clusters and economic integration in the Yangtze River region and the activation of “One Belt and One Road” infrastructure interconnection and interworking projects in the coastline and border provinces, there will be large business opportunities in transport infrastructure fields, such as railways, highways, water route, airports, urban rail transits.

From the international point of view, the world economy will be deeply adjusted, there will be more uncertain and unstable factors in the external environment and a new round of technological revolution and industrial transformation will be booming. The international industrial specialization pattern adjustment will be accelerated, and the substitution effect of re-industrialization and industry returning to the local of developed countries will be strengthened. The global trade development will be in downturn, and the international trade rules will undergo huge changes. The effect of energy resources and environmental changes on the economy will be continuously deepened, and the price of highly financial bulk commodities will be under severe fluctuation. The concept of low-carbon economy and green growth will profoundly influence the global trade and capital direction, resulting in huge impact on the development of the main resource producing countries and the related enterprises, leaving the market competition environment faced by the enterprises severe. Meanwhile, the international operation will be faced with new opportunities. Many countries have broadened the investment constraints in the key field to alleviate the resistance of M&A by foreign investment, providing the rare opportunity for the enterprises to promote the cross-border M&A and to obtain the advanced technologies. The emerging market countries will rise rapidly. The “One Belt and One Road” countries and regions have low labor cost, rich resources, huge potential and sufficient endogenous power to accelerate the urbanization, lagging behind in the railway, highway, bridge, wharf and other infrastructures, with strong demand for the infrastructure construction and equipment, and with strong desire to cooperate with China, providing wide space for the enterprises to participate in the overseas infrastructure construction and to promote the “go-out” of the whole industry chain.

Analysis on Operational Information of Real Estate Industry

As one of 16 enterprises directly under the central government taking real estate development as principal business, the Group adopts the business model of "giving priority to residential development supplemented by supporting commercial facilities" for the current real estate business. Sticking to its strategic direction of "based in Beijing, open to the whole country and moving overseas", the group focuses on three core urban agglomeration including Yangtze River Delta, Pearl River Delta and Bohai Coastal Region, and steps up efforts to expand the new urban agglomeration and national new district covering Shandong peninsula, Liaodong peninsula, Western Coast of the Straits, Changzhutan, Wuhan, Chengdu and Chongqing. The development strategy of regional distribution focuses on the first- and second-tier cities, supplemented by some third- and fourth-tier cities with great potentials. A system is taking shape in the real estate sector of the Group, which centers on Beijing, Shanghai and Guangzhou and is supported by performance in Bohai Coastal Region, Yangtze River Delta, Pearl River Delta and Southwest China.

In 2016, the real estate went through the course of easing policy to continuous tightening policy of hot cities. NPC and CPPCC proposed "different cities adopt different policies to digest the existing housing". Swiftly rising price of housing price in the hot cities made policy differentiation clearer. On one hand, regulators policies applied by hot cities was tightening, restriction on purchase and loaning as well as supervisory measures were more and more stringent together with curbing speculative demand to prevent the market risks; on the other hand, third-tier and fourth-tier cities were still persisting in reduction of the existing housing and focused on supply and demand to improve the real estate market. Meanwhile, the central government was building long-term organism of real estate, regional integration and new-type urbanization were breaking new breakthroughs, thus creating a favorable environment for the long-term development in this regard.

III. DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF THE COMPANY'S FUTURE DEVELOPMENT

(I) Industry pattern and trends

Applicable  Not Applicable

Encountering the current complex situation, we have to accurately determine the industry landscape, and clarify development trends. In 2017, the overall market structure of the construction industry is stable, and the market space is still broad. From the perspective of the demand for national economic development and a series of important strategies implemented by the PRC, the country will continue to give great impetus in new urbanization and urban-rural integration progress, devote great efforts in three strategies such as "One Belt and One Road", "Synergetic Cooperation in Beijing-Tianjin-Hebei Region" and the Yangtze River Economic Zone", and accelerate the improvement of railways, highways, water conservancy, waterways, civil aviation, pipelines and other infrastructure networks. Seen from the recent planning and forecasting data, the investments in railways, highways, housing construction, urban rail, municipal works and water conservancy, water and electricity, airports will continue to maintain operation at a high level. Utility tunnels, sponge city, pollution governance and other markets are expected to grow rapidly. In addition, with accelerating implementation of the "One Belt and One Road" and the stabilization of the prices of international crude oil and other bulk raw materials, it is also expected to usher in new opportunities for development.

Deepening comprehensive reform on state-owned assets and state-owned enterprises is the general trend. Various reforms also enter a substantive stage of accelerating implementation. The progress will be accelerated in the merging and reorganization of state-owned key enterprises. The supply-side structural reform and the improvement of quality and efficiency of supply system become main directions for further steady growth. The determination of the central government on deepening overall reform is unshakable. The general trend of innovation and development is irreversible. The state has clear target requirements for the reform and innovation in "replacing the business tax with a value-added tax", strengthening the party building of state-owned enterprises, streamlining state-owned enterprises, controlling loss and reforming rigid institutions, promoting the PPP model in the construction field, developing prefabricated construction and other aspects. It can be expected that 2017 is the opportunity period for the development of CRCC. We will seize the opportunity, actively promote structural adjustment, innovation and development and layout optimization in accordance with development ideas of innovation, coordination, green, opening up and sharing, and be bold and straight in making CRCC better, larger and stronger.

(IV) Potential risks

Applicable       Not Applicable

The Group has always attached great importance to the internal and external exposure to risks, consistently collecting and analyzing risk-related information, regulating the risk management process, strengthening major risk control measures, for the purpose of prudent and steady development. We identify the following categories of risks that are likely to confront the Group in 2017 through our annual systematic assessment of major and significant risks: investment risks safety and quality risks, overseas risks, project management risks and risks related to accounts receivable.

Compared with major risks identified in the previous year, the Group will be faced with a new category of risks, investment risks, while the other categories of risks will remain. The eminence of the investment risks is closely related to the internal and external environments. The national policies are promoting the PPP business model across the nation and the traditional BOT, BT and other franchise modes are also rolling out. The business operation are developing from traditional contracted construction model to a model covering the investment, construction, operation and handover processes, which will present unprecedented opportunities and challenges to the development of the construction industry. Furthermore, the pressure of internal transformation and upgrading requires enterprises to enhance the capital operation for sustainable development, resulting in the growth of investment scale, which in turn intensifies investment risks under the complicated external market environment. In such internal and external environments featuring great changes, identify the investment risk as a major one confronting the Group reveals the importance we attach to the investment risk. In the future operations, the Group will continue to focus on investment risks, strengthening the administration of project establishment, decision-making, implementation, exit processes, with proper controls in place.

On the one hand, the fund demand is gradually increasing with the continuous expansion of the Company's operating scale; on the other hand, the pressure on fund is increasing due to the increase in the scale of investment in commercial manufacture, property development and other fields year by year to implement thorough reform and promote innovation and development.

Section VI Significant Events (continued)

The capital source for the funds demanded for company development is funds at the disposal of enterprises, bank loans, issuance of bonds, raised equity capital, etc. To ensure the continuous, healthy and stable improvement of the Company, the demand for money in 2017 includes the capital investment in the operation of each business segments and that in capital projects. To achieve the development goals in 2017, the Company will arrange the demand for money reasonably, implement the necessary approval and announcement procedures in strict accordance with the provisions of relevant laws to further optimize the use of funds, balance the fund allocation, control the various non-productive expenditure strictly, improve the service efficiency of funds, support the continuous and healthy development of the company, and meet the demand for money by combining with short- and long-term bank loans, issuance of bonds and other financing methods.

(3) The specific use and anticipated income of the retained undistributed profit

The undistributed profit retained by the Company had, on one hand, been utilized to supplement working capital, and had been utilized to invest in survey, design, manufacturing and PPP project and other businesses. Reviewing the condition in recent years, the yield of net assets from relevant business segment has been above lending interest rate of banks. Using retained profit to increase the investment in these segments so as to expand the scale and enhance production capacity is favourable for improving the Company's profitability and thus bringing better returns to investors. In the meantime, although the gearing ratio of the Company decreased, it was still high. In order to optimize the financial condition, reduce operating risks and enhance the creditability and financing capability of the enterprise, it is integral to sustain the stable growth of net assets.

To sum up the above, through comprehensive consideration of the current capital structure of the Company, repayment capability and development plan, the purposes of formulating the cash dividend distribution plan mentioned above are to enhance the development quality and speed of the Company, providing investors with long-term and continuous return. The profit distribution plan satisfies the requirements of the Articles of Association and the Shareholders' Return Plan of the Company in the Coming Three Years (2015–2017), in which it is prescribed that "such profit to be distributed in cash on a yearly basis must not be less than 15% of the realized distributable profit as contained in that year's consolidated financial statements", and is in compliance with the Company's continuous and stable profit distribution policy and long-term interest of public shareholders, benefitting the long-term sustainable development of the Company.

CRCCG, being the controlling Shareholder and connected person of the Company, retained certain ancillary operations in the process of the restructuring and listing of the Company. Following the listing of the H shares of the Company on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange, these ancillary operations continued to provide ancillary construction survey and supervisory services and designing services to the Company and/or its subsidiaries.

In order to regulate the above continuing connected transactions between the Group and CRCCG, among others, the Company and CRCCG entered into the Services Mutual Provision Framework Agreement (as supplemented by a supplemental agreement dated 29 January 2008) on 5 November 2007, and set the relevant annual caps for the continuing connected transactions contemplated thereunder.

