

CORPORATE PROFILE

SunCorp Technologies Limited and its subsidiaries (collectively, the “Group”) are engaged principally in the design, manufacture, marketing of approved telecommunications products and development of integrated communication system.

The Group is one of the largest manufacturers of telecommunications products in the Asia Pacific region, supplying products to leading brand names and telecommunications network operators throughout the world. The Group is a leading global supplier of hardware and software communications solutions.

The Group’s manufacturing centre is situated at Liantang in Shenzhen, the People’s Republic of China (“PRC”). Its corporate headquarter is located in Hong Kong. Its European subsidiary, SunCorp Communications (Europe) Limited, is strategically placed to support its marketing function in that region. Its technology development arm, SunCorp Information Technologies (Asia) Limited, is based in Hong Kong and supports an internet based global communication solution offering unified digital communications (including unified messaging and instant messaging).