

Our Vision is Clear

It is anticipated that the year 2002 may show real growth, as the focus of the business is placed squarely upon the telecom product business and will no longer rely upon ancillary contributions of non-core industries. The directors and management are confident that the Company has a strong and bright future.

The Company is now ready for further expansion and to achieve its full potential under the joint efforts of its two powerful shareholders in the near future.