Poverty alleviation and assistance work in depend on precise measures, innovative practices and win-win results. In order to win the fight against poverty, we must adhere to improve the accuracy and effectiveness of poverty alleviation and assistance. In our work, we strove to find the "root causes of poverty", clarified the targets, formulated targeted measures and found specific ways to solve problems so as to make substantial achievements in poverty alleviation. Firstly, formulated targeted measures to help people lift themselves out of poverty. According to the actual situation of the poor areas and combining with the enterprise characteristics of CRCC, the Company set up new labor service companies and housekeeping companies and supported for the existing construction companies. According to the principles of “strict management and good benefits, preferable employment of the poor, establishment of archives and cards as well as targeted persons”, the Company signed the labor subcontract of the project, enhanced the poor people’s ability of getting employed and increasing their income, and strove to achieve the working objective of “lifting one family out of poverty by employing one person”. Secondly, formulated innovative poverty alleviation measures. According to the guiding opinions of the enterprise on innovative poverty alleviation, China Railway 11th Bureau Group Co., Ltd. and China Railway 14th Bureau Group Co., Ltd., subsidiaries of CRCC, kept a foothold in resources endowment, respected the wishes of the masses, achieved poverty alleviation through the export of agricultural resources, the export of labor services and preferred projects. If a family had rich labor resources, they would help the family on finding jobs elsewhere. If a village had the conditions for exporting products, they would help the village to export products. If a person was poor or returned to poverty due to illness, they would help the person with the “project of pulling together in times of trouble”. They used the “Internet plus” means to comprehensively complete the poverty alleviation work in a three-dimensional way, and took the most effective measures to truly improve the effectiveness of poverty alleviation. In September, China Railway 11th Bureau Group Co., Ltd. placed a one-time order of RMB1 million for purchasing the agricultural and sideline products of Wanquan District such as fresh corn, oats, buckwheat and selenium enriched rice. The Group specially invited Hebei Wanquan Mine Machinery Factory to participate in equipment bidding. Through bidding, the Factory successfully won the bid of RMB500,000 of supply contract of crusher equipment for Yuxi-Mojiang Railway Project of the fourth company. At the beginning of 2016, China Railway Fifth Survey and Design Institute Group Co., Ltd., which was responsible for the poverty alleviation of Nanchaonian Village in Xiamajuan Township, Shangyi County, Zhangjiakou City, on the basis of timely contributing RMB500,000 of poverty alleviation funds, directly or indirectly invested RMB1.7 million of poverty alleviation funds, which directly assisted 150 people and lifted 106 families out of poverty. With the help of “Internet plus”, the Group set up the micro shop “micro agricultural hometown” to help farmers sell high-quality agricultural farm and sideline products; gave full play to its resources and technical advantages of the planning and design in green building, ecological garden, municipal road and other aspects, provided preliminary planning consultation for Nanchaonian Village to build “a beautiful village”, and laid a foundation for the implementation of the construction in the next step so that the green hills and clear waters would produce endogenous economic momentum of “gold and silver mountains”. According to the market price, the Group successively invested RMB870,000 of personnel and materials resources. The head office of China Railway Fifth Survey and Design Institute Group Co., Ltd. organized education-supporting team to the Central Primary School of Xiamajuan Township to carry out education-supporting activities; the poverty alleviation cadres involved in compiling the “Annals of Nanchaonian Village”, and undertook the research and development of mobile phone APP “Wisdom Shangyi”; assisted to establish Nanchaonian Village Housekeeping Company to recruit cleaning and sanitation, catering services, security and other service employees for Beijing, Tianjin, Shanxi, Inner Mongolia and other places, so as to achieve the objective of lifting one family out of poverty by assisting one person in the export of labor services. Thirdly, formulated win-win poverty alleviation measures. The Company adhered to “sharing and win-win” ideas, worked together with local government, combined with local economic and social development plan, clearly defined the priorities of poverty alleviation, improved poverty alleviation mechanism, and formulated poverty alleviation plan. By assisting poor areas to export labor services and resources, China Railway 11th Bureau Group Co., Ltd. created employment opportunities, increased local taxes, and achieved poverty alleviation objectives; replenished the ability of enterprise construction, trained backbone construction team, and, by working together with local government to fight against poverty, formed mutually beneficial and win-win situations. Wanquan District exported three labor services teams composed of 70 people for Wuhan-Shiyan passenger rail line, Yinchuan-Xi’an passenger rail line and other projects. Shangnong Labor Services Company has been set up, which is registered by Shangyi County Urban Investment Company and is contributed with initial RMB1 million by China Railway 14th Bureau Group Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of CRCC. In the next step, Shangnong Labor Services Company should strengthen the mobilization and organization of contract workers, make efforts on labor export training, improve the employment skills of exported services, and become a “thorough train” of labor services export for China Railway 14th Bureau Group Co., Ltd. China Railway 14th Bureau Group Co., Ltd. also signed the directional training framework agreement with the Vocational Education Center of Shangyi County, for the special purpose of training professional talents who meet the requirements of China Railway 14th Bureau Group Co., Ltd. Within two years, they plan to build the Vocational Education Center of Shangyi County into the labor training base of China Railway 14th Bureau Group Co., Ltd. so as to conduct ordered directional training. China Railway Construction Business Management Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of CRCC, invested a total of RMB300,000 to harden the village roadways of 500 square meters and to reconstruct broken walls of 500 meters for Sunjiaxiaozhuang Village in Gelei Zhuang Town; subsidized RMB50,000 to fill the financing gap for drilling two new motor-pumped wells for Sanlizhuang Village in Jiubao Township; and distributed RMB50,000 to the poor families during the festivals. Zhangjiakou Wantie Trading Co., Ltd. has been set up, which opens up the green channel between Beijing and Wanquan for the sale of agricultural and sideline products so that the local green products can enter into Beijing communities. On the one hand, the assisting organization can eat fresh pollution-free vegetables; on the other hand, the problems of poverty alleviation for some employees and poor families are solved. As of December 2016, China Railway Construction Business Management Co., Ltd. and its subsidiaries worked together with Zhangjiakou Wantie Trading Co., Ltd. to sell 15 batches of grains, vegetables and livestock products, which were specially distributed to the dining hall of CRCC head office, the large dining hall of CRCC and east Yuquan Market and were retailed to the communities of CRCC head office, with total sales of 36.9 tons and a value of nearly RMB200,000.

4. OTHER INFORMATION

The management of the Company is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Annual Report, other than the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

5. RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE MANAGEMENT AND THOSE CHARGED WITH GOVERNANCE FOR THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The management of the Company is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with Accounting Standards for Business Enterprises, and for such internal control as the management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the management of the Company is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the management of the Company either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance of the Company oversee the Group's financial reporting process.

6. AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE AUDIT OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with China Standards on Auditing will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with China Standards on Auditing, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- (1) Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- (2) Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances.
- (3) Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the management.
- (4) Conclude on the appropriateness of the management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- (5) Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- (6) Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding the auditing scope, time arrangement and significant audit findings, including significant deficiencies in internal control that we identified during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may be reasonably regarded as impacting on our independence, and relevant prevention measures, if applicable.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The acquisition date is the date on which the acquirer effectively obtains control of the acquiree.

The acquirer shall measure the acquiree's identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities acquired in the business combination at their fair values on the acquisition date.

Goodwill is measured at cost being the excess of the aggregate of the fair value of the consideration transferred (or the fair value of the equity securities issued) and any fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree over the acquirer's interest in the fair value of the acquiree's net identifiable assets. If the aggregate of the fair value of the consideration transferred (or the fair value of the equity securities issued) and any fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree is lower than the acquirer's interest in the fair value of the acquiree's net identifiable assets, the difference is, after reassessment of the fair value of each identifiable asset, liability and contingent liability acquired from the acquiree and the fair value of the consideration transferred (or the fair value of the equity securities issued) and any fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree, recognised in profit or loss.

5. Consolidated financial statements

The consolidation scope of the consolidated financial statements is determined on the basis of control, including the financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries for the year ended 31 December 2016. A subsidiary is an entity that is controlled by the Company (including an enterprise, a divided part of an investee and a structured entity that is controlled by the Company).

The financial statements of the subsidiaries are prepared for the same reporting period as the Company, using consistent accounting policies. All assets, liabilities, equity, revenue, expenses and cash flows resulting from intra-group transactions are eliminated on consolidation in full.

Where the amount of loss of a subsidiary attributable to the non-controlling shareholders exceeds their share of the opening balance of the owners' equity of the subsidiary, the excess shall be allocated against non-controlling interests.

For subsidiaries acquired through business combinations not involving entities under common control, the operating results and cash flows of the acquiree shall be included in the consolidated financial statements, from the date on which the Group gains control, until the Group ceases the control of it. While preparing the consolidated financial statements, the acquirer shall adjust the subsidiary's financial statements, on the basis of the fair values of the identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities recognised on the acquisition date.

For subsidiaries acquired through business combinations involving entities under common control, the operating results and cash flows of the acquiree shall be included in the consolidated financial statements from the beginning of the period in which the combination occurs. While preparing the prior period financial statements, adjustments are made to related items in the financial statements for the prior period as if the reporting entity established through combination had existed since the ultimate controlling party begins to exercise control.

The Group shall reassess whether it controls an investee if facts and circumstances indicate that there are changes to one or more of elements of control.

Changes in a parent's ownership interest in a subsidiary that do not result in the parent losing control of the subsidiary are treated as equity transactions.

6. Joint arrangement and joint operations

A joint arrangement is either a joint operation or a joint venture. A joint operation is a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control of the arrangement have rights to the assets, and obligations for the liabilities, relating to the arrangement. A joint venture is a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control of the arrangement have rights to the net assets of the arrangement.

The Group recognises its interest in a joint operation: (a) its assets, including its share of any assets held jointly; (b) its liabilities, including its share of any liabilities incurred jointly; (c) its revenue from the sale of its share of the output arising from the joint operation; (d) its share of the revenue from the sale of the output by the joint operation; and (e) its expenses, including its share of any expenses incurred jointly.

7. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash comprises the Group's cash on hand and deposits that can be readily withdrawn on demand. Cash equivalents are short-term, highly liquid investments held by the Group, that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

8. Foreign currency transactions and foreign currency translations

The Group translates the amounts of foreign currency transactions into its functional currency.

Foreign currency transactions are initially recorded using the functional currency rates ruling at the dates of the transactions. Monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are translated into functional currencies at the rates of exchange ruling at the balance sheet date. All differences are taken to the statement of profit or loss, except those arising from the principals and interest on foreign currency borrowings specifically for the purpose of acquisition, construction or production of qualifying assets. Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at historical cost are translated into functional currencies using the foreign exchange rate at the transaction dates.

Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at fair value are translated using the foreign exchange rate at the date the fair value is determined; the exchange differences are recognised in the statement of profit or loss or other comprehensive income depending on the characteristics of the non-monetary items.

For foreign operations, the Group translates functional currencies of overseas businesses into RMB when preparing financial statements. All assets and liabilities are translated at the rates of exchange ruling at the balance sheet date; the shareholders' equity, with the exception of retained earnings, is translated at the rates of exchange ruling at the transaction dates; all income and expense items in the statement of profit or loss are translated at the average rates of exchange during the period. Exchange fluctuations arising from the translation mentioned above are recognised as other comprehensive income. When an overseas business is disposed of, the exchange fluctuation reserve of the overseas business will be transferred to the statement of profit or loss in the same period. In the case of a partial disposal, only the proportionate share of the related exchange fluctuation reserve is transferred to the statement of profit or loss.

Foreign currency cash flows and cash flows of overseas subsidiaries are translated into RMB at the rates of exchange ruling at the dates of the cash flows. The effect of changes in rates of exchange on cash and cash equivalents is presented separately in the statement of cash flows.

9. Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity.

Recognition and derecognition of financial instruments

The Group recognises a financial asset or a financial liability when it becomes a party to the contractual provisions of a financial instrument.

A financial asset (or part of a financial asset, or part of a group of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognised (i.e., removed from the account and the balance sheet) when the following conditions are met:

- (1) the rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired; or
- (2) the Group has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset, or has assumed an obligation to pay them in full without material delay to a third party under a “pass-through arrangement”; and either (a) has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or (b) has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

A financial liability is derecognised when the underlying obligation of the financial liability has been discharged or cancelled or has expired. If an existing financial liability is replaced by the same creditor with a new financial liability that has substantially different terms, or if the terms of an existing financial liability are substantially revised, such replacement or revision is accounted for as the derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability, and the resulting difference is recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

Regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognised and derecognised on the trade date. Regular way purchases or sales of financial assets refer to that the financial assets are delivered to or by the Group under the terms of a contract within a period as specified by regulation or convention in the market place. The trade date is the date that the Group commits to purchase or sell the asset.

Classification and measurement of financial assets

Financial assets are, on initial recognition, classified into the following categories: financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, held-to-maturity investments, loans and receivables and available-for-sale financial assets. A financial asset is recognised initially at fair value. In the case of financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, relevant transaction costs are directly charged to profit or loss for the current period; transaction costs relating to financial assets of other categories are included in the value initially recognised.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss include financial assets held for trading and financial assets designated as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss on initial recognition. A financial asset held for trading is the financial asset that meets one of the following conditions: 1) the financial asset is acquired for the purpose of sale in a short term; 2) the financial asset is a part of a portfolio of identifiable financial instruments that are collectively managed, and there is objective evidence indicating that the enterprise recently manages this portfolio for the purpose of short-term profits; or 3) the financial asset is a derivative, except for a derivative that is designated as an effective hedging instrument, or a financial guarantee contract, or a derivative that is linked to and must be settled by delivery of an unquoted equity instrument whose fair value cannot be reliably measured. These kinds of financial assets are subsequently measured at fair value. All the realised or unrealised gains or losses on these financial assets are recognised in profit or loss for the current period. Dividend income or interest income related to financial assets at fair value through profit or loss is charged to profit or loss for the current period.

Held-to-maturity investments

Held-to-maturity investments are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturity that an entity has the positive intention and ability to hold to maturity. These kinds of financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method. Gains or losses arising from amortisation or impairment and derecognition are recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

Loans and receivables

Loans and receivables are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. These kinds of financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method. Gains or losses arising from amortisation or impairment are recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

Available-for-sale financial assets

Available-for-sale financial assets are those non-derivative financial assets that are designated as available for sale or are not classified as (a) loans and receivables, (b) held-to-maturity investments or (c) financial assets at fair value through profit or loss. After initial recognition, available-for-sale financial assets are measured at fair value. The premium or discount is amortised using the effective interest rate method and recognised as interest income or expense. A gain or loss arising from a change in the fair value of an available-for-sale financial asset is recognised as other comprehensive income, except for impairment losses and foreign exchange gains or losses resulted from monetary financial assets, until the financial asset is derecognised or determined to be impaired, at which time the accumulated gain or loss previously recognised is transferred to profit or loss for the current period. Interest and dividends relating to an available-for-sale financial asset are recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

Investments in equity instruments, which do not have quoted prices in an active market and whose fair values cannot be reliably measured, are measured at cost.

Classification and measurement of financial liabilities

The Group's financial liabilities are, on initial recognition, classified into financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss and other financial liabilities. For financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, relevant transaction costs are directly recognised in profit or loss for the current period, and transaction costs relating to other financial liabilities are included in the amounts at initial recognition.

The subsequent measurement of financial liabilities is determined by their classification as follows:

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are financial liabilities that meet one of the following conditions: 1) financial liabilities are assumed for the purpose of repurchasing in a short term; 2) financial liabilities are a part of a portfolio of identifiable financial instruments that are collectively managed, and there is objective evidence indicating that the enterprise recently manages this portfolio for the purpose of short-term profits; or 3) financial liabilities are derivatives, except for derivatives that are designated as effective hedging instruments, or financial guarantee contracts, or derivatives that are linked to and must be settled by delivery of an equity instrument without a quoted price in an active market, and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured. These kinds of financial liabilities are subsequently measured at fair value. All the realised or unrealised gains or losses on these financial liabilities are recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

Other financial liabilities

After initial recognition, these kinds of financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method.

Offsetting financial assets and financial liabilities

A financial asset and a financial liability shall be offset and the net amount presented in the balance sheet if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

Financial guarantee contracts

A financial guarantee contract is a contract that requires the issuer to settle a debt or assume a liability to reimburse the holder for a loss it incurs because a specified debtor fails to make payment when due in accordance with the terms of a debt instrument. Financial guarantee contracts are measured, on initial recognition, at fair value. For financial guarantee contracts that are not designated as at fair value through profit or loss, they are, after initial recognition, subsequently measured at the higher of: (i) the amount of the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the balance sheet date; and (ii) the amount initially recognised less the accumulated amortisation determined according to the principles of revenue recognition.

Convertible bonds

The Group evaluates the terms of the convertible bond to determine whether it contains both the liability and equity components. If the convertible bond contains both the liability and equity components, on initial recognition, the liability component is separated from the equity component. The fair value of the liability component is determined and initially recognised, and then the remainder of the proceeds is allocated to the equity component that is recognised and included in shareholders' equity, net of transaction costs. Transaction costs are apportioned between the liability and equity components based on their fair values. The liability component is recognised in liability, and measured at amortised cost until cancellation, conversion or redemption. The equity component is recognised in equity, and not remeasured in subsequent years.

If the conversion option of convertible bonds exhibits characteristics of an embedded derivative, it is separated from the convertible bonds and accounted for as derivative financial instruments. On initial recognition, the derivative component of the convertible bonds is measured at fair value. Any excess of proceeds over the amount initially recognised as the derivative component is recognised as the liability component. Transaction costs are apportioned between the liability and derivative components of the convertible bonds based on the allocation of proceeds to the liability and derivative components when the instruments are initially recognised. The portion of the transaction costs relating to the liability component is recognised initially as part of the liability. The portion relating to the derivative component is recognised immediately in the statement of profit or loss.

Impairment of financial assets

The Group assesses at the balance sheet date the carrying amount of financial assets. If there is objective evidence indicating a financial asset may be impaired, a provision is made for the impairment. Objective evidence that a financial asset is impaired is one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the asset and have an impact (which can be reliably estimated) on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset. Objective evidence that a financial asset or group of assets is impaired includes: 1) significant financial difficulty of the issuer or obligor; 2) a breach of contract, such as a default or delinquency in interest or principal payments; 3) a higher probability that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or other financial reorganisation; and 4) observable data indicating that there is a measurable decrease in the estimated future cash flows.

If an impairment loss on a financial asset has been incurred, the carrying amount of the asset is reduced through an allowance amount to the present value of estimated future cash flows (excluding future credit losses that have not been incurred). Impairment is recognised in profit or loss for the current period. The present value of estimated future cash flows is discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate (i.e., effective interest rate computed on initial recognition) and includes the value of any related collateral. Subsequent to the Group's recognition of impairment loss on a financial asset carried at amortised cost, the interest income is measured by applying the discount rate in the future cash flow estimation when measuring the impairment loss. For loans and receivables, if no collectable future cash flows are expected and all related collateral is sold or transferred to the Group, then loans and receivables with related allowances are written off.

For a financial asset that is individually significant, the asset is individually assessed for impairment, and the amount of impairment is recognised in profit or loss if there is objective evidence of impairment. For a financial asset that is not individually significant, the asset is also individually assessed for impairment. If no objective evidence of impairment incurs for an individually assessed financial asset (whether the financial asset is individually significant or not individually significant), it is included in a group of financial assets with similar credit risk characteristics and collectively assessed for impairment. Assets for which an impairment loss is individually recognised are not included in a group of financial assets with similar credit risk characteristics and collectively assessed for impairment.

Subsequent to the Group's recognition of impairment loss on a financial asset carried at amortised cost, if there is objective evidence of a recovery in value of the financial asset and the recovery can be related to an event occurring after the impairment is recognised, the previously recognised impairment loss is reversed and recognised in profit or loss. However, the reversal shall not result in a carrying amount of the financial asset that exceeds what the amortised cost would have been had the impairment loss not been recognised at the date the impairment was reversed.

If there is objective evidence that such an asset is impaired, the accumulated loss arising from decline in fair value previously recognised in other comprehensive income is removed and recognised in profit or loss. The amount of accumulated losses removed from other comprehensive income is the difference between the acquisition cost (net of any principal repayment and amortisation) and the current fair value, less any impairment loss on the financial asset previously recognised in profit or loss.

The objective evidence showing the impairment of an equity instrument held for sale includes the severe decline and the other-than-temporary decline of its fair value. There should be a method to distinguish the “severe” decline and the “other-than-temporary” one. The gap between the fair value and the cost decides how severe the impairment is. The persistence of the difference between the fair value and the cost decides whether it is “other-than-temporary”. With the existence of objective evidence showing the impairment, the amount of the cumulative loss that is reclassified from equity to profit or loss shall be the difference between the acquisition cost and the current fair value, less any impairment loss on that financial asset previously recognised in profit or loss. The impairment loss of an equity instrument held for sale cannot be reversed through profit or loss, and any increase in fair value that occurs after the impairment is recognised directly in other comprehensive income.

Judgemental decisions are made to distinguish the “severe” decline and the “other-than-temporary” one. The Group included the difference between the acquisition cost and the current fair value, terms of the equity instrument held for sale, and other factors into consideration.

For an available-for-sale debt instrument, the impairment loss is measured as impairment of a financial asset carried at amortised cost. However, the amount of the cumulative loss that is reclassified from equity to profit or loss shall be the difference between the amortised cost and the current fair value, less any impairment loss on that financial asset previously recognised in profit or loss. Subsequent to the Group’s recognition of impairment loss on a financial asset carried at amortised cost, the interest income is measured by applying the discount rate in the future cash flow estimation when measuring the impairment loss.

If, after an impairment loss has been recognised on an available-for-sale debt instrument, the fair value of the debt instrument increases in a subsequent period and the increase can be objectively related to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognised, the impairment loss is reversed with the amount of the reversal recognised in profit or loss.

Financial assets carried at cost

If there is objective evidence that such an asset is impaired, the difference between its carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows which are discounted at the current market interest rate is recognised as an impairment loss in profit or loss. Once an impairment loss is recognised, it cannot be reversed.

Transfers of financial assets

If the Group transfers substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of a financial asset, the Group derecognises the financial asset; if the Group retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of a financial asset, the Group does not derecognise a financial asset.

If the Group neither transfers nor retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of a financial asset, it accounts for the transactions as follows: (i) if the Group has not retained control, it derecognises the financial asset and recognises any resulting assets or liabilities; and (ii) if the Group has retained control, it continues to recognise the financial asset to the extent of its continuing involvement in the transferred financial asset and recognises an associated liability.

When the entity's continuing involvement takes the form of guaranteeing the transferred asset, the extent of the entity's continuing involvement is the lower of (i) the amount of the asset and (ii) the maximum amount of the consideration received that the entity could be required to repay (the "guarantee amount").

10. Receivables

The Group's receivables comprise accounts receivable, advances to suppliers, other receivables and long-term accounts receivable. The Group assesses the carrying amount of receivables at the balance sheet date. If there is objective evidence that impairment loss has been incurred, a provision, which is the difference between the carrying amount and the present value of the estimated future cash flows, is recognised as impairment loss.

- (1) Receivables individually significant for which provision for impairment is assessed separately

A receivable with an amount greater than RMB10,000,000 is considered to be individually significant and is separately assessed for provision. If there is objective evidence that a receivable is impaired (such as the debtor in serious financial difficulties or entering bankruptcy, or breach of contracts), the amount of the loss is measured as the difference between the receivable's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows, and shall be recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

2016 (All amounts in RMB'000 unless otherwise stated)

- (2) Receivables for which provision for impairment is assessed collectively in a group

Receivables that are not individually significant and receivables that are not impaired through the individual assessment are included in a group of receivables with similar credit risk characteristics and tested collectively for impairment. The Group estimated the future cash flows of the receivables based on its experiences and applied the ageing analysis method on the recognition of provision for impairment of the receivables. The provision rates were as follows:

	Provision rate for accounts receivable	Provision rate for other receivables
Within 6 months	–	–
6 months to 1 year (inclusive)	0.5	0.5
1 to 2 years (inclusive)	5	5
2 to 3 years (inclusive)	10	10
3 to 5 years (inclusive)	30	30
Over 5 years	80	80

In addition, retention money receivables are overdue if they have not been released by the customers after the maintenance (warranty) period according to the relevant contract terms, and impairment losses for the overdue retentions are assessed based on the above provision rates, with ageing counted from the due date.

- (3) Other individually insignificant receivables but are separately tested for impairment

Receivables, that are individually insignificant and could not be grouped by the similar or related risk characteristics, are individually assessed for impairment. If there is objective evidence that a receivable is impaired (such as the debtor encountering serious financial difficulties or bankruptcy, or breach of contracts), the amount of the impairment loss is measured as the difference between the receivables' carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows and shall be recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

11. Inventories

Inventories include raw materials, work in progress, finished goods, turnover materials, properties under development, completed properties held for sale and gross amount due from contract customers. Costs of properties under development and completed properties held for sale mainly consist of the acquisition cost of land use rights, advance expenditures of land development, construction costs, infrastructure costs, costs of supporting facilities and other relevant costs.

Inventories are initially carried at actual cost. Cost of inventories comprises all costs of purchase, costs of conversion and other costs. The actual cost of inventories transferred out is determined using the weighted average method. Turnover materials include low value consumables and packing materials. Low value consumables and packing materials are charged to the statement of profit or loss when issued, and other turnover materials are amortised based on the number of times that they are estimated to be used.

Inventories are accounted for using the perpetual inventory system.

At each balance sheet date, inventories shall be measured at the lower of cost and net realisable value. If the cost is in excess of amounts expected to be realised from their sale or use, provision for inventories is recognised in the statement of profit or loss. When the circumstances that previously caused inventories to be written down below cost no longer exist and the net realisable value is higher than the carrying amount, the original amount of the write-down is reversed and charged to the statement of profit or loss for the current period.

Net realisable value is the estimated selling price under normal business terms deducted by the estimated costs to completion, the estimated selling expenses and related taxes. Provision is considered on a category basis for inventories in large quantity and with relatively low unit prices and on an individual basis for all other inventories.

12. Construction contracts

The balances of construction contracts represent the net amount of construction costs incurred to date and recognised profits (less recognised losses), less progress billings and provision for foreseeable contract losses.

Construction contract costs are valued at actual cost, and comprise direct materials, direct labour costs, construction machinery costs, other direct costs and construction overheads. For an individual contract whose costs incurred to date plus recognised profits (less recognised losses) exceed progress billings, the gross amount due from customers for contract work in inventories is presented as a current asset. For an individual contract whose progress billings exceed costs incurred to date plus recognised profits (less recognised losses), the gross amount due to customers for contract work in advance from customers is presented as a current liability.

The Group estimates total contract costs based on actual circumstances for each contract. Provision for foreseeable contract losses will be recognised in profit or loss where total estimated contract costs exceed total contract revenue.

13. Long-term equity investments

Long-term equity investments include investments in subsidiaries, jointly controlled entities and associates.

Long-term equity investments shall be recognised at initial investment cost upon acquisition. For a long-term equity investment acquired through a business combination involving entities under common control, the initial investment cost of the long-term equity investment is the acquirer's share of the carrying value of owner's equity of the party being absorbed at the combination date; for a long-term equity investment through a business combination not involving entities under common control, the initial investment cost of the long-term equity investment is the cost of combination (for a business combination not involving entities under common control achieved in stages that involves multiple exchange transactions, the initial investment cost is carried at the aggregate of the carrying amount of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree and the new investment cost incurred on the acquisition date). The cost of combination is the aggregate of the fair values, at the acquisition date, of the assets given, liabilities incurred or assumed, and equity securities issued by the acquirer, in exchange for control of the acquiree. Other comprehensive income that consists of the initial investment cost before the date of acquisition should be reclassified to investment income when the long-term equity investments are being disposed of. For a long-term equity investment acquired otherwise than through a business combination, the initial investment cost is determined as follows: for a long-term equity investment acquired by cash, the initial investment cost is the actual purchase price paid and direct costs, taxes and other necessary expenditures directly attributable to the acquisition of the long-term equity investment; for a long-term equity investment acquired by the issue of equity securities, the initial investment cost is the fair value of the securities issued; for a long-term equity investment acquired through exchange of non-monetary assets, the initial investment cost is determined in accordance with Accounting Standard for Business Enterprises No. 7 – Exchange of Non-monetary Assets; for a long-term equity investment acquired through debt restructuring, the initial investment cost is determined in accordance with Accounting Standard for Business Enterprises No. 12 – Debt Restructuring.

The cost method is applied for long-term equity investments in the financial statements of the Company when the investee is controlled by the Company. Control refers to the right to make decision on the financial and operating policies of a company and to obtain profit from the operating activities of the company.

Under the cost method, long-term equity investment is recorded at initial investment cost. Profits or cash dividends declared to be distributed by the investee should be recognised as investment income in the current period.

The equity method is applied for long-term equity investments when the investees are jointly controlled or significantly influenced by the Group. Joint control is the agreed sharing of control over an arrangement, and exists only when the corresponding activity in relation to the arrangement requires the unanimous consent of the parties sharing control. Significant influence is the power to participate in the financial and operating policy decisions of the investee but is not control or joint control over those policies.

When the equity method is adopted, the initial cost of investment in excess of the share of the investee's fair value on identifiable net assets remains unchanged; the initial cost of the investment that falls short of the share of the investee's fair value on identifiable net assets shall be adjusted, by which the difference had been charged to the statement of profit or loss for the current period.

When the equity method is adopted, the investor recognises its investment income and adjusts the carrying amount of the investment based on the post-acquisition change in the investor's share of net profit or loss and other comprehensive income, respectively, of the investee. The recognition of the investee's results should base on the fair values of the identifiable assets of the investee according to the Group's accounting policies and accounting period. The gains and losses resulting from intercompany transactions with the investee should be eliminated to the extent of the amount attributable to the investor according to the percentage of interests the investor enjoys (but if the gains and losses belong to asset impairment losses, it should be entirely recognised). The recognition should base on the adjusted statement of profit or loss of the investee except that the assets invested or disposed of constitute a business. With respect to the long-term equity investments in associates and joint ventures acquired before the first time adoption date, the remaining equity investment difference arising from the amortisation using the straight-line method (if exists) should be recognised as investment income or loss. The investor's share of profits distribution or cash dividends declared by the investee is deducted from the carrying amount of the investment. The Group recognises net losses incurred by the investee to the extent that the carrying amount of the investment and other substantially treated as equity interests to the investee is reduced to zero, except for which the investor has extra obligation to assume loss of it. For the changes in equity in the investee other than net income, other comprehensive income and distribution of profits, the investor adjusts the carrying amount of the investment to shareholders' equity.

When long-term equity investments are being disposed of, the difference between the carrying amount and the actual proceeds received should be charged to the statement of profit or loss for the current period. For long-term equity investments under the equity method, when the investment is no longer accounted for under the equity method, the other comprehensive income measured originally under the equity method adopt the same accounting basis as the assets or liabilities disposed of by the investee directly. The equity recognised based on the changes in the investee's equity except the net profit or loss, other comprehensive income and profit appropriation shall be transferred to profit or loss for the current period in a full amount. When the investment continues to be accounted for under the equity method, the other comprehensive income measured originally under the equity method adopt the same accounting basis as the assets or liabilities disposed of by the investee directly and shall be transferred to profit or loss for the current period on a proportional basis. The equity recognised based on the changes in the investee's equity except the net profit or loss, other comprehensive income and profit appropriation shall be transferred to profit or loss for the current period on a proportional basis.

If the disposal of the equity investment in a subsidiary is realised through several transactions until loss of control and is a package deal, the accounting treatment of these transactions should be dealt with as one transaction of disposal of the subsidiary until loss of control. However, prior to the loss of control, the difference between the proceeds from the disposal of the long-term equity investment and the carrying amount of the corresponding long-term equity investment under each transaction is recognised in other comprehensive income in the individual financial statements which shall be transferred in an aggregate amount to profit or loss for the period upon loss of control. If the disposal of the equity investment of a subsidiary is realised through several transactions until loss of control but is not a package deal, each transaction should be dealt individually. For the transactions that lead to loss of control, the remaining equity, which has joint control of or has significant influence in the original subsidiary, should be recognised as long-term equity investment in accordance with the relevant rules of converting the cost method to the equity method. Otherwise, the remaining equity should be recognised as a financial instrument, and the difference between the carrying amount and the fair value as of the date on which the Group loses control should be charged to the statement of profit or loss for the current period.

14. Investment properties

An investment property is a property held to earn rentals or for capital appreciation or both, including buildings or land use rights that have been leased out, and land use rights held for capital appreciation.

Investment properties are initially measured at cost. Subsequent expenditure incurred in relation to an investment property is included in the cost of the investment property when it is probable that the associated economic benefits will flow to the Group and the cost can be measured reliably; otherwise, the expenditure is recognised in profit or loss for the period in which it is incurred.

The Group adopts the cost model for subsequent measurement of investment properties. Buildings and land use rights are depreciated or amortised based on the same policy as owner-occupied buildings and land use rights.

When an investment property is transferred to an owner-occupied property, it is reclassified as a fixed asset or intangible asset at the date of transfer. When a property under development, completed property for sale or an owner-occupied property is transferred out to earn rentals or for capital appreciation, the inventory, fixed asset or intangible asset is reclassified as investment property at its carrying amount at the date of transfer.

The investment property's estimated useful life, net residual value and depreciation (amortisation) method applied are reviewed and adjusted as appropriate at each year end.

An investment property is derecognised on disposal or when the investment property is permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefits are expected from its disposal. The net amount of proceeds from sale, transfer, retirement or damage of an investment property after deducting its carrying amount and related taxes and expenses is recognised in profit or loss for the period in which it is incurred.

The carrying amount of an investment property is reduced to the recoverable amount if the carrying amount is below the recoverable amount.

II. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ESTIMATES (CONTINUED)

15. Fixed assets

A fixed asset is recognised only when the economic benefits associated with the asset will probably flow to the Group and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably. Subsequent expenditure incurred for a fixed asset that meets the recognition criteria shall be included in the cost of the fixed asset, and the carrying amount of the component of the fixed asset that is replaced shall be derecognised. Otherwise, such expenditure shall be recognised in profit or loss for the period in which it is incurred.

Fixed assets are initially measured at cost, and the effect of any estimated costs of abandoning the asset is considered. The purchase cost of a fixed asset comprises its purchase price, related taxes and any directly attributable expenditure for bringing the asset to its working condition for its intended use, such as transportation costs and installation expenses. If the payment for a purchased fixed asset is deferred beyond the normal credit terms, the cost of the fixed asset shall be determined based on the present value of the instalment payments. The difference between the actual payment and the present value of the purchase price is recognised in profit or loss over the credit period, except for such difference that is capitalised according to Accounting Standard for Business Enterprises No. 17 – Borrowing Costs.

The accelerated depreciation method is adopted for depreciation of the fixed assets specifically used for research and development. The units of production method is adopted for the depreciation of the large-scaled construction equipment. For other fixed assets, the straight-line method is adopted. The estimated useful lives, estimated residual values rates and annual depreciation rates of fixed assets by category are as follows:

Category	Estimated residual value rate	Useful life	Annual depreciation rate
Buildings	5%	20–35 years	2.71%–4.75%
Machinery	5%	10–25 years	3.80%–9.50%
Vehicles	5%	5–10 years	9.50%–19.00%
Production equipment	5%	5–10 years	9.50%–19.00%
Measuring and testing equipment	5%	5 years	19.00%
Others	5%	3–5 years	19.00%–31.67%

Where the individual component parts of a fixed asset have different useful lives or provide benefits to the enterprise in different patterns, different depreciation rates are applied.

Fixed assets that are held under finance leases shall be depreciated by applying the same policy as that for the fixed assets owned by the Group. If it can be reasonably determined that the ownership of the leased asset can be obtained at the end of the lease period, the leased asset is depreciated over its useful life; otherwise, the leased asset is depreciated over the shorter of the lease term and its useful life.

The Group reviews the useful life and estimated net residual value of a fixed asset and the depreciation method applied at least at each financial year end, and adjustments are made when necessary.

16. Construction in progress

Construction in progress is recognised based on the actual construction expenditures incurred. It consists of all types of expenditures necessarily to be incurred, capitalised borrowing costs on related borrowed funds before the asset is ready for its intended use, and other related expenditures during the period of construction.

Construction in progress is transferred to fixed assets and intangible assets when the asset is ready for its intended use.

17. Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs are interest and other costs arising from the Group's borrowings. Borrowing costs include interest, amortisation of discounts or premiums, ancillary expenses and exchange differences arising from foreign currency borrowings.

All the borrowing costs directly attributable to the construction or production of all qualifying assets are capitalised and other borrowing costs are recognised as an expense. A qualifying asset is defined as a fixed asset, investment property or inventory that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale.

Capitalisation of borrowing costs commences only when all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- (1) expenditures for the asset are being incurred;
- (2) borrowing costs are being incurred; and
- (3) activities relating to the acquisition, construction or production of the asset that are necessary to bring the asset to get ready for its intended use or sale have commenced.

Capitalisation of borrowing costs ceases when the qualifying asset being acquired, constructed or produced becomes ready for its intended use or sale. Any borrowing costs subsequently incurred are recognised as expenses in the period in which they are incurred.

During the capitalisation period, the amount of interest to be capitalised for each accounting period shall be determined as follows:

- (1) for specific borrowings, the borrowing costs eligible for capitalisation are the actual borrowing costs incurred during the current period deducted by any temporary interest or investment income; and
- (2) for general borrowings, the borrowing costs eligible for capitalisation are determined by applying a capitalisation rate to the capital expenditure that accumulated capital expenditures exceed the specific borrowings.

Capitalisation of borrowing costs is suspended during extended periods in which the acquisition or construction of a fixed asset is interrupted abnormally and the interruption lasts for more than three months, until the acquisition or construction is resumed. Borrowing costs incurred during the suspension period are recognised as expenses until the acquisition or construction of a fixed asset is resumed.

18. Intangible assets

The Group's intangible assets include land use rights, concession asset, and mining rights.

An intangible asset shall be recognised only when it is probable that the related economic benefits will flow to the Group and the costs of which can be measured reliably. Intangible assets are measured initially at cost. However, intangible assets acquired in a business combination involving entities not under common control with a fair value that can be measured reliably are recognised separately as intangible assets and measured at fair value at the date of acquisition.

The useful lives of intangible assets are assessed based on estimated economic benefit periods. Those intangible assets without foreseeable economic benefit periods are classified as intangible assets with indefinite useful lives.

Intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortised over the useful lives on the traffic volume basis, straight-line basis or unit of production basis. The Group reviews the useful lives and the amortisation method of intangible assets with finite useful lives, and adjusts if appropriate, at least at each year end.

Land use rights

Land use rights represent costs incurred for a certain lease period.

The Group accounts for its land use rights as intangible assets. The land use rights are measured as intangible assets that are separate from internally generated buildings measured as fixed assets. With respect to the land use rights purchased together with buildings, the acquisition cost is allocated between the two parts proportionately, or otherwise, is wholly accounted for as fixed assets.

Land use rights of the Group are amortised on the straight-line basis according to the useful lives approved in the obtained land use certificates.

Concession assets

The Group engages in certain service concession arrangements in which the Group carries out construction work (such as turnpike highways and bridges) for the granting authority and receives in exchange a right to operate the assets concerned in accordance with the pre-established conditions set by the granting authority. The assets under the concession arrangements may be classified as intangible assets or receivables from the granting authority. The Group recognises revenue and a financial asset to the extent that it has an unconditional contractual right to receive a specified or determinable amount of cash or another financial asset from the granting authority, or to receive the shortfall, if any, between amounts received from users of the public service and specified or determinable amounts. If the Group receives a right to charge users of public service, with an undeterminable amount, the assets are classified as intangible assets and the Group recognises revenue at the same time. The Group classifies the non-current assets relating to the long-term investment in these concession arrangements as "concession assets" within intangible assets on the balance sheet if the intangible asset model is adopted. The amortisation approach, either the traffic volume method or the straight-line method, should be selected for concession operation projects based on the pattern in which the asset's future economic benefits are expected to be consumed at the commencement of operations.

Mining rights

Mining rights are stated at cost incurred to obtain the mining license. Amortisation is calculated in adoption of the unit of production method based on proved mining reserves.

Development expenditure

The Group classifies the expenditure in an internal research and development project into expenditure in the research phase and expenditure in the development phase. Expenditure in the research phase is recognised in profit or loss for the period in which it is incurred. Expenditure in the development phase is capitalised when the Group can demonstrate all of the following: (i) the technical feasibility of completing the intangible asset so that it will be available for use or sale; (ii) the intention to complete the intangible asset and use or sell it; (iii) how the intangible asset will generate probable future economic benefits. Among other things, the Group can demonstrate the existence of a market for the output of the intangible asset or the intangible asset itself or, if it is to be used internally, the usefulness of the intangible asset; (iv) the availability of adequate technical, financial and other resources to complete the development and the ability to use or sell the intangible asset; and (v) the expenditure attributable to the intangible asset during its development can be measured reliably. Expenditure in the development phase that does not meet the above criteria is recognised in profit or loss for the period in which it is incurred.

19. Long-term prepayments

Long-term prepayments represent expenditures incurred but should be recognised as expenses over one year in the current and subsequent periods including costs of improvements to fixed assets under operating leases. Long-term prepayments are amortised on the straight-line basis over the estimated beneficial period. Expenditure incurred during the pre-operating period should be recognised in profit or loss immediately as incurred.

20. Provisions

Except for contingent considerations transferred and contingent liabilities assumed in business combinations, the Group recognises an obligation related to a contingency as a provision when all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- (1) the obligation is a present obligation of the Group;
- (2) it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits from the Group will be required to settle the obligation; and
- (3) the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably.

A provision is initially measured at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the related present obligation, with a comprehensive consideration of factors such as the risks, uncertainty and time value of money relating to a contingency. The carrying amount of a provision is reviewed at the balance sheet date. If there is clear evidence that the carrying amount does not reflect the current best estimate, the carrying amount is adjusted to the best estimate.

A contingent liability recognised in a business combination is initially measured at its fair value. Subsequently, it is measured at the higher of (i) the amount that would be recognised in accordance with the general guidance for provisions above; and (ii) the amount initially recognised less, when appropriate, cumulative amortisation recognised in accordance with the principle of revenue recognition.

21. Revenue

Revenue is recognised only when it is probable that the associated economic benefits will flow to the Group and when the revenue can be measured reliably, as well as all the following conditions are satisfied:

Revenue from construction contracts

When the outcome of a construction contract can be estimated reliably, contract revenue and contract costs associated with the construction contract are recognised using the percentage of completion method at the balance sheet date. Depending on the type of the construction contract, the percentage of completion of a contract is determined in the following ways: (1) the proportion of contract costs incurred to date to estimated total contract costs; (2) the proportion of completed contract work that has been confirmed by the supervision party to the estimated total contract work; or (3) surveys of the work performed.

The outcome of a construction contract is considered to be reliably estimated when all the following conditions are satisfied:

- (1) the total contract revenue can be measured reliably;
- (2) it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the contract will flow to the Group;
- (3) both the contract costs to complete the contract and the stage of contract completion on the balance sheet date can be measured reliably; and
- (4) the contract costs attributable to the contract can be clearly identified and measured reliably so that actual contract costs incurred can be compared with prior estimates.

2016 (All amounts in RMB'000 unless otherwise stated)

When the outcome of a construction contract cannot be estimated reliably, revenue shall be recognised only to the extent of the contract costs actually incurred and expected to be recovered, and the contract costs shall be recognised as an expense in the period in which they are incurred. Contract costs that are not probably to be recovered are recognised as an expense immediately when incurred and no contract revenue shall be recognised. When it is probable that total contract costs will exceed total contract revenue, the estimated loss shall be recognised as an expense immediately.

Total contract revenue comprises the initial amount of revenue agreed in the contract and amounts resulting from variations in contract work, claims and incentive payments.

Revenue from the rendering of services

When the outcome of a transaction involving the rendering of services can be estimated reliably at the balance sheet date, revenue associated with the transaction is recognised using the percentage of completion method. Based on the nature of the transaction, the percentage of completion is determined in the following ways: (1) the proportion of costs incurred to date to the estimated total costs; (2) surveys of work performed; or (3) the proportion of services performed to date to the total services to be performed. Concession revenue is recognised when it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Group and the amount of the revenue can be measured reliably.

The outcome of rendering services can be estimated reliably when the following conditions are satisfied:

- (1) the amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- (2) it is probable that the associated economic benefits will flow to the Group;
- (3) both the service costs to be incurred for the transaction and the stage of transaction completion on the balance sheet date can be measured reliably; and
- (4) the actual costs incurred can be clearly identified and measured reliably, so as to compare with prior estimates.

The total service revenue is determined in accordance with the consideration received or receivable from the recipient of services under contract or agreement, except where the consideration received or receivable under contract or agreement is not at fair value.

When the outcome of a transaction involving the rendering of services cannot be estimated reliably, revenue shall be recognised only to the extent of costs incurred that probably will be recovered, and costs shall be recognised as an expense in the period in which they are incurred. When it is probable that total service costs will exceed total revenue, the estimated loss shall be recognised as an expense immediately.

When the Group has entered into a contract or agreement with other enterprises on both the sale of goods and the rendering of services, if the portions of the sale of goods and the rendering of services can be separately identified and measured, they are accounted for separately; if the portions of the sale of goods and the rendering of services cannot be separately identified, or can be separately identified but cannot be separately measured, the contract is treated as the sales of goods.

Revenue from the sale of goods

Revenue from the sale of goods is recognised when the significant risks and rewards in relation to the ownership of goods have been transferred to the buyer, the Group retains neither continuing management nor effective control over the goods sold; and the relevant amounts of costs can be measured reliably. The amount of revenue arising from the sale of goods is determined by the amount of consideration received or receivable from the buyer under the contract or agreement, except where the consideration received or receivable stipulated in the contract or agreement is not fair. Where the consideration receivable under the contract or agreement is deferred so that the arrangement is in substance of a financing nature, the amount of revenue from the sale of goods is measured at the fair value of the consideration receivable.

Interest income

Interest income is recognised based on the time horizon of the use of the Group's fund by others and the effective interest rate.

Royalty income

Royalty income is recognised according to the charge period and the charge rate as stipulated in the relevant contract or agreement.

Lease income

Lease income from operating leases is recognised over the lease term on the straight-line basis. Contingent lease income is recognised in profit or loss in the period when it is incurred.

2016 (All amounts in RMB'000 unless otherwise stated)

III. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ESTIMATES (CONTINUED)

22. Government grants

Government grants are recognised when all attaching conditions will be complied with and the grant can be received. If a government grant is in the form of a transfer of a monetary asset, it is measured at the amount received or receivable. If a government grant is in the form of a transfer of a non-monetary asset, it is measured at fair value; if fair value is not reliably determinable, it is measured at a nominal amount.

Grants related to assets are government grants whose primary condition is that an entity qualifying for them should purchase, construct or otherwise acquire long-term assets pursuant to government provisions. When government provisions are not stated clearly, subsidiary conditions restricting the fundamental conditions of acquiring the grant may also be attached. Grants related to income are government grants other than those related to assets.

A government grant related to income is accounted for as follows: (a) if the grant is a compensation for related expenses or losses to be incurred in subsequent periods, the grant is recognised as deferred income, and recognised in profit or loss over the periods in which the related costs are recognised; and (b) if the grant is a compensation for related expenses or losses already incurred, it is recognised immediately in profit or loss for the current period. A government grant related to an asset shall be recognised as deferred income, and evenly amortised to profit or loss over the useful life of the related asset. However, a government grant measured at a nominal amount is recognised immediately in profit or loss for the current period.

Relocation compensation received due to public interests

The Group receives relocation compensation from the government for the benefit of public interests such as urban overall planning, reservoir construction, and transformation of squatter settlements and settling area control. The relocation compensation is paid out of financial budgets by the government and is recognised as special payable when received. Compensation granted for losses of fixed assets and intangible assets, expenses incurred, losses from suspension of projects, and assets to be constructed after the relocation, should be transferred to deferred income, and recognised as government grants relating to assets or expenses accordingly. Excess of the relocation compensation over the amount transferred to deferred income should be recorded in capital reserve.

23. Income tax

Income tax comprises current and deferred tax. Income tax is recognised as income or expense in the statement of profit or loss for the current period, except for the tax arising from adjustment of goodwill arising from a business combination, or recognised directly in shareholders' equity if it arises from a transaction or event which is recognised directly in shareholders' equity.

Current tax assets and liabilities for the current and prior periods are measured at the amount expected to be recovered or paid according to the taxation laws and regulations.

23. Income tax (Continued)

Based on the differences between the carrying amount of an asset or liability on the balance sheet and its tax base; and the differences between the carrying amount of some items that have a tax base but are not recognised as assets and liabilities and their tax base, the Group adopts the liability method for the provision for deferred tax.

A deferred tax liability is recognised for all taxable temporary differences, except:

- (1) where taxable temporary differences arise from the initial recognition of goodwill, or the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination, and at the time of the transaction, it affects neither accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; or
- (2) taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures, where the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences can be controlled by the Group and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

A deferred tax asset is recognised for deductible temporary differences, carryforward of unused deductible tax losses and tax credits, to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carryforward of deductible tax losses and tax credits can be utilised, except:

- (1) where the deferred tax asset arises from a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, neither affects the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; or
- (2) deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures, a deferred tax asset is only recognised to the extent that it is probable that the temporary differences will reverse in the foreseeable future and taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised in the future.

At the balance sheet date, deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are estimated to apply to the period when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, according to the requirements of tax laws. The measurement of deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Group expects, at the balance sheet date, to recover the assets or settle the liabilities.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the balance sheet date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available in future periods to allow the deferred tax assets to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are reassessed at the balance sheet date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

24. Leases

A finance lease is a lease that transfers in substance all the risks and rewards of ownership of an asset. All the other leases are treated as operating leases.

As lessee of an operating lease

Lease payments under an operating lease are recognised by a lessee on the straight-line basis over the lease terms, and either included in the cost of the related asset or charged to profit or loss for the current period. Contingent rents are charged to profit or loss when incurred.

As lessor of an operating lease

Rental income under an operating lease is recognised by a lessor on the straight-line basis over the lease terms through profit or loss. Contingent rents are charged to profit or loss in the period in which they actually arise.

As lessee of a finance lease

An asset held under a finance lease is recognised at the lease commencement date at the lower of its fair value at the lease commencement date and the present value of the minimum lease payments, and the minimum lease payment is recorded as the carrying amount of the long-term payables; and the difference between the recorded amount of the leased asset and the recorded amount of the payable is accounted for as unrecognised finance charge, which is amortised using the effective interest rate method over each period during the lease term. Contingent rents are charged to profit or loss in the period in which they actually arise.

25. Impairment of assets

The Group determines the impairment of assets, other than the impairment of inventories, construction contracts, deferred income taxes, and financial assets, using the following methods:

The Group assesses at the balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists that an asset may be impaired, the Group estimates the recoverable amount of the asset and performs test for impairment. Goodwill arising from a business combination and an intangible asset with an indefinite useful life is tested for impairment at least at each year end, irrespective of whether there is any indication that the asset may be impaired. Intangible assets that have not been ready for intended use are tested for impairment each year.

The recoverable amount of an asset is the higher of its fair value less costs to sell and the present value of the future cash flows estimated to be derived from the asset. The Group estimates the recoverable amount on an individual basis. If it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of the individual asset, the Group determines the recoverable amount of the asset group to which the asset belongs. Identification of an asset group is based on whether major cash inflows generated by the asset group are largely independent of the cash inflows from other assets or asset groups.

When the recoverable amount of an asset or an asset group is less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount is reduced to the recoverable amount. The reduction in carrying amount is treated as impairment loss and recognised in profit or loss for the current period. A provision for impairment loss on the asset is recognised accordingly.

For the purpose of impairment testing, the carrying amount of goodwill acquired in a business combination is allocated from the acquisition date on a reasonable basis to each of the related asset groups; if it is impossible to allocate to the related asset groups, it is allocated to each of the related set of asset groups. Each of the related asset groups or set of asset groups is an asset group or set of asset groups that is able to benefit from the synergies of the business combination and shall not be larger than a reportable segment determined by the Group.

In testing an asset group or a set of asset groups to which goodwill has been allocated for impairment, if there is any indication of impairment, the Group first tests the asset group or set of asset groups excluding the amount of goodwill allocated for impairment, i.e., it determines and compares the recoverable amount with the related carrying amount and recognise any impairment loss. After that, the Group tests the asset group or set of asset groups including goodwill for impairment, the carrying amount (including the portion of the carrying amount of goodwill allocated) of the related asset group or set of asset groups is compared to its recoverable amount. If the carrying amount of the asset group or set of asset groups is higher than its recoverable amount, the amount of the impairment loss is first reduced by the carrying amount of the goodwill allocated to the asset group or set of asset groups, and then the carrying amount of other assets (other than the goodwill) within the asset group or set of asset groups, pro rata based on the carrying amount of each asset.

Once the above impairment loss is recognised, it cannot be reversed in the subsequent accounting periods.

26. Employee benefits

Employee benefits are all forms of considerations given by an entity in exchange for services rendered by employees or for the termination of employment. Employee benefits include short-term benefits, post-employment benefits, termination benefits and other long-term employee benefits. The benefits the Group provided to employees' spouses, children, dependent, and families of deceased employees also belong to employee benefits.

Short-term benefits

In the period of employee services, short-term benefits are actually recognised as liabilities and charged to profit or loss or the related costs of assets for the current period.

Post-employment benefits (defined contribution plans)

If employees of the Group participate in the endowment insurance and unemployment insurance plans managed by local governments and participate in the supplementary pension plans of the Group as well, the relevant expenditures are recorded in the relevant capital costs and expenses in the period when incurred.

Post-employment benefits (defined benefit plans)

The Group provides benefit plans for long-term post-leaving personnel, which are considered as defined benefit plans. The Group does not put any funds in the plans; the costs of the defined benefit plans are measured using the projected cumulative unit credit method.

Any remeasurement caused by the defined benefit plans, including actuarial gains or losses, is recognised in the balance sheet immediately and recorded in equity as other comprehensive income in the accounting period the re-measurement occurred. Those losses and gains should not be recognised in profit or loss in the subsequent accounting periods.

The past service costs should be recognised as current expenses at the earlier of the following dates: a) when the Group modifies the defined benefit plans; and b) when the Group recognises relevant restructuring costs and termination benefits.

Net interest equals to the net defined benefit liability multiply by the discount rate. The Group recognised changes in the net defined benefit obligation as management expenses in the statement of profit or loss. Those changes include service costs, including current service costs, past service costs and gains and losses on settlement, and net interest, which are the interest expenses of the plan.

Termination benefits

The Group recognises a liability and expenses for termination benefits at the earlier of the following dates: a) when the Group can no longer withdraw the offer of those benefits; and b) when the entity recognises costs for restructuring and involves the payment of termination costs.

Housing funds

All full-time employees of the Group in Mainland China are entitled to participate in various government-sponsored housing funds. The Group contributes on a monthly basis to these funds based on certain percentages of the salaries of the employees. The Group's liability in respect of these funds is limited to the contributions payable in each period.

Bonus entitlements

The estimated cost of bonus payments is recognised as a liability when the Group has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of services rendered by employees and a reliable estimate of the obligation can be made. Liabilities for bonuses are estimated to be settled within twelve months and are measured at the amounts estimated to be paid when they are settled.

27. Distribution of profit

The cash dividend of the Company is recognised as a liability upon approval in the annual shareholders' meeting.

28. Perpetual securities

If the perpetual securities are non-redeemable (or only be redeemable by the issuer's choice) and any interest and dividends distributed are discretionary, then the securities are classified as equity. Distributions of interest and dividends from perpetual securities in the equity are recognised in the distribution of equity.

29. Production safety expenses

The Group accrues for production safety expenses pursuant to the Circular on Printing and Issuing the Management Measures on the Enterprise Production Safety Expenses Appropriation and Utilisation <CaiQi [2012]No.16> and the Management Measures on the Enterprises Production Safety Expenses Appropriation and Utilisation, issued by the Ministry of Finance and the State Administration of Work Safety.

Production safety expenses accrued based on the aforesaid regulations shall be recorded in the costs of related products or expenses in profit or loss for the current period, and provided as a fund in the special reserve. When the expenditures are utilised as expenses, they should be recognised in the statement of profit or loss and offset against the special reserve; when the expenditures incurred relate to fixed assets, they shall be recognised in the cost of fixed assets, which will be recognised when it is ready for use. The same amount as the expenditure will be offset against the special reserve and recorded as accumulated depreciation equivalent at the same time.

30. Fair value measurement

The Group measures its equity investments at fair value at the end of each reporting period. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either in the principal market for the asset or liability, or in the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability. The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the Group. The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Group uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole: Level 1 – based on quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities; Level 2 – based on valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is observable, either directly or indirectly; Level 3 – based on valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Group determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by reassessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

31. Significant accounting judgements and estimates

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that will affect the reported amounts of revenue, expenses, assets and liabilities, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities at the balance sheet date. However, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that could require a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of the assets or liabilities affected in the future.

Judgements

In the process of applying the Group's accounting policies, management has made the following judgements which have significant impacts on the amounts recognised in the financial statements:

Impairment of available-for-sale financial assets

The Group determines if available-for-sale investments are not temporarily impaired in accordance with Accounting Standard for Business Enterprises No. 22 – Recognition and Measurement of Financial Instruments. The determination requires significant judgement. In making this judgement, the Group evaluates various factors, including the duration and the extent to which the fair value of an investment is less than its cost. In addition, impairment may be appropriate when there is evidence of deterioration in the financial health and short-term business prospects of the investee, including industry and sector performance, changes in technology, and operating and financing cash flows, etc.

Contingent liabilities arising from litigation and claims

The Group is involved in a number of litigation and claims in respect of certain construction work performed at present and in the past. Contingent liabilities arising from these litigation and claims have been assessed by management with reference to legal advice. Provisions on the probable obligations have been made based on management's best estimates and judgements.

De facto control over subsidiaries

There are subsidiaries of the Group that the Group has equal to or less than half of the interests in these subsidiaries. The Group's management exercises its critical judgement when determining whether the Group has de facto control over an entity by evaluating its solely influence over the entity's activities, in consideration of the size of the Group's interests, relative to the size and dispersion of other shareholders' interests.

Determination of control over structured entities

The Group invests in several structured entities which are mainly engaged in infrastructure investment activities. Based on the assessment in accordance with the Accounting Standard for Business Enterprise No. 33 – Consolidated Financial Statements and Accounting Standard for Business Enterprise No. 2 – Long-term Equity Investments, the Group consolidates certain structured entities over which it has control and accounts for as joint ventures when it has joint control over the structured entities. For those that the Group has neither control nor joint control over, the Group accounts for as available-for-sale financial assets.

When the Group acts as a manager in a structured entity, the Group should determine whether the Group is a key responsible party or an agent in order to assess whether the Group controls and consolidates the structured entity. In assessing and applying its judgement, the Group considers and reassesses the factors on a periodic basis, such as the scope of decision-making rights of the manager, substantial rights held by other parties, the level of compensation received in relation to the management services rendered by the manager and the exposures of variable returns arising from any other arrangements.

Estimation uncertainty

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the balance sheet date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the future accounting periods, are discussed below.

Useful lives and residual values of fixed assets

The useful lives of fixed assets are estimated based on historical experience of the Group with similar assets used in a similar way. If useful lives of the fixed assets are estimated to be shorter than previously estimated, the Group will increase the depreciation rates accordingly, or dispose of those assets that are idle or technically obsolete.

In determining the useful lives and residual values of fixed assets, the Group periodically reviews the changes in market conditions, estimated physical wear and tear, and the maintenance of an asset. The estimation of the useful life of the asset is based on historical experience of the Group with similar assets that are used in a similar way. The depreciation amount will be adjusted if the estimated useful lives and/or the residual values of fixed assets are different from previous estimation. Useful lives and residual values are reviewed, at the end of each reporting period, based on changes in circumstances.

Income tax and deferred tax assets

The Company and its subsidiaries are subject to income taxes in numerous jurisdictions in domestic provinces and certain overseas countries. In order to reliably estimate and judge, the income tax provision is required to be determined based on existing tax laws, regulations and practices, if the relevant affairs of income tax have not yet been confirmed by relevant tax authorities. Where the final tax outcome of these matters is different from the amounts originally recorded, the differences will impact on the current period income tax provisions in the periods in which the differences arise.

Deferred tax assets relating to certain temporary differences and tax losses are recognised as management considers it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences or tax losses can be utilised. The realisation of the deferred tax assets mainly depends on whether sufficient future profits or taxable temporary differences will be available in the future. In cases where the actual future profits generated are less than estimated, a material reversal of deferred tax assets may arise, which will be recognised in the statement of profit or loss in the period in which such a reversal takes place.

Construction contract

The Group recognises revenue according to the percentage of completion of individual contracts for construction work, which requires estimation to be made by management. The stage of completion is estimated by reference to the actual costs incurred over the total budgeted costs, and the corresponding contract revenue is also estimated by management. Due to the nature of the activity undertaken in construction contracts, the date at which the activity is entered into and the date at which the activity is completed usually fall into different accounting periods. Where the actual contract revenue is less than estimated contract costs, a foreseeable loss arises and should be charged to profit or loss when incurred while provisions for foreseeable contract losses should be recognised. Hence, the Group reviews and revises the estimates of both contract revenue and contract costs in the budget prepared for each contract as the contract progresses. Where the actual contract revenue is less than estimated or actual contract costs, a foreseeable loss may arise.

Impairment of accounts receivable

The Group maintains an allowance for the estimated loss arising from the inability of its customers to make the required payments. The Group makes its estimates based on the ageing of its trade receivable balances, customers' creditworthiness, and historical write-off experience.

Provision for properties under development

The Group makes a provision for properties under development when the net realisable values of the properties under development are lower than the carrying amounts at the balance sheet date. The principal assumptions for the Group's estimation of the net realisable values of the properties under development include those related to current market prices for similar properties in the same location and condition, estimated costs to be incurred to completion of the properties and discount rates.

Impairment of goodwill

The Group determines whether goodwill is impaired at least on an annual basis. This requires an estimation of the present value of the future expected cash flows from the asset groups or set of asset groups to which the goodwill is allocated. Estimating the present value requires the Group to make an estimate of the expected future cash flows from the asset groups or set of asset groups and also choose a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value of those cash flows.

Long-term post-leaving benefits

The Group recognised the benefits paid to certain long-term post-leaving personnel as liability. The amounts of employee benefit expenses and liabilities are determined using various assumptions, estimated using the rates of return on assets, pension benefit inflation rates, medical benefit inflation rates, and other factors. Due to the long-term nature of these plans, such estimates are subject to significant uncertainty.

The differences between actual experience and assumptions are recognised immediately and therefore affect recognised other comprehensive income in the period in which such differences arise. While management believes that its assumptions are appropriate, differences in actual experience or changes in assumptions may affect other comprehensive income and balance of liabilities related to the long-term post-leaving benefit obligations.

11. Long-term receivables (Continued)

Movements in the provision for impairment of long-term receivables are as follows:

	2016	2015
Opening balance	344,757	639,503
Provision for bad debts	17,648	13,386
Reversal	(12,989)	(306,199)
Write-off	–	(1,933)
Others	1,220	–
Closing balance	350,636	344,757

The Group assesses long-term receivables for impairment provision separately that are individually significant. When there is objective evidence (such as the debtor being in serious financial difficulties, entering bankruptcy, in breach of contract or default or there being no payment and no transactions for a long time) that an impairment loss has been incurred, and the amount will be partially recovered, impairment losses will be recognised through profit or loss. As at 31 December 2016, the above provision was made for individually tested impaired long-term receivables of RMB350,636,000 (31 December 2015: RMB344,757,000) with a carrying amount before provision for impairment of RMB2,169,819,000 (31 December 2015: RMB1,071,593,000).

An ageing analysis of the Group's long-term receivables that are neither past due nor impaired, and past due but not impaired is as follows:

	31 December 2016	31 December 2015
Neither past due nor impaired	37,378,417	35,368,302
Past due but not impaired
– Within 3 months	321	198,000
– 3 to 6 months	4,128	7,049
– More than 6 months	29,451	501,914
	37,412,317	36,075,265

Long-term receivables that were past due but not impaired are due from various customers with good repayment records in the past. The Company's management believes that these customers had no significant change in credit quality, and the balances are considered fully recoverable. Therefore, no provision for impairment has been made for these long-term receivables.

	31 December 2016	31 December 2015
Defined benefit plans
– post-employment benefit expenses	969,007	1,416,464

Certain employees of the Group had completely dealt with their respective long-term post-leaving. Post-employment benefit expenses were recognised in the period in which the relevant entities of the Group have entered into agreements with the employees specifying terms, or after the individual employees have been advised of the specific terms. The specific terms vary among the terminated and post-employment benefits depending on various factors including their positions, length of service, and the district in which the employees are located.

The Group's obligations in respect of the defined benefit plans for the post-leaving personnel at the end of the reporting period were computed by an independent actuary, Towers Watson Management Consulting (Shenzhen) Co., Ltd. Beijing Branch which is a member of the Society of Actuaries of the United States of America at 31 December 2016, using the projected cumulative unit credit method.

The plan has no defined benefit plan asset.

The plan is exposed to interest rate risk and the risk of changes in the life expectancy for post-leaving personnel.

Discount rate	0.25	(8,110)	0.25	8,230
Medical expense increase rate	1.00	80	1.00	(80)

The sensitivity analysis above has been determined based on a method that extrapolates the impact on defined benefit plan obligations as a result of reasonable changes in key assumptions occurring at the balance sheet date.

2. Transfer of financial assets

Transferred financial assets that are not derecognised in their entirety

In 2016, the Group disposed the accounts receivable from the contract-issuing parties amounting to RMB1,111,313,000 and the security rights associated with (the "Underlying Asset") to a financial institution, which in turn issued asset-backed securities to investors. Since the Group did not transfer nor retain substantially all the risks and rewards of the transferred assets, and retained control of the transferred asset, the Group continued to recognise the transferred asset to the extent of its continuing involvement in the transferred asset. As at 31 December 2016, the carrying amount of the assets that the Group retains a continuing involvement was RMB67,200,000.

Transferred financial assets that are derecognised in their entirety

As at 31 December 2016, the subsidiaries of the Group have endorsed and discounted the bank acceptance bills amounting to RMB403,731,000 (2015: RMB469,391,000) to settle the accounts payable. As at 31 December 2016, for bills within 12 months, if acceptance banks dishonored the bills, endorsees shall have the right to turn to the Group for recourse ("Continuing Involvement") according to the Law of Bill. The Group considered the risks and rewards of the bills have been transferred. Therefore, the Group has terminated the related accounts payable that have been settled by the bills. The undiscounted cash flows and maximum loss of continuing involvement and repurchase equal to the book value of the bills. The Group considers the fair value of continuing involvement is not significant.

In 2016, the Group did not recognise any profit or loss at the date of transfer. The Group had no current or accumulated gains or expenses related to continuing involvement of financial assets which had been terminated. The endorsement happens evenly throughout the year.

3. Financial instrument risks

The Group's major financial instruments include loans, due to customers, bonds payable, other current liabilities, financial leasing and cash and cash equivalents. The purpose of these financial instruments is to support daily operations of the Group. The Group also has various financial assets and liabilities caused from operation, such as accounts receivable, other receivables, accounts payable, notes payable and other payables.

The major risks from the Group's financial instruments are credit risk, liquidity risk and market risk. As a common practice, management will hold meetings at least four times a year to analyse and make plans to manage these risks. Besides, the board will hold meetings at least twice a year to discuss and approve the suggestions from management.

The Group also enters into derivative transactions, including foreign exchange options. The purpose is to manage the currency risks arising from the Group's operations and its sources of finance. The Group did not use any derivative instruments for speculation during the whole year.

The main risks arising from the Group's financial instruments are credit risk, liquidity risk and market risk. The Group reviews and agrees policies for managing each of these risks and they are summarised below.

Credit risk

The Group trades only with recognised and creditworthy customers with no requirement for collateral. It is the Group's policy that all customers who wish to trade on credit terms are subject to credit verification procedures. In addition, receivable balances are monitored on an ongoing basis to ensure that the Group's exposure to bad debts is not significant. For transactions that are not denominated in the functional currency of the relevant operating unit, the Group does not offer credit terms without the specific approval of the Department of Credit Control in the Group.

The credit risk of the Group's other financial assets, which comprise cash and bank balances, available-for-sale financial assets, and other receivables, arises from default of the counterparty, with a maximum exposure equal to the carrying amounts of these instruments. The Group is also exposed to credit risk through the granting of financial guarantees, further details of which are disclosed in Note XII.3 to the financial statements. Substantially all of the Group's cash and bank balances are held in major financial institutions located in the PRC, which management believes are of high credit quality. The Group has policies to control the size of the deposits to be placed with various reputable financial institutions according to their market reputation, operating scale and financial background with a view to limiting the amount of credit exposure to any single financial institution.

As the Group's major customers are PRC government agencies at the national, provincial and local levels and other state-owned enterprises, the Group believes that they are reliable and of high credit quality and hence, there is no significant credit risk with these customers. As the Group's exposure to credit risk spreads over a diversified portfolio of customers, there is no significant concentration of credit risk.

As at 31 December 2016 and 2015, further quantitative data in respect of the Group's exposure to credit risk arising from accounts receivable, other receivables and long-term receivables which are neither past due nor impaired or past due but not impaired are disclosed in Notes V.4, 6 and 11, respectively, to the financial statements.

Liquidity risk

The Group monitors its risk of deficiency of funds using a recurring liquidity planning tool. This tool considers the maturity of both its financial instruments and estimated cash flows from the Group's operations.

The Group's objective is to ensure continuity of sufficient funding and flexibility by utilising a variety of bank and other borrowings with debt maturities spreading over a range of periods, thereby ensuring that the Group's outstanding borrowing obligation is not exposed to excessive repayment risk in any one year. Due to the capital intensive nature of the Group's businesses, the Group ensures that it maintains sufficient cash and credit lines to meet its liquidity requirements.

The liquidity of the Group is primarily dependent on its ability to maintain adequate cash inflows from operations to meet its debt obligations as they fall due, and its ability to obtain external financing to meet its committed future capital expenditure. With regard to its future capital commitments and other financing requirements, the Group has already obtained banking facilities from several PRC banks of up to RMB1,007.5 billion as at 31 December 2016, of which an amount of approximately RMB342.1 billion has been utilised.

The Group's policy is that not more than 75% of the borrowings shall mature in the following 12 months based on the carrying amount of borrowings reflected in the financial statements. As at 31 December 2016, 26.7% (31 December 2015: 49.7%) of the Group's borrowings would mature in less than one year.

Market risk

Interest rate risk

The Group's exposure to the risk of changes in market interest rates relates primarily to the Group's long-term debt obligations with floating interest rates.

The Group regularly reviews and monitors the mix of fixed and floating interest rate borrowings in order to manage its interest rate risk. Interest-bearing borrowings, cash and short term deposits are stated at amortised cost and are not revalued on a periodic basis. Floating rate interest income and expenses are credited/charged to the profit or loss as earned/incurred.

As at 31 December 2016, floating interest rate loans and fixed interest rate loans accounted for approximately 54.19% and 45.81% (31 December 2015: 46.93% and 53.07%) of the Group's borrowings respectively. Management would adjust the proportion of floating rate assets based on changes in the market interest rates to reduce the significant impact arising from interest rate risk.

If there was a general increase/decrease in the interest rate of bank and other borrowings with floating interest rates by one percentage point, with all other variables held constant, the consolidated operating results would have decreased/increased by approximately RMB453,564,000 for the year (2015: RMB438,200,000), and there is no impact on other components of the consolidated equity, except for retained earnings, of the Group. The sensitivity analysis above has been determined assuming that the change in interest rates had occurred as at 31 December 2016 and the exposure to interest rate risk has been applied to those financial instruments in existence at that date. The estimated one percentage point increase or decrease represents management's assessment of a reasonably possible change in interest rates over the period from now until the end of the next annual reporting period.

Foreign currency risk

As a result of its significant business operations in Mainland China, the Group's revenue and expenses are mainly denominated in RMB and over 90% of the financial assets and liabilities are denominated in RMB. The effect of the fluctuations in the exchange rates of RMB against foreign currencies on the Group's results of operations is therefore minimal and the Group has not entered into any hedging transactions for the years ended 31 December 2016 and 2015 in order to reduce the Group's exposure to foreign currency risk in this regard.

The following table demonstrates the sensitivity at the end of the reporting period to a reasonably possible change in the exchange rates of the United States dollar, Nigerian naira, Euro, Algerian dinar, Saudi Arabian riyal, the Singapore dollar, and the Hong Kong dollar, with all other variables held constant, of the Group's net profit and other comprehensive income net of tax.

The sensitivity analysis above has been determined assuming that the change in foreign exchange rates had occurred as at 31 December 2016 and the exposure to foreign currency risk has been applied to those monetary assets and liabilities in existence at that date. The estimated percentage increase or decrease represents management's assessment of a reasonably possible change in foreign exchange rates over the period from now until the end of the next annual reporting period.

4. Capital management

The Group's primary objectives for managing capital are to safeguard the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, so that it can continue to provide returns for shareholders and benefits for other stakeholders, and to provide an adequate return to shareholders by pricing services and products commensurately with the level of risk.

The Group sets the amount of capital in proportion to risk. The Group manages its capital structure and makes adjustments to it in light of changes in economic conditions and the risk characteristics of the underlying assets. In order to maintain or adjust the capital structure, the Group may adjust the dividend payment to shareholders, return capital to shareholders, issue new shares or sell assets to reduce debts. No changes were made in the objectives, policies or processes for managing capital during the year ended 31 December 2016 (2015: Nil).

3. Valuation of fair value

The carrying amounts and fair values of the Group's financial instruments, other than those with carrying amounts that reasonably approximate to fair values, are as follows:

	Carrying amounts		Fair values
	31 December 2016	31 December 2015	31 December 2016	31 December 2015
Financial assets
Long-term receivables	27,069,579	21,163,488	27,069,579	21,163,488
Financial liabilities
Long-term loans	69,032,432	47,398,448	63,096,020	48,893,180
Bonds payable	44,902,037	31,058,948	48,421,420	32,210,911
Long-term payables	1,843,183	2,208,765	1,892,723	2,247,867
	115,777,652	80,666,161	113,410,163	83,351,958

Management has assessed that the fair values of cash and bank balances, bills and accounts receivables, short-term loans, bills and accounts payables and similar instruments approximate to their carrying amounts largely due to the short-term maturities of these instruments.

The fair values of financial assets and liabilities are included at the amount at which an asset could be exchanged, or a liability settled, between knowledgeable, willing parties in an arm's length transaction. The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate fair values.

The fair values of long-term receivables, long-term loans, long-term payables, bonds payable and similar instruments are calculated by discounting the estimated future cash flows using rates currently available for other instruments with similar terms, credit risk and remaining maturities. The Group's own non-performance risk for interest-bearing bank and other borrowings as at 31 December 2016 was assessed to be insignificant.

The derivative financial instruments consist of embedded derivative instruments of convertible bonds, measured by adopting valuation techniques of the binominal tree option pricing model. The model takes into account of several observable market based inputs, including share price, share price volatility and risk-free interest rate. The book value of the embedded derivative instruments of convertible bonds equals to its fair value.

The fair values of listed equity instruments are determined based on the quoted market prices.
